TORONTONENSIS

Jhe Year Book of the UNIVERSITY of TORONTO 1926

Published by the Joint Executive of the Students Administrative Council

VOLUME XXVIII

THE LATE PROFESSOR JAMES MAVOR Ph.D.

Dedication «

This book is respectfully dedicated to the late James Mavor, Professor Emeritus of Political Economy of this University, and author of many books on the subject. Both as head of the department, a position he held for thirty years, and as an author, he has spread the name and fame of the University to all parts of the world, at the same time inspiring others to do likewise.

· Foreword

T has been the aim of the Editors to carry on the work of improvement commenced in the previous volume. To some degree they have succeeded, but the final decision rests with the undergraduates, for whom they have labored unceasingly.

Things have been done which perhaps will not meet with approval. Yet, as all men are liable to err, they only ask to be left unmolested in the future.

To the Graduating Year of 1926 By President Falconer

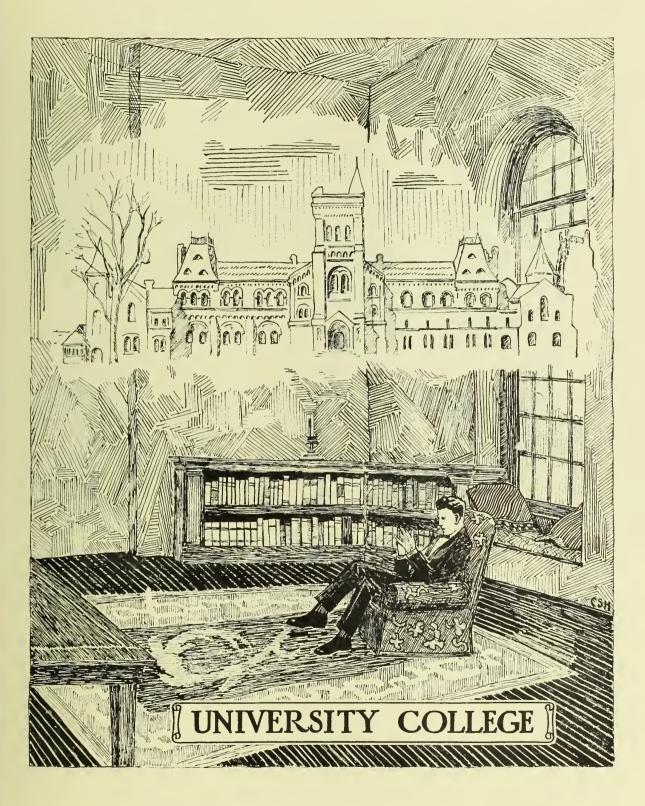

O those who are to graduate at the close of the present academic year I wish to express my hearty congratulations and my sincere wishes for their future. The University has grown so large that it has of necessity become divided into groups of students who know one another but have few acquaintances in other departments of study, faculties or societies. Doubtless there is a great deal of variety in our life and the cultivation of different phases of academic activity within the university brings new interests to the student. But the chief stimulus and support will come to you from the close friendships that you have formed during your undergraduate years. Let me urge you to maintain these; keep in touch with former companions; do what you can to ease the load that any who are less fortunate than you may have to carry; rejoice with those who make a success; never look with envy on or disparage others who for one reason or other will have forged ahead. As the years are added rapidly to your age you will find that increasing self-sufficiency and contentment will mean more to you than external position or much of this world's goods. Also strive to believe that the best is not in the past but that the future holds far better things in store for yourselves and for mankind. Therefore seek to acquaint yourselves with such persons, books, and ideals as will grow in value with time. Bibliophiles are eager to acquire first editions: their price rises as their age increases and as their number diminishes. But it is fortunate that the contents of the first editions of great authors do not grow prohibitive. Rather if they are valuable they will become the possession of a larger number of people as the generations pass by. Good books are a treasure, but not an exclusive treasure. Their value will increase for each individual as he brings his own experience to interpret their meaning. He heightens their riches by his ability to understand them. As an old man he will find these good books of greater value than when, it may be in college, he first began to read them.

So let me express the hope that two of the possessions, that you will take when you leave this university next summer, will be good friends and a desire to have, and knowledge how to understand good books.

To the Graduating Class of University College By Principal Hutton

HE men who graduated in the seventies have reached a time of life when they are tempted to contrast the manifest follies of the present day with the dignity, sobriety, and restraint of their own undergraduate days; and if they want to strike this familiar note, familiar always on the lips of age, they can find material enough in the luxury and pretentiousness in the advertising materialism and the taudry aestheticism of the present moment; in the beauty parlors and the other devices for dazzling the public which are part of the craze of publicity in which the age has lost its head.

The students of other days, though better read and better readers than their successors. were very ignorant of and very indifferent to the largest aspect of life, which is, has always been, and always must be, character, and conduct. Because University College was not a denominational college they seemed to assume that it was a "secular" college: that it took account neither of denominationalism nor of Christianity itself.

I can imagine no more deplorable "hiatus" in education than this indifference to the chief source of character. It has passed away; the student of to-day receives, if he wishes it, an intelligent and undenominational treatment, the right treatment, of the greatest monument of literature -the Bible.

Further, the student of to-day, if he wishes it, and he does not wish it half as energetically as he should, has the opportunity in his four short years at the University of hearing at Convocation Hall on Sunday the very best intellects of this continent, and not always of this continent tion that on Sunday the very best intellects of this continent, and not always of this continent only, iso far as the best intellects of the continent have persisted in the study of Christianity giving expression to the results of this study. I have admitted a large qualification to the phrase "the best intellects" but even with this qualification the speakers have deserved a better support from undergraduates than they have received, and there are literally scores of undergraduates in my judgment, who, in the years to come as they look back on opportunities neglected, will regard this special neglect with particular regret. They will have wakened up too late to the pretty obvious proposition that all great things belong to youth and to youth's idealism, and that first and foremost amongst the idealistic instincts of youth, greater even than patriotism, honour and love, come the primary idealism and instinct of religion. They will not easily hear later in smaller cities, thinkers as eminent and characters as sound, as they are neglecting now.

There are other virtues, as there are many vices, peculiar to the present times. There is much less hypocrisy in the world; much more frankness; people say what they think, even such thoughts as would have shocked their ancestors. It is best that they should. It is the only means by which a real knowledge of the fundamental needs and qualities of human nature can be acquired; hypocrisy and conventional silence hid the realities of life in the seventies from most students. The conservative or orthodox argument was discounted off-hand as hypocrisy and convention: any superficial and half-baked heterodoxy passed as philosophy and science, no atmosphere more fatal to serious thought and therefore to the formation of a sound character can be imagined; it has all gone now practically; thought is free again, and with this freedom of thought disappears the preposterous and calamitous sense in which those words "free thought" used to be interpreted. The student of to-day is not imposed upon in anything like the same degree as he once was by catch-words that beg the question at issue and darken counsel by phrases ill-conceived and unscientific. The student of to-day has a better chance of thinking soberly, of thinking rightly, of thinking for himself, which is the best reason for his attendance at the University.

History of the Class of 2T6 University College

N the Fall of 1922 a large, although not the largest, freshman class entered University College. This class of 2T6 battled its way through the barbed-wire entanglements of examinations with comparatively few casualties until to-day it is probably the largest graduating class in the history of the largest college or faculty in the University.

The enterprising first president of 2T6 engineered the split executive arrangement. This formed a precedent which revolutionised student government in the College. The system of split executives has been productive of greater efficiency, if less conviviality, in social functions for both men and women. However this Fall the executives of our year combined to hold in the Junior Common Room a Sunday evening musicale. This was the first social event of its kind to be held in any year. Our other social functions comprised all the usual smokers, theatre parties and class parties.

In athletics the men and women of 2T6 have given of their best for the College and the blue and white. The class has always contributed several members to both the Intercollegiate and O.R.F.U. Rugby teams, to say nothing of the Intermediates, Juniors and Mulock Cup teams. Hockey, basketball, baseball, swimming and the track team have all made their claims. In our Senior year running true to form 2T6 men captured the Inter year Shield and the women the Inter year Baseball championship.

A number of the class have won scholarships. As for the rest, the fact that the registrar, enshrined in his new surroundings at Simcoe Hall, recognises us as members of the graduating year, is ample proof of our academic ability.

2T6 has generously contributed members to both intercollegiate and interfaculty debating teams. In dramatic circles our name has been notably upheld by men and women alike in the U. C. Players Guild. The quality of the work of our debaters and actors speaks well for their future prominence in the political, legal and dramatic arenas. Journalism also will no doubt be benefited by the training that many of our members have received as workers on the "Varsity" staff.

GORDON K. D. ALDERSON

"The eagle's gaze alone surveys The sun's meridian splendour."

"Slim" haled from Ingersoll in 1921 with a Carter scholarship and fond hopes—which philosophy and English has not dampened. A good friend and a conscientious student, he has found time for the Philosophical Society, the Players' Guild and the Modern Language Club executive. Next year will see him at O.C.E. Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

ELIZABETH JOSEPHINE ALLIN

"Sounaffected, so composed a mind."

Never known to worry. Elizabeth does everything at the logical time. An A.A.A.S. scholarship in mathematics and physics is one result. We prophesy that she will discover something remarkable in the future but to her friends she is noted for a dimpled smile, patience and sanity. M. and P. executive and head girl at No. 9.

WILLIAM MATHESON ANDERSON

"C'llegiate! C'llegiate! Yes we are Collegiate."

Born in Winnipeg twenty years ago. Came from Oakwood C.I. with first Edward Blake scholarship in mathematics and entered Hononr Maths. First class honours every year and three Actuarial Society exams. Believes in Foster and four card suits, Vanity Fair and four-button sacks, his profs. and four dimensions, and College Humour four weeks a month. Day-dreams, night-hawks and stokes a ponderons Dunhill. Member of Psi Delta Psi Fraternity.

MARION RUTH APPLEBE

"For to know her better Is but to love her more."

Born in Detroit, Marion showed her good judgment by early moving to Canada. After attending Havergal she came to University College and took advantage of the opportunity to display her executive ability as vice-president of her second year. Her four years at College have left an impression of a vivid and charming personality.

KENNETH E. ALLEN

"It is not growing like a tree In bulk, doth make men better be."

Achieved prominence for the first time in Dunnville, December, 1902. After the usual preliminary training Ken entered Welland High School from which he matriculated. Four years at Varsity complete the record of his scholastic education. Having journalistic ability, it is natural he was a member of the 1924 Varsity staff.

A. EDWARD ARCHIBALD

"Virtue itself scapes not calumnious strokes,"

Among Arch's qualifications for a place with Newton and Descartes are: a variable aptitude for mathematics, a stern advocacy of longer skirts, and a pronounced antipathy to prohibitions.

RACHEL MAE ANDERSON

"Even though vanquished she can argue still."

A native of Toronto. Rae's interests at Varsity, apart from study, were in gymnastic work, being one of the pioneer members of the P.T. diploma course and winning her T in baseball. Also warbled with the Glee Club for three years. Energetic, determined, with an analytic mind and a sense of humour.

PERCY THOMAS ARMSTRONG

"I don't recollect anything that I have forgotten."

Born in Toronto, 1903. After spending five years incarcerated in Humberside Collegiate, where he showed his wares as a student, Perc came to University College to study commerce and finance. In spite of this, he has found time to interest himself in photography, rowing, wrestling, and skating. He is a confirmed bachelor as a matter of course.

KATHREEN JEAN ARNOLD

"If you praised her as charming some asked what you meant, But the charm of her presence was felt where she went."

Jean has enjoyed every phase of her college life. Moderns was her particular scope. Although she is a good student she has not neglected the social side of her career. Her activities were: First year executive, Modern Langnage Club executive and the president of the Italian-Spanish Club for 1925-6.

J. STAFFORD H. BECK

"Learned in the ways of law, Skilled in the matter of fees."

Born in Brampton, Ont., Nov. 22, 1905. Entered Poly Sci at Varsity as a Fresh-Soph. Worked on staff of The Varsity; S.I.C. executive. Played squash and tennis. "Wear-Ever" college organizer. Osgoode Hall next stop!

JOSEPH STORY ATKINSON

"'Tis a world to see."

Born in Toronto on April 8, 1904. Spent one term at Saint Andrews, eight years at the University of Toronto Schools and five years in Political Science. To journalism and ?—

GEORGE FIELDING BIGGAR

"Haunted? Ay in a social way!"

Born, May 17, 1904. Left Ridley and came to Varsity in 1922. Studious when young. Confines himself to a moderate liquid diet. A decided weakness for the fairer sex. Stars at indoor sports—cricket, golf and Fords exceptions. Graduates in C and F, with a view to actuarial work. A member of Alpha Delta Phi.

BEATRICE BAIN

"The years have dealt gently with her intelligence."

Biography? Did she ask for a biography? The rogue! Why, she has none! She is not old enough! Ever childishly naive and innocently natural, may she never grow up.

MARION ANN BUCHANAN BLACK

"Gentle of speech; Benevolent of mind."

Born at Almonte; migrated various places; arrived at Ottawa in 1918. From the Ottawa Collegiate came to U.C. and "94". While devoting much time to playground work, has been a staunch supporter of the "Lit" and Polity Club. Her literary abilities give promise for the future. Always the Good Samaritan.

KATHARINE LUCY BALL

"This girl lends mettle to us all."

Christened Katharine, but known as "Tats," a four-letter word meaning ability. For proof—S.A.C. '23-24.; year president '25; baseball '25; hockey curator '26; vice-president Tennis Club '26. It is to her friends no idle boast that Tats "lends mettle to us all."

LOUIS BORSOOK

"It is requisite that a gentleman should not always be plodding in one art, but rather be a general scholar, that is, to have a lick at all sorts of learning, and away,"

So now, after five years of Philosophy, English and History, he is a jack of many trades and master of none—in short, one of the unemployed.

COLLEGE UNIVERSITY

HELEN CATHERINE BRADSHAW

"A heart to resolve, a head to con-trive and a hand to execute."

Graduating from Moulton, where she was Head Girl in 1921, "Howic" came to the University. After spending one year in general arts she transferred to household economics where her sincerity and loyalty have won her many friends.

C. B. GENEVIEVE BROCK

"So many worlds, so much to do, So little done, such things to be."

A daughter of the West; her course Moderns; interests varied; outlook cosmopolitan; abilities versatile; per-sonality charming; S.C.M. president; "94's" Head Girl; staunch supporter of the Lit. Convocation choir and Glee Chub. "Prove me what it is she would not do!"

REBECCA GERTRUDE BRONSTEIN

"She learns not from books but from

A child of the century in spirit and time, though she left her native land, Russia, during childhood, the ideals of this new world force have remained with her. J.C.I. linked her education with that of an Arts course. Reading, music and play-going are her delights. Future?— to live wherever there are sympathet-ic friends, and teach the younger folk.

DOROTHY HELEN BRANDON

"Loathing pretence, she did with cheerful will, What others talked of while their hands were still.

True to her word, her work and her friends at Havergal College and at Varsity. Dottie has proved herself an all "round" girl.

G. MURRAY BRAY

"I have found you an argument; But I am not obliged to find you an understanding."

Imbued with a desire for a degree in law, Murray left Kitchener and entered Political Science as a step towards Osgoode Hall. Despite the fact that various Interfaculty teams and other harmless diversions have made claims upon his time, lectures have not been totally neglected. Member of Tau Sigma Phi Fraternity.

E. K. BROWN

"No, sir," said Dr. Johnson, "there is no reason why he should not.

Philosophers and philologians have assisted Ireland, Toronto and U.T.S. to produce a student of many books and men, retiring yet positive, con-servative but intelligent, a laughter innocent of mockery. The academic world mea well for indirection world may well fear indigestion.

MURIEL E. BRAYLEY

"Thou wert fashion'd to beguile."

Conscientious, capable, when duty calls; whimsical, candid, constant in her associations; bright and enter-taining in otherwise dull moments; having an insatiable desire for the sweets of life. Hamilton claims her.

ONIE BROWN

"He's small, but he's wise, He's a terror for his size."

Ordered his first meal in Toronto, Oct. 14, 1904. Modestly admits he has been of immense benefit to Jarvis C.I. and University College. Inter-ested in subjects of current interest, particularly those of a political nature. Bound for Osgoode.

VREDA E. BULLEN

"For what I will, I will, and there an end.

Malvern C.1. was responsible for Vreda's early training, but not for her vital convictions; these she blames on her intuition: and we have yet to find her without a ready re-partee when they are attacked. Her clear judgment, lively sense of hum-our, and hidden depth of emotion have won the regard of one and all.

JOHN DAVID BURK

"Dona praesentis cape laetus horae."

"J.D." received his early education at the Model and at U.T.S., where he won the Governor-General's silver medal. Entered the course in silver medal. Entered the course in mathematics and physics in pos-session of a scholarship and later transferred to mathematics. Suc-ceeded in heading his course each year. Chiefly interested in actuarial science, golf, bridge, and dancing.

HELEN KATHLEEN BURFORD "The things are few she would not do in friendship's name."

do in friendship's name." Habitually happy Effectively energetic Lastingly loyal Enchantingly elusive Normally naughty Gravitated to University College in 1922 after an eventful athletic career. Interfaculty baseball team three years. Junior "T" holder. Concentrated her efforts on a house-hold science option, but still managed to multiply her many friendships and maintain an energetic interest in year activities and S.P.S. At-Homes. Homes.

ELTON HOWARD BURGESS

"Joy was not always absent from his face."

Born at Norwood, Mar. 11, 1903. Attended the N.H.S. and the Peter-borough Collegiate Institute. Three years intermission relieved the mono-tony of school. Entered University College in '22. Performed no start-ling feats but made a modest attempt to be agreeable. An en-thusiast of music.

DOROTHY FRANCES BURTON

"Care to our coffin adds a nail, no doubt;

And every grin so merry draws one out," oul." Born Toronto, April 1, 1906. After a meteoric career at Rosedale School and Oakwood Collegiate, Dorothy entered U.C. with the class of '26, inherently being led to C. & F. where, despite the overwhelming male majority and hazards of the course, she has remained through-out. Class executive, player's guild and social activities have helped while away the time and round out an ideal four years.

COLIN MONTGOMERY CAMPBELL

"Who'd have thought the old man had so much blood in him?"

Born Owen Sound, May 26, 1904 Considered he had borne it long enough and entered second year political science at University of Toronto. Varsity staff; cryptic utterances; love of lemon pie.

FREDERIC ASHTON BURGESS

"The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars.

Fred was born in Toronto in March 1904. Passing through Model School and U.T.S. he came to University Coll-ege with an Edward Blake scholarship, on his way to Osgoode Hall. His University life was considerably complicated by an active interest in radio, amateur dramatics, and army signalling; but he has survived it so far. it so far.

MARGARET DUNEDIN CAMPBELL

"There's nane again sae bonnie."

Ripley, Kincardine, then Varisty have guided Marg's care-free foot-steps. One who studies for the inter-est rather than the knowledge. A humour which cannot be surpassed, a will which only necessity can change. Gay and fun-loving. True blue eyes bespeak a true Scotch heart. Marg will succeed.

FREDERICK MURRAY CATZMAN

"And there are some, whom a thirst Ardent, unquenchable fires

Not without aim to go round."

The simultaneous arrival of Fred and New Years' 1907 evoked lond acclaim throughout the world, especially Toronto. His academic career at Ogden and Harbord produced following result—first Edward Blake and Third Toronto Carter scholarships. Drifted naturally into politics and law at 'Varsity. Promising future in legal sphere.

HELEN ISOBEL CHESNUT

"So absolute she seems, and in herself complete, So well to know her own, and what she wills to do or say."

The Garden City gave us Ches and for the last four years we have been profiting by St. Kitt's bad luck. Dignity and charm are hers and she combines a good time with a certain amount of work. Pi Beta Phi Fraternity.

EDWARD COLEMAN

"Success is the child of audacity. shoot the works!"

Born in Hamilton 1903. Learned enough at Ridley College to enter commerce and finance. "Cap" started his Freshman year by captaining the Junior ringby team, played Intermediate and O.R.F.C., and celebrated 1925 as president of rugby and a member of Senior Interfaculty hockey. Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

JEAN BONAR CONN

"Serene and resolute and still, And calm and self-possessed."

It is said that the true skill of conversation lies in the ability to listen. Jean has this gift of gifts. But underneath this sweet silence there lies a definite determination of what's what, and all the King's horses and all the king's men could not force her to think otherwise.

SAMUEL CIGLEN

"For him who pauseth not to ponder but doth labour Let this be said—he doth excel in all things."

In Meaford and at Varsity "Sam" is a by-word for earnest, constant work and the genius that this brings. It's nothing for him to play rugby, hockey, head his class, and earn his living all at the same time. He's sure to get there, wherever it happens to be.

ARTHUR FREDERICK WILL COLE

"Wee but wise: a corker for his size."

Eric first saw the light of day at Rossland, B.C., in 1903. Realizing his mistake, within three years he moved east to New Liskeard, Ont. Three he spent two years of his high school career, but the bright lights of Toronto attracted him to U.T.S. We expect great things of Eric, especially in scientific research. A conscientious student and withal a thorough gentleman.

GEORGE NORMAN COOK "Must I ignore what they have taught me?"

me?" Norm joined the Liheral party April 28, 1905. A conservative conscience has kept him steadfast to the cause, while active support has earned the name "William Lyon MacKenzie" Cook. Came from St. Andrew's to Political Science and is bound for Osgoode. We hesitate to predict the future but politics seen promising. President 2T6, vicepresident U. of T. Liberal Club, chairman U.C. Common Room committee. Member of Phi Delta Theta.

MARY ARMITAGE COPUS

"I have believed as many as seven impossible things before breakfast."

Credulity and perspicacity, frivolity and purpose, humour and intellectuality—a combination of qualities fused to make our companionable Mary.

HECTOR N. CRIGHTON

"He is all mirth."

ISABEL DETWEILER

"She can be wise, amazed, temperate, and furious, Loyal and neutral, in a moment."

Sunny and bright when in the mood —anything but, when not. Sault Ste. Marie fostered in her a certain wit and wilful perversity, and Queen's Hall was powerless to curb it.

FREDERICK WILLIAM CUTHBERTSON

"What matter where, if I be still the same?"

Arrived in Toronto on the inauspicious 13th of April, 1905. In spite of this he seems to have enjoyed life. After five years hard work at Humberside Collegiate, Fred entered the C. & F. course, presumably to prepare for life in the business world. Addicted to radio, dancing and music.

JANET SHORE DICKSON

"Polly put the kettle on; Let's have tea."

Dickie's life tour began in Niagara Falls. From thence via Branksome to University College and Queen's Hall. Despite her four years sojourn in English and history, she has been twice a member of the U.C. tennis team. The heavens would fall if Dickie lost her even temper, her quiet smile and—her "mind of her own." Sorority, Gamma Phi Beta.

JESSIE MACKENZIE DALZIEL

"Semper felix Semper fidelis Semper eadem Semper parata."

Born at Woodbridge, Ont., in 1905, high school at Weston and thence to U. of T. and Classics. In spite of the onus of Greek and Latin, Jessie was for two years a member of the Glee Club and has never neglected her social activities. "To see her is to see her green bag."

GEORGE STINSON DIGBY

"A whole I planned, Youth shows but half; trust God, see all, nor be afraid!"

George entered this vale of tears in 1904 at Toronto. Spent several years at U.T.S. Wished to become a financier, so entered the C. & F. course. Played with Varsity Junior T. & D. basketball champions 1923-4. Manager U.C. track and basketball teams 1925-6. Interfaculty basketball and rugby.

KENNETH FONTAINE DAVIS

"He hath a lean and hungry look."

Ken was born in Toronto in September 1905, and is unrepentant. After collecting some diplomas from North Toronto Collegiate, called on Mr. Brebner one day in the fall of 1922 and announced that he was going to take B. and M. In the resultant confusion he did.

BRIAN W. DOHERTY

"Seven hours to law, to soothing slumber seven, Ten to the world allot, and all to heaven."

Born in Toronto, Feb. 3, 1906. Three years at Upper Canada College. Historical Club; Inter-collegiate tennis 1924-25; president of the tennis club, 1924. One of organizers of Hart House debates. Took part in various productions in Hart House theatre, and U.C. Players Guild. Undeterred by these handicaps he will enter Oggoode next year. Psi Upsilon Fraternity.

DELPHINE L. DOLE

Born in Kansas City, Missouri, and, we might say, typically American were it not for a temper and a sense of humour typically Irish. Matricu-lated from Harbord Collegiate. We'd like to say something ahout generos-ity, judgment, optimism—but we've been forbidden been forhidden.

WILLIAM EDWARD EARLE, Jr.

"They always talk who never think,"

Ted, alias "Hap," exemplifies broad, well balanced development; modera-tion in all things, with nothing negle, ted; an able student, and prominent in rugby, hockey, base-ball and squash. St. John, N.B., St. Andrew's College, and the Theta Delta Chi fraternity claim some of the credit.

ARNOLD ALEXANDER DONNELL

"Aude, hospes, contemnere opes et te quoque dignum finge deo."

Born Nov. 25, 1902, came northwards by way of California. Public school and collegiate days in Galt, Ont., where he first encountered Scotch caution and the classics. Both "took." A lover of peace and books, yet not at all indifferent to sports— Interfaculty basketball, baseball, football. Interfaculty football.

DONALD F. FAWCETT "He has no past, But, oh! what a future!"

Of Port Colborne origin (in 1905). Welland High School rendered him up to the C. & F. course. An ardent patriot of Vic. and U.C. Why? His impartiality. Now a denizen of the "tall and uncut." (Explanation— lives in Winnipeg) A conscientious student. student.

JOHN FRASER ROSS DOUGLAS

"Tall things to tall men."

Successfully hurdling early obstacles Successfully hurdling early obstacles at Warkworth, Ont., western wheat fields engendered a thirst for know-ledge that led Ross to Varsity. Here his discriminating judgment is evi-denced on the S.A.C. house and de-bating committees of Hart House, and in the Liberal Cluh. Knights of the Round Table.

LILIAN ELIZABETH FERGUSON

"To give an accurate and exhaustive account—would need a far less brilliant pen than mine."

There is not much of importance to tell. Lilian has tried to specialize in few things while at college, mainly languages and art. She has acted in aged relatives' parts to please her friends, and kept thin (more or less) by trying to swim, at "Lillian Massey". Massey.

"The fool doth think he is wise, but a wise man knoweth himself to be a fool."

Boru in Edinburgh, 1901. he came to Toronto to U.T.S. and Tech. While attempting to become a biologist, he has not neglected the more serious sides of life. Fencing, property work for Hart House theatre, tramping, and scientific loafing complete a broad education.

LEO FINEMAN

- "And this 'gay' spirit yearning in desire To follow knowledge like a sinking star, Beyond the utmost bound of human thought."

thought." Though only a by-product of seeth-ing New York, a four years' refining process at Jarvis C.L., leading to honour matriculation, laid the found-ation to the above. Entrance to the B, & M. course was obtained through the medium of a science scholarship, selected from several others. Con-tinuing in medicine, of course. Holobies—theory of devolution, "for the sake of argument;" the "all-or none" principle in exams.

JACOB FINKELMAN

"Though young in years, of keen endeavour, On, on his watchword ever."

Entered the fray January, 1907, in Russia. Due to lack of opposition he caute to Canada the same year. Encounters with Hamilton public and high schools prepared him for four rounds with Pol. Econ. at Varsity. Next bout, Osgoode.

WILLIS P. FREYSENG

"My object all sublime I shall achieve in time."

Toronto first heard Bill's laugh in 1899. Left U.T.S. for Varsity in 1919. Since then he has combined business and study with a little time off for music and social activi-ties. Treasurer first and later presi-dent of the Stringed Instrument Club.

CHARLES G. FRASER

"He never changes his mind." Born Dec. 17, 1903, at Woodstock, Ont. Spent a few years in the States, and is now familiarly known as "Yank." Came from Parkdale C.I-in 1922 and entered Political Science-Activities—Interfaculty basketball. Interfaculty rugby 1922, Senior O.R.F.U. rugby 1923 and 1924, Senior Intercollegiate rugby 1925. Holds first "T." Plans everything in advance, can memorize anything and is cautious—never fusses. Mem-ber of Psi Delta Psi fraternity.

MADGE GALBRAITH

"To be poking the fire all alone is a sin."

Left Milton with the future unsettled Left Milton with the future unsettled and succumhed to the allurements of University College (closely affiliated with Medicine). Has survived three strenuous years at Argyll House and now as Head Girl is seeing others do the seme do the same.

CHRISTINE C. FRASER

"But now farewell. I am going a long way

Chris. is a Bluenose, and it is her own belief that the wise men (and women) come from the East. She is our very best friend and we, like her, are modest of her virtues. Activities— verbinet verbiage.

NINA M. GALVIN

"In her ways As spirited as lights that flick and flash

From off the facets of a diamond.'

"Neen" is ultra-Torontonian and rather sorry for anyore who isn't. A dash of Irish and indications of an early salutation of the Blarney Stone. While at Varsity his favourite pursuits have been English, library-lobbying, the Varsity, and squash. Favourite expression—"but hang it all, man, anyway!" Petaversion—the surgery. Member of the Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

GRACE ROBLIN GRAHAM

"Like angels' visits—short and bright."

Grace's college career speaks for itself. President of her second year, secretary of the Women's Under-graduate Association in her third, and president as a Senior. In spite of this record and her strenuous anti-flirtation campaign (?) she has her frivolous moments. Incidentally she was president of the Delta Gamma Fraternity.

WILLIAM GERRIE

Born May 6, 1905, Grantown-on-Spey, Morayshire, Scotland. Bill graduated in '22 from the Brantford Collegiate Institute with full honour matriculation and three scholar-ships. Ile will be the first graduate of the newly modified course C.M. and G. Secretary of the Chemical Society '24. Bill studies in the wilds of Northern Ontario the effect of the bear population on the meta-morphism of the ancient Huronian sediments. Among the virtues he likes honesty, among men a natural, unaffected personality and among women . . . ? women . .

DONALD HENDERSON GRANT

"Mens aegua in arduis."

This young Lochinvar arrived in West Toronto, by the "air route," in 1903. Has a cheery grin, but thinks he's the original "hard luck guy." One of the war-lords of the C.O.T.C. Fell for a chorine from "Stepping Stones," and hasn't been the same boy since. Future—judge of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

JANET ISOBEL GIBSON

Bound for Osgoode Hall. Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

I. M. GRINGORTEN

Although born in Russia, he is no genius—just a plodder futilely enlightened. Hard work got him attention on the Varsity staff and in class, and hard work is all he can see as his salvation for the future.

DUNCAN MCNAB HALLIDAY

"Do I contradict myself? Very well, then, I contradict myself."

Abandoned the atavistic customs of Bruce County in sufficient time to attain his majority co-incident with the higher learning. Succumbed to the peristaltic urge to write and served his muse as Champus Cat, news editor of The Varsily with sundry Goblin connections and University correspondent of The Globe. Has a splendid library. A consistent viewpoint and an unexcelled acquisitive tendency. Tau Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi.

MARGARET ELISABETH HALEY

"I am sure care's an enemy to life."

Branksome Hall is responsible for what Elisabeth learned before she came to U.C. Here, in spite of an insatiable appetite for fiction, Elisabeth has had a comfortable interest in her course, especially in psychology. Of College activities, the Settlement was her choice. Her future is too far off to bother.

AILEEN M. B HAMILTON

"Tis the mind that shines in ev'ry grace,

IRENE MARY LOCKIE

"The mildest manners and the gentlest heart."

Not many years ago Irene arrived in Zephyr, Ont. Came as soon as possible to U.C. to gain knowledge in Modern. Interests—music, sports Modern Language Club, German Club, Players' Gnild. Most important, however, is her own dear goodness. To know her is to love her. What more need we say?

JOHN KENNETH MACDONALD

"Much may be made of a Scotchman if he be caught young."

After nine years at St. Andrew's College and four here, Jack graduates at 22 from the Pass course. Member of Kappa Alpha.

JEAN DESIREE LOGIE

"There is a language in her look."

Arrived at Queen's Hall, September 1922, labelled Paris. Decorated with fun, humour, flirtation, a longing to delve into the future, and a kindness for all mankind. Contents—Jean.

MARGARET J. MACDONALD

"I will gather and carefully make my friends."

Margaret is a whimsical mixture of Scotch practicality and imaginative fancies—has energetic onsets at work and revels in long, lazy evenings. To walk with, you couldn't have a more congenial companion; or to argue with, a person of more decided views. You will find her whole-heartedly generous, confoundedly obstinate, and possessed of the gift of gifts—kindness.

FARQUIIAR MACEACHERN

"Thus far I've run before the wind."

Born in Victoria County but on realizing his mistake immediately left for Toronto. Matriculated from Harbord Collegiate and entered Varsity to enroll in the Pass course. Future undecided.

JESSIE L. C. MALCOLM

"Impulsive, generous, kindly, true, She always paddles her own canoe."

Shall we say—impulsive as to humour; generous as to disposition; kindly in her treatment of those under her guidance in Queen's Hall; true to her friends.

JAMES ROBERTSON MacGILLIVRAY

"For wise men know what monsters women make of them."

1902, startled the natives of London, Ont., by gurgling extracts from "Paradise Lost." Wanderings—London, Vancouver, Guelph. Paradise regained in E. and H. "Mac" extricates himself periodically from his hermitage of books to take an active interest in such well known organizations as O.B.B., K.C.T.A., and the Ananias Club. Future? "Don't he silly!"

MABEL JEAN MACLELLAN

"My candle burns at both its ends, It will not last the night, But Ah! My foes and Oh! My friends, It gives a lovely light."

A daughter of the Manse—with a desire to be taken seriously—a habit of becoming involved in difficulties and extricating herself gracefully an effervescent energy. Varsily staff. Lit executive. Varsity rink. Argyll House can tell you "Just Mabel."

AGNES MARJORIE MARTIN

"One whom books and friendly converse satisfy like prayer."

Marj, nicknamed "Chaddie" at Havergal College, learned to love reading and walking in Chatham. In moderns at U.C., she has been hy no means inactive when you consider her work on the Class executive, the Varsidy, Players' Guild, S.C.M. and Interrogative Cluh. And her chief failing? Well, Marj didn't really mean to be late, but her watch must have been wrong.

MARGARET MARIE MARTYN

"Too low they build, who build beneath the stars."

Ambition and pluck have guided Peggy's footsteps via Ripley, Kincardine, thence Varsity, A real student, with pet diversions—gymnastics, music, dancing and skating. Temperament, vivacity, with a strain of the serious, a keen sympathy and a thorough understanding have left her with her ideals still unshattered. Fiat justitia rnat caelum.

ANNIE C. MACROSTIE

"To sum up all, be merry I advise; And as we're merry, may we still be wise."

Became acquainted with this life at Belleville, Ont. Ever since has found it interesting and pleasant both. Matriculated from Brampton High School. Entered Varsity in the English and history course.

11ELEN RADCLIFFE MATTHEWS

"Do you mean to say the pun question is not clearly settled in your mind? Let me lay down the law on the subject."

Born in Stratford, Ont., May 9, 1904. After that momentous event "Nellie" spent his early years in his native town. Educated at Stratford Collegiate and came to Varsity in 1921. Main interests shows, bridge, and billiards. Member of Hart House billiard committees 1923-26. Psi Delta Psi Fraternity.

MARGARET SCOTT MCCREADY

"What is writ is writ: Would it were worthier."

Peggie's life has been affected by several changes of scene—London, Guelph, Charlottetown, Harbord C.I. and finally Varsity. Here she has acquired the subtle art of planning tasty diets. Her school days have been variously "crammed full of things"—a Junior "T" for baseball, and president of the graduating women.

PAUL F. MCCULLAGH

"My life is one demd horrid grind."

At Cobourg fell in love—with classics, later North Toronto, Univ. Coll. Living on next to nothing and princely wages earned on cattle boat, spent one year in Europe, cycling 3100 miles, studying Roman remains and French; at Sorbonne and Alliance Francaise immersed in classics and French; at Hart House, a snappy diver.

NÉLSON MCFARLANE

"The world looks brighter from behind a smile."

Born October 1905. After a successful stay at Hamilton Collegiate, "Mac" entered second year Varsity 1923. Since then his broad smile and long legs have made him a wellknown figure on the campus. #### MURIEL M. C. McDONALD

"I never with important air "In conversation overbear."

Sutton West and Newmarket were the scenes of Muriel's early days. Since then her course, mathematics and physics, in which she has creditably acquited herself, has held her attention for the past four years. After graduation she hopes to try her lnck in research.

ELSIE M. MCINTOSH

"True of heart of spirit gay."

Everything is intensely interesting to Elsie. It would be difficult to find anyone who has got more genuine education out of the Pass course. Cynical enough to be retreshing, she considers herself morose. A friend and a ministering angel in time of need. Activities—Debating Society (president), Lit, and Varsity. Resident of Queen's Hall. Native of St. Catharines.

"I may do all that may become a Scotsman."

EILEEN LINDSAY MCELROY

"When a feller needs a friend."

Smoothness of temper helies the brilliance of her hair. Tenacity of purpose underlies her "jenne fille" appearance. Scorn of ostentation. linked with true loyalty, make her beloved by all.

JEANETTE ELIZABETH McKAY

"She's aye sae blithe and cheerie."

With a capacity for enjoying life intensely and a rare gift for friend-ship, Jean came down from Port Arthur to begin her college course. After three years of residence life at "94," her fine enthusiasm is unquenched and her love of argument undiminished. Although possessing an undoubted weakness for Latin and geology, she is keenly interested in many other phases of college life. An enthusiastic member of the U.C. tennis team for 1925. tennis team for 1925.

MARGARET MCKEEVER

"She's little but she's wise, She's a terror for her size."

They say good things are done up in small parcels, and Peg is no excep-tion to that rule. A witty mind, a friendly manner, a generous dis-position, and an ability to adapt herself to any circumstance, imagine all these likable qualities in one person and you have—just Peg.

GRACE MCMULLEN

of learning lightly like a flower."

Grace spent her early years at Mid-land, Ont., but on reaching the age of discretion, she came to Moderns. U. C. Music, dancing, sports and Spanish Club mostly interest her. Probably be found at O.C.E. next year. We all like her.

ANNE E. MCNABB

"Much may be made of a Scotch lassie—if she be caught young!"

Anne's ability to absorb knowledge is second only to her ability to tease. To attempt a description of her personality is to despair at the in-adequacy of words, but it is like the spell of the Yukon—it "gets" you.

ALDERSON McKENZIE

"Fie upon this quiet life, I want work,"

Arrived amid much acclamation in Galt, 1902. Not satisfied with the limited intellectual nutriment of Galt C.I., he came to Toronto as a biologist and has been evolving ever since. Between evolutions he plays rugby and basketball. Hobby— trying to solve the mysteries of plankton.

ESTHER (MIKE) MICHALSON

"She does some excellent things indifferently, Some bad things excellently, Both are praised, The left praised,

The latter loudest." "Mike" was born in Montreal, and migrated to Toronto at the ripe age of three months. Dufferin School and Jarvis Collegiate ushered her into Varsity from whence she is to breeze on to Osgoode. Executive, Menorah Society. Delta Phi Epsilon Scorrity

ELSIE ROBERTA McLAUGHLIN

"And sport went hand in hand with science.

Taking the plunge from Bishop Strachan, Elsie got in the swim at College, and "crawled" through with a long easy stroke, emerging with a "T," extensive executive experience, a sheaf of dance programmes and first class honours. Here's hoping there's a tank and a tennis court at Oxford.

BRUCE SUTHERLAND MILLAR

"Of a cheerful look, a pleasing eye. I see virtue in him."

Bruce first cleared his throat in Woodstock on Aug. 20, 1901. Both at the Collegiate and at Knox his interests have centred in athletic and executive affairs. His capacities and sympathies assure his success in his chosen profession—the ministry.

After taking advantage of all Drum-After taking advantage of all Drum-bo offered, Agnes spent a year at the Galt Collegiate, and then came to U.C. Here she has combined studies with active work in the S.C.M. and the S.V.M. Her cheerful disposition and kind heart have won her many friends who wish her success in the future future.

DOROTHY BARBARA MORROW

"Jesus wants me for a sunbeam,"

GEORGE CECHL MITCHELL

"Company, villainous company, hath been the ruin of him."

George Cecil Mitchell graduated very creditably from Flesherton High School. The "Cecil" doesn't mean a thing since his pet aversion is the fair "Co-ed." The storm and stress period of his University career has been rather lengthy, but he hopes to graduate in Economics. His pas(t)-time, yea, his whole-time, has been bridge, billiards, and Bolshevik. His god is John Maynard Keynes.

CLARENCE A. MOULTON

". And buzz for the bishop here he comes.

Clarence boasts he was born in New-foundland. St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, and Durham Univer-sity (where he procured his L.Th.) and several years' parish work at St. John's, Newfoundland, preceded his entry to Varsity. Here he has com-bined P.E.H., a city curacy, squash and (occasionally) the editing of The Canadian Charchman. We all wish he were our rector.

JESSIE IRENE MOWAT

The Course in Commerce and Finance

EHOLD, in this section, the brief portravals of the lives of those adventurers in Commerce and Finance who have done so much to spread the fame of that course abroad. Numbering some forty-five I strong, the Class of '26 formed the third wave of that rising tide of invasion which has swept into its fair lands, and, in spite of the depletion of the ranks, there still remain many stalwarts and one fair woman, who stand ready for the final onslaught upon the Citadel of Big Business.

Subjected to a heavy and almost constant bombardment of maps, essays and lectures, the morale has remained ever of the highest; indeed the troops have become quite indifferent to these annoyances. Lest it be thought, however, that their lives have savoured of dulness, the historian must assure you that this is far from the case. On occasion, an enthusiasm, an energy and an initiative have been displayed (so often characteristic of the invader) that even the fondest hopes and expectations of their leaders have been exceeded; and so we find many members under the banners of the respective colleges attaining high rank and distinction; and on the athletic field covering themselves with mud and glory.

In the third year an important objective was reached when Baldwin House was secured as headquarters from whence to carry on operations more successfully. As a major weapon the Commerce Club proved most effective in gaining an entrance to "the seats of the mighty" and much spoil fell to those who shared in the banquets, meetings, tournaments, and round-table discussions. It was even capable of providing lighter amusement in the form of the dance.

And so after having experienced four years campaigning, we stand on parade before going into the big Battle of Life.

Baldwin House

To the Graduating Class of Victoria College By Chancellor Bowles

WRITER on a treatise on Electricity says "If the development of the storage battery had waited on the theory of it, it would never have been invented." We may congratulate ourselves that the best things in life depend not on our theories of them. Waiting to live the good life until one has thought it all out into logical and intellectual terms means that it will never be lived. Important as thinking is, it is not primary. The fundamental thing is living. It is all gain if rational conclusions illumine and purify spiritual convictions. It is nearly all loss if they supplant them. The profoundest things in consciousness are inarticulate. To carry from College only that which has been rationalized is to go out poorer than one entered. Any life which does not make problems faster than it solves them is already exhausted and he who has got himself entirely explained has lost his soul.

History of Class 2T6 Victoria

"United we stand, divided we have fallen."

EFORE the curtain falls on the last episode in the dramatic career of 2T6, we can review the foregoing scenes with retrospective musings and perhaps an indifferent shrug. That age of innocent delusion, when our young hearts thrilled at the sight of grey stone walls and mortar boards, and the word "Campus" created a tingle of pride—class parties, executives, Freshman Reception, we compassed them all—a daring band of fresh, young life.

Then came that period of vague internal unrest, which lurked suspiciously in the background of that most important of all years, our Sophomore. We scarcely ventured to confess our misgivings. There were the few stalwarts who strove to avert the crash; but the break came, and the Junior year found us boldly embarked in the good ships "Separate Executives." We endeavoured to brave the storm of spurious comment and malevolent knocks, piloted by that treacherous seaman, "Personal Pride." Were we not pioneers in our attempt, establishing a memorable precedent in the annals of Victoria College? Yea, verily, 'twas a goodly thought, but a fallacious one. Our struggles were vigorous, but short-lived. Finally, the grim rock, "Experience" drove our two ships together again. We can indeed raise the indifferent eye-brow at our blasé attempts toward originality—the impulsiveness of youth.

2T6 has always been unique. She has profited in wisdom and understanding by her varied career, and now emerges triumphant, with a united front once more. The gods predict a brilliant future. For ourselves, we can but point to the past and to the exemplary wisdom of our honoured god-father, Dr. Pratt. He it is, who has ever fanned the smouldering embers of 2T6 class spirit: And now we flourish aloft its burning torch with consecrated allegiance to our Alma Mater and to posterity.

"With rod and gun -."

Anyone that knows Bill knows that he spent his life in Chatsworth. Owen Sound rounded out his preliminary education, and sent him to Vic. and philosophy. Soccer, hockey and fussing won for him the athletic stick and many nicknames. His quiet, likeahle personality won so many hearts that he had to worry through his senior year as president of his class.

RITA KNOX BRETHEN

"She's a merry soul, She'll be a madcap all her life."

Norwood has the honour of being her native town, and whatever place she enters after leaving here will have a brighter future than a past. A bit of joyful effervescence, on a firm basis of sincerity and kindliness of heart. She'd feed her last crumh to a hungry dog, and apologize because it wasn't cake.

KATHLEEN CHAMBERS BURNS

"Cool, unperturbed through stress of hurry, Inclined to work but not to worry."

Born in Toronto, Kaye an honour matriculant from Central Tech., entered Victoria Household Ec. 1922. Proved a highly successful student and enthusiastically supported college activities-social and athletic. Showed marked iniative and leadership. President of the Household Science Club 1925-26. Voted O.K. by all.

DOROTHY E. BUTCHER

"To know her better, is to love her more."

This is a description to which little need be added. In the Pass Course, Dot proved herself a real student, fulfilling the promise of her high school days at Jarvis Collegiate Institute. With her lovable and versatile nature success has heen her lot and will continue to be throughout her whole career.

HELEN ORME BRETT

"To the young this is a world of action; Not for moping and droning in."

Hellie dashed from the wilds, babbling and uking her way to a mad career in social activities, dramatics, athletics, member of "smart Set" in University circles. Starred as "Darling Dora" at Hart House '24. President of Women's Athletics; baseball; Senior "T" for Varsity baskethall; captain of Vic team; "athletic stick" of Victoria.

VELMA ROBERTS CANNOM

"There, light of heart and foolfree, I would go Up to my home among the northern hills."

From the Northland "Vel" has travelled with the parsonage itinerancy, arriving here from Vic's former home, Cobourg. Fun-loving and fanciful, she shouts her slogan. "How dull it is to pause." Result—increase in avoirdupois(?); loss in years. Her interests include S.C.M. (study groups), skating, teas, maths. and friends.

MARY ISABEL CREIGHTON

"Of great length and other peculiariities."

Born Toronto 1904. Passed through the secondary school machine; ground out of Humberside; shunted into Victoria P. and G. 1921; transferred to E. and H. Interests—the human species.

LUELLA S. B. BRUCE

"Do I contradict myself? Very well then, I contradict myself."

Skated through four years of cramming and committees and emerged from the presidency of the W.U.A. unsubdued. Indeed permanently unsubduable. Regards other people's necessities as mostly absurdities. Justifies an incurable idleness hy spurts of inspired concentration. Wild, swift, sweet, uncertain and, like all geniuses, a little crazy.

BARBARA MADELEINE DALY

"A strange mixture of delight in life and calm acceptance."

She hath a double self—a veritable Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Who does not know Dr. Jekyll—the president, the dramatist, the swimmer, the dietitian. And yet, when least expected, is discovered a gaily spontaneous second self. Fortunate are they who have walked with Mr. Hyde. Hyde.

"Why man, he doth bestride the world like a Colossus!"

Born in Toronto, Mar. 15, 1907. Ken was raised on condensed milk—that's why he never grew. Educated at U.T.S. In the winter he fills the Vic, goal in water polo; in the summer he's one of the sons of toil 'midst tons of soil. "Ad astra" his aim, physically and mentally.

KENNETH EMMERSON DEACON

GEORGE LYMAN DUFF

'He loveth music, also beauty, The night for love and the day for duly."

Hamilton claimed this red-head in 1904. Captained Hamilton Collegiate rifle team. Devotes some time to B. and M. course. Divides summers between rowing on Varsity "tacks" and marine research. Interfaculty rowing, water-polo, hockey. Varsity rowing, Vic Acta, Bob, and Athletic executives. Nu Sigma Nu Fraternity.

FLORENCE P. EADIE

"She stand four-square to all the winds that blow."

Scottie's from Scotland, Ont. and a fine sample too, though small. Before 1922 she easily accumulated sufficient knowledge to enter Vic. Add to sincerity practicality, firmness of purpose and a good bump of humour and you will not wonder at her many friends. Hobbies—being away Sundays; dropping in on feeds; farming. farming.

J. MILTON DECK

and mentally.

"Thou whose exterior semblance doth belie Thy soul's immensity!"

Arrived, a mute inglorious Milton, at Lakefield, Ont., Aug. 23, 1898. Entered Albert College unostenta-tiously in 1919. Graduated with the Governor-General's gold medal in 1922. Various departmental dis-tinctions. Conceals an uncommon fondness for ladies, uncommonly well. Future—pastoral and paternal.

DOROTHY ELIZABETH ELLIOTT

- "For she is wise, if I can judge of

  - her, And fair she is, if that mine eyes be true, And true she is, as she hath proved herself."

Graduating from Riverdale Collegiate with an Edward Blake, Dorothy continued her search for the Truth at Vic., in modern languages. Her sunny disposition and loyal comrade-ship have won her many friends.

NORMA OLIVE DREWRY

"If she will she will, you can depend on't; If she won't she won't, so there's an end on't."

Norma matriculated from Chatham C.I. to Victoria and Household Ec. Here she has shown a brilliancy of intellect, a practical ability, and a generous disposition. Of a strong personality she respects the opinion of others yet usually acts on her own —a satisfactory friend.

VANALSTYNE FENNELL

"Softly now, this matter must be argued."

Who? Vanalstyne Fennell. When? Jan. 7, 1903. Where? Havelock, Ont. Career—Havelock public and contin-uation school, Napance Collegiate, U.T.S., general course at Vic. Took an active interest the Glee Club, and a successful inter-year and inter-faculty debater. Van is an able thinker and upholds his con-victions against the world.

COLLEGE VICTORIA

WILLIAM MARSHALL FERGUSON

"I am not shaped for sportive tricks, Nor for to court an amorous looking glass."

Psychological enquiry began Holland Centre, Ont., Sept. 14, 1903. To Markham high school and Harbord Collegiate goes the credit for the training of this potentially great preacher (?). Came to Vic. 1921. Member Varsity staff 1921-22; Acta Victoriana 1924-25, 1925-26. Fra-ternities—Tau Sigma Phi; Sigma Delta Chi professional journalistic.

GWENDOLYN J. FIFE

"I am in love with high far-seeing places."

Escaped with life and liherty from the tutelage of twelve schools to be en-snared in Vic. dramatics. She effervesces in feeling and dramatizes in speech. She never leaves until three minutes after but arrives one minute before. Eyes on stars— feet on earth. A gypsy spirit, not more than a little mad.

R. BRUCE FULTON

"The stag at eve had drunk his fill."

Chesterville still celebrates R. B's. Chesterville still celebrates R. B's, advent. He next scintillated in Lindsay (see Canada Year Book since 1904). Songht retirement at Varsity, but "inrabile dictu" he didn't retire (early). Along with other things he throws the discus. Legal training at Osgoode will insure against impossible hreach of promise with suits.

JOHN EDWIN GOODISON

"God match me with a good dancer."

A scion of sound Sarnia stock, with a breezy air and debonair manner. A chronic dissemhler—he tries vainly to hide a keen hrain. Possessing originality, a sense of humor and a sparkling wit, "Jack" will go far towards achieving success in his chosen sphere of industrial life.

WILLIAM GARBUTT FLETCHER

"Everywhere in life, the true ques-tion is not what we gain, but what we do."

Born in Drayton, Wellington County Born in Drayton, Wellington County. 1905; then Keswick public school and Oakwood C.I. In the winter Bill swings a mean skate at Varsity rink; in the summer runs the Parlianent Buildings. Here's to "Nap," gentle-man and friend. May he never meet his Waterloo!

DOROTHY FLORENCE FORWARD

"I question every wind that blows."

Dorothy. What is she and how? No solution. Studies biology and gets scholarships and things. Con-ceals this last. An incurahle faculty for finding out why. Makes intrigu-ing observations which, like herself, everybody understands in a different way. One good scout, and the winner of the "world champion friendship holder" title. As good as a play, but not so tedious. but not so tedious.

JAMES EGERTON GRAHAM

- "Buoyant and ringing was his laughter Always in demand—his wit; But underneath it in full measure Were stores of honest sense and grit."

"Curly" started cheering in Montreal 1904; still going strong leading Var-sity '23-25. "Elan vital" carried him naturally through first year and Bob presidencies, house committee, treas-ureship of S.C.M., to Vic's senior stick—a howling success! Destina-tion—China. Prospects—bound to wint win!

WILLIAM H. GRAHAM

"Besides for an honest man, there is also the stuff for a rogue,"

Bill started early by knocking the saint out of St. Marys and then fled to Woodstock College, where he acquired his characteristic non-chalance. At Vic. healthful doses of study and tennis conditioned him for the show and the dance. Enjoyed his tilts with the Students' Council here "wavenet Operacher" "caveat Osgoodus!"

ALICE ELIZABETH GRAYDON

Let knowledge grow from more to more.

A Torontonian of Irish descent, Alice came to Victoria from Harbord Collegiate with an Edward Blake, registering in modern languages. An earnest student, she has won laurels in the academic field while taking an interest in college func-tions and active part in the German Club. Ever a loyal and sympathetic friend. friend.

MARJORIE WINNIFRED HANNA

NETTIE L. HANSON

"I ain't dead; I'm speechless."

Learned to be quiet in school at Iroquois. Wears a masque of shy-ness but she can take it off. Does what should be done, and loses no time in the doing. Capable, candid, chaimoret

"As gladdening as spring you are

A lady of the lakes (Muskoka). Past—went to Albert for several years. Future—may go again!

"Says less than she knows, Has more than she shows."

Knowledge absorption began way Knowledge absorption began way back in 1906. The process was fairly continuous through Cannington and Lindsay high schools and even after four years miscellaneous culture at Victoria is still quietly active. Per-haps due to the observance of an occasional discreet silence permitting a calm, detached survey of the world and its doings.

RUTH WINNIFRED HAINES

"O suche nie dein Gluck Im Weltgewimmel. Je tiefer in dich zuruck, Je hoher im Himmel."

Newmarket high school; English and history at Vic. Characterized by a passion for investigating various branches of truth, and a faculty for imparting knowledge. Best of all, a sincere friend. Hobbies—music, art. Future—"Rufus" will delve ever deeper in the book of wisdom clairvoyant.

"Myself when young did eagerly frequent doctor and saint, and heard great argument About it and about: and nevermore Came out by the same door as in I went."

(Omar temeritati meae ignoscat)

England 1903; Brantford public and high schools 1910-22; Varsity, Eng-lish and history, 1922-26.

HERBERT EGERTON HARRIS

"Why should life all labour be?"

Greeted the world at Hamilton 1905. Toiled faithfully at Hamilton Colle-giate with Osgoode in view and ar-rived at Vic with an Edward Blake scholarship. Never lets his studies interfere with his education. Favour-ite pastime—aquatics. Captain of Vic water-polo 1925. Vic bob com-mittee, Acta Board, Students' par-liament, and athletic executive.

GEORGE H. HAMES

"But he is as constant as the northern star Which has no fellow in the firmament."

Born in Ingersoll, Ont., Sept. 4, 1903. Moved West six weeks later. Public and high schooled at Oxbow, Sask. Entered B. & M. Rowed for Vic. crew. Active in Vic. orchestra for three years. Slow to start but finishes strong.

RICHARD BRUCE HARRISON

"And with the shadowy picture feeds his mind,"

Came trailing clouds of glory to Peterboro, Ont., Dec. 28, 1895. Three years on active service with C.E.F. Four years hard labour at Albert College 1920-23. Emerged with a senior matric., sweet memories and a picture. Still has the picture Future—theology and—bliss!

PHYLLIS A. HIPWELL

"'Twas sad by fits, By starts 'twas wild."

First model appeared at Alliston; additions made at Whitby; yearly improvements at Varsity. Fitted with three gears—gaiety, despondency, indifference. Especially adapted to basketball and swimming. Fully equipped for pleasure; limited capacity for study. Accessories paint brush and violin. Now on market as produced by Pass course.

RUTH MIRIAM HAZLEWOOD

"How my achievements mock me!"

One of the pebbles from Grimsby Beach rolled into the second year of '26. Hockey and tennis gave her an indomitable spirit to withstand the strain of A.S.G.A. Her own proclivities make her a benevolent despot. Still popular.

ALLAN FREDERICK HOLLINRAKE

"None but himself can be his parallel."

Born at Woodstock 1904. Entered B. & M. course from Hamilton Collegiate. Prominent on Vic rugby, hockey and tennis teams. Captain Vic hockey team '26. Noted for his unassuming disposition! Vic athletic and class executives, bob committee, Hart House billiard committee.

MARGARET MORRISON HENDERSON

"She's calm and reserved, That's as far as it goes; She seems to be quiet—yet One never knows."

Freshie—Classically danced her year away to "A" in Latin. Soph—Social activities plus work unexpectedly resulted in triple "A." Junior— Period of transition. Senior—Became so well versed in the poets Ruskin, Thomson that she expects to make them her life study.

M. EDITH HONEY

"An' I had one penny in the world, thou shouldst have it to buy gingerbread."

Many and devious highways brought Slim to Victoria. Here she went hand in hand with English and history, but both escaped without permanent injury. She cherishes that ideal Utopia of good friends, good books, and fun, wherein mere man mars not the harmony.

MARGORIE HILLIARD

"She does not say what we expect But we're the better pleased."

Advanced from the fields of Waterloo. Flourish of trumpets. Enter "Toot." Entertains when importuned, and even sings a bit. Guaranteed to disperse gloom. Appreciation finds her friends. Tell her what you will, she won't divulge it.

MARION E. HORTON

"Companions, vile companions have been the spoil of me."

Toronto 1905. Oakwood Collegiate 1917-22. Endured four years of higher learning with commendable fortitude, and afflicts her friends with an enthusiasm for the teaching profession. Slugged for Vic. on the baseball team. Plays tennis well but skates better. Successfully lives down the reputation of a friend to all.

WILLIAM PATTISON HORWOOD

"Amicus Plato, sed magis amica veritas."

Bill received his primary education at Mimico(?) and Kent schools, and matriculated from U.T.S. in 1922. He entered the classics course at Vic and has been pushing along for four years without any sign of mental disruption. According to latest reports he is looking forward to work in the foreign field.

HELEN MAE IRWIN

"A gay maid, a blue maid With yearnings not a few."

A prodigy? No! Just a wholesome youngster learning to parlez-vous and habla vd. espagnol. Rare combination of charm, reserve and mirth-provoking wit—but here her modesty demands our silence.

RUTH EVELYN HUBBERT

"Be silent and safe; silence never betrays you."

Was the first addition to a Toronto family, and a real problem until she learned to multiply and divide at Dewson and Howard schools. After a proper fraction of time there, she went to Parkdale Collegiate where she divided her interest among a wide circle of activities. Senior matriculation was a prime factor in helping her to decide to enter Vic.

ETHEL E. H. JACKSON

"No child could surpass her in simplicity, credulity and generous trustfulness."

Ethel has grown along with Toronto. She was "detained" for five years at Oakwood C.I. and has been no less a worry to her teachers in Household Ec. Her genius should bring her fame; and her steadfastness has proved her a long-suffering friend.

MARGARET HUGHSON

trary.

"Breezy and buoyant—both wise and merry Most independent—somewhat con-

If you meet at U, of T. Western friendliness and energy unrestrained by a sojourn in Hamilton or the grind of Household Ec., a paradoxical dignity, a passion for sleep by morn and revelry by night, yet a tendency to acquire scholarships, which surprise even herself—then that's "Peg."

LAURA I. JAMIESON

"Broad in mind, small in stature; Bad at times, but good by nature."

Vet another from Oakwood. Escaped from a year in Pass but to be ensnared in four of Household Economics. However, hard work hasn't ruined her disposition—in fact, she seems to luke it. Laura is proof that good stuff is done up in small packages.

JACK ALLAN IRVING

"Incomprehensibility; that's what I say."

To cherish high ideals, and calmly to communicate their sweet fragrance. Ever burning with a flame, brilliant, hard, gem-like, to maintain a glowing ecstasy immersed in deepest love and wonder. Never to lose enthusiasms, and the vision of beauty in the haunting magic of sunset lyrics, or in the river's liquid murmur through midnight's thick darkness. . This is to taste of immortality from infinity's boundless occan.

WILLIAM ROSS JUNKIN

"By day a student, By night a mystery."

As early as September 1902, Fenelon Falls discovered that Ross had a strong baritone(?) voice. This doubtless led to the family's exodus to Toronto where Harbord Collegiate laid the foundation for a protracted course in C. & F. at Victoria. His chief diversions are basketball, bridge, and insurance, while in serious moments he cogitates over true love, connubial bliss, and a long patriarchal life à la Fenelon.

FREDA M. KINCAIDE

"She will go somewhat saucily through this world,"

On a sunshine tour from Madoc through Aurora, Unionville, Freddy pansed at Vic. Here she partook of modern languages, the Press Club and the latest books. If fabricating reasons for missing lectures signifies future proficiency in story-telling Freddy's wagon is already hitched to "The Star."

WILLIAM HORACE LIMBERT

"Every man of true genius has his peculiarity."

Mar. 13, 1904, Greenbank, Ont. Riverdale Collegiate 1922. Although a son of the parsonage he has not committed a crime of any great merit yet. With his musical talent and genial personality he has gained many friends both male and female. Several love affairs—nothing serious. "Great Expectations."

JESSIE KIRKLAND

"Red' brown-an autumn leaf."

SHIRLEY MARION LUKE

"Cheerful at morn she wakes from short repose, Breathes the keen air and carols as she goes."

Shirley's thirst for knowledge has been partially satisfied at Moulton College then she came to brighten up Vic. where the general course has claimed her attention. Her charm and happy faculty of taking and giving pleasure make Shirley an eager student and a most companionable friend.

MARY ELIZABETH KNOX

"Paint me as I am, or I'll not pay you one shilling."

We don't know what she'll do but she'll do it. She's president of orchestra, and A.S.G.A. cannot get along without her. She'll live her life if she's let alone, for, in spite of being in modern history, she still makes up her own mind. She comes from Orono.

DOROTHY R. E. MAAS

"Happy am I, from care I'm free, Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Brought smiles 'n chuckles to West Flamboro, Oakwood C.I. and Household Ec. She has a unique combination of the synthesis of eats and the analysis of minds. But Dot needs no eulogy, she can speak for herself.

MARGARET E. LAIDMAN

"How real was she? Ah, my friend, In art the fact and fancy blend Past telling.

From the Barrie Collegiate Institute. A lover of sports, music and art. "Happiest moments"—when golfing. Always in a hurry, only sometimes late. Prospects—who can tell? JOHN MANUEL

"Some of us strive Not without action to die Fruitless, but something to snatch From dull oblivion."

Born June 29, 1895, at Caergwrle, North Wales. Hawarden County School, Albert College and Vic. have claimed him in turn. Always of a genial disposition, John has made many friends who will follow his future career in the church with expectancy.

GEORGE SETH MATHERS

"What was all this?"

Brought up in the country where men are men, George ventured into the land of the Lotus and has some-how or other become a gentleman. His Western dependability has thrust upon him multitudinous executive honours while his unpardonahle sense of humour has nearly had him hanged. Unerring judgment and some good luck brought him an Annesley announcement.

ENID EMILY MORRISON

"Since nought avails to worry or complain, just gay and unconcerned remain." Ι

"I believe in friends, I do," has been her motto heginning at Petrolia, on through her career at II.S. and Sarnia C.I. and later at Victoria. Gay and unconcerned, even in the mad rush for learning, she takes snaps and plays the guitar, keeping her friends in spite of all.

M. WALLACE MCCUTCHEON

"No quality will get a man more friends than to be plagued with an itching leprosy of wit."

Born at London, Ont., May 18, 1906. Arriving at the age of discretion and Toronto, simultaneously in 1913, graduated in '22 from Oakwood C.I. Four years in M. & P. have not dulled his daring originality in con-versation. As to the future? "You never can tell" hut Mac says that's the only thing that makes life worth living. living.

HELEN J. MUNRO

"High flights had she, and wit at will And so her tongue lay seldom still.

Coming to Vie. from Iroquois high school, Helen has entered whole heartedly into her academic work in the Pass course and the social ac-tivities of 2T6. Her exceptional ability in art won for her the dis-tinction of class artist. Her fav-ourite pastimes were hiking, snow-shoeing and choral.

ARTHUR HAMILTON MIDDLETON

"C'est une grande habileté que de savoir cacher son habileté."

Art became a part of the Queen City in 1904. Did time in Kent school and U.T.S. Then came to Vie to study moderns en passant while he acquired his A.T.C.M. Greatly interested in outdoor sports, but dete ac particular but dotes on organs.

ISABEL MARY OAKS

"There's a sparrow chirpin'."

I' faith this is a curious music. Wouldst think thou that these weird notes, and sweet and wild and deep ones too, could come from such a slender instrument. A sprightly creature this who unnistakably thinks and unexpectedly announces her thoughts. The effect may be disturbing but is never less than delightful.

GRACE MITCHELL

"Methinks the lady doth protest too much

Her modesty cramps our style in giving her an adequate description. However, we find she came from St. Marys. Reserve hrings her friends and holds them. Flustered by teasing; made miserable by praise; her temper, withal, screne. Don't mistake us—she is not at all passive The realm of music knows her hest.

META VIOLA OUTWATER

".1 heart to resolve, a head to con-trive, and a hand to execute."

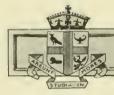

Saw the light at historic Adolphus-town; saw more light at Peterhoro and Parkdale C.I's., with name high up the list in each. Then Vic and Household Economics whose portals now swing outward, disclosing a field for real success to one of her calm, steady application.

JANET AMY PARKER

"The big oak did not grow from a little acorn that had no ambition."

Walked for her education from youth upwards. The hike to Mimico gave her an interest in insanity fostered by lonely journeys to Weston and Humberside Collegiate. Now she visits insane asylums and her hobby is leaving umbrellas in such institutions. Criticism—an example of the practical in life relieved by snatches of frivolity and psychology.

E. ERNESTINE PARTRIDGE

"She can be as wise as we and wiser when she wishes."

Vivacious and sparkling one day, dignified and reserved the next. That streak of resolute determination has guided her through four years of swimming, basketball and Household Economics. The finished product? Peter.

LEWIS LORNE PERKIN

"Always reliable, mirth with grace combined, He is rich in wisdom, and musically inclined."

"Perk' was born in Toronto, Ont., July 1903. Obtained honour matriculation at Riverdale Collegiate where he attended five years. Entered C. & M., Div. I, at Varsity in 22 having scientific tendencies. President of Arts Chemical Club '25, Member of Vic orchestra for three seasons. Always faithful and sincere in all his undertakings.

ALBERT EDWARD PERRY

"I am the master of my fate I am the captain of my soul."

Gooderham, Ont., welcomed him in 1904 and Harbord Collegiate laid the educational foundation for the B, & M. course. Staunch and dependable, "Ab" is one of the best. His keen brain, good judgment and pleasing personality have contributed greatly to the success of the Student Volunteer work.

CECIL SAMUEL PATTERSON

"The boy's bright dream is all before. The man s romance lies far behind"

"Pat's" rich baritone rent the air in 1902. At St. Andrew's, Jarvis and Vic his syncopation has wrecked Steinways and broken hearts. "Pat" established many friendships as sophomore president, member of "Bob" committee, Varsity baseball executive, Vic 'ball team, the Glee Club quartette and the S.A.C. A man's man and one girl's.

WILLIAM RUSSEL PHILP

"A little bit goes a long ways."

Having exhausted the Pierian springs in Colborne, Campbelliord and Cobourg, he longed for other drinks. Tried dentistry but extracted himself and entered C. and F. "Russ" revels in late (very) "bull sessions" and Imperial Mixture; discusses population theories and (?) with comprehension and case. Does not concede that it pays to advertise.

EVAN ROBERTSON PEACOCK

"The fire in the flint Shows not till it be struck."

Mansfield, Ont., claims Evan as her son, but was unable to hold him. Shipped to various ports, but finally docked at Vic in 1922. Consistent student, athlete and friend. Osgoode is the gainer, Vic the loser.

MARJORIE MARY PINDER

"Her plumpness comes not from roast beef but from a generous heart and a cheerful disposition."

To a product of Arthur add literary tendencies and linguistic ability, nix well with a love of fun and merriment, flavour with devil-may-care, season with a dash of ever ready wit, eliminate all worry and care, expose to moderns; result —Marge.

HELEN M. REID

a vote yet.

"Bad as the best of us."

Versatility which appreciates any-thing from the sublime to the ridiculous—a certain naive charm and never failing courtesy. Belle-ville is the niche from whence she came. At the end of her college course holds many hearts in fealty and enjoys always the best that true friendship can afford.

"What an eye she hath! Methinks it speaks a parley of provocation."

To say she came from Omemee by way of Lindsay Collegiate, and now graduates in moderns is to tell but little of Doris. Originality, keen wit, discernment—these are hers. Her interests have led her in ways di-verging from music to politics; but with all her versatility, she hasn't a vote vet

ALICE KATHLEEN SKINNER

"All the titles of good friendship come to you.

Alice's faculty for making friends, along with her capability, and seriousness well balances with fun, made her head of Oaklawn. She loves skating and Household Econ-omics but has always had plenty of time for Student Volunteer, for —"she's going to that heathen Chinee."

ETHEL M. SMITH

"Oh, I won't lead a homely life."

If you're her friend, you will be till you're dead—and afterwards. A curious mixture of ice-berg and volcano. A flair for the oriental. Exotic, a bit, and as silent as a clam. The rare faculty of never exhibiting the faintest jarring note in the whole picture whose oclours are silver and picture, whose colours are silver and green.

M. MARJORIE SCOTT

"Must we all masquerade and play a part And live our lives, unknown, within the heart?"

First ticked at Ingersoll. At Vic wound her way through every col-lege sport. A combination of droll wit and indifference revealing what she wishes. Don't question her more.

E. WINNIFRED SERVICE

"Truth, justice, love and laughter."

A recipe for Victoria spirit—start with Chinese home-brew; add to it Canadian fresh air and sunshine; mix in generous quantities of base-ball, Choral Club and S.C.M. leader-ship; season well with a host of good friends; stir vigorously with the senior stick; top it off with China once more, and the result is.—Win once more; and the result is-Win.

JEAN SPENCER

"Nothing ever comes of this inter-minable palavering."

SAMUEL EARNEST STEVENSON

"He laughs and you laugh with him."

Commonly known as Stevie; born in Ekfrid, Ont., Sept. 25, 1899. Educated (public and high) at Melbourne; normal London '17-'18; a ship-hand for six months on Pacific coast; taught school eighteen months, preached a year and then came to Vic. Active in Glee Club and class functions and a faithful supporter of Interfaculty soccer. Hobby— periodic moustaches, Destiny—the-ology. ology.

CHARLES MOSHER STEWART

"It changes you, this life. You don't come out of it quite the same."

Sackville, N.B., 1902; Reginal 1910; Vic 1921. Took his studies peripatetically. Always believed that life was for living and education more than books, so dabbled in water polo, basketball, Acta, sketch committee, S.C.M., Sigma Delta Chi. Does his fussing at home. Probs—who knows?

THEODORE REGINALD TURNER

"Worthy man. He can but with measure fit the honours Which we devise him."

"Ted" commenced his winsome ways at Chatham, Mar. 15, 1901. One year at high school led to Vic. Trick scholarship; vice-president Students' Parliament; active member of Col-lege dramatics; personals editor of Acta and numerous other activities. A pulpit orator of the United Church. A felicitous future predicted A felicitous future predicted.

FREDERICK BRITTON STRANGWAYS

"We must come down to the point."

Commenced to cultivate neuroses in Party Sound. Continued in Tor-onto at Harbord Collegiate. Came to Varsity. Switched to honor science second year; third year worked for Varsity, the undergrad-nate newspaper; fourth year editor-in-chief. Managed a high quality war with the Toronto Evening Telegram. Average age at graduation, twenty-one years and four months. Vocation—up-lift journalism. Avo-cation—games of mingled skill and chance. Hobbies—the seven deadly virtues. Sigma Delta Chi.

ALICE TAYLOR

"I'm afraid I can't put it more clearly," Alice replies very politely, "for I can't understand it myself to begin with."

MARY MINTO VAN ALLEN

"Nature made her as she is And ne'er made sich anither."

For Mary has an individuality all her own. She likes Household Econ-omics and snowshoeing, but her most attractive little tea room on Crysler's farm is her hobby.

MARION ETHEL WALES

"'Tis the greatest of folly Not to be jolly That's what I think."

The speed limit in Napanee is only twenty miles an hour since Marion came to Varsity. In 2T6 honour biology she has flooded the other-wise drab existence of her class-mates with light and interest. A good cook, an ardent plankton en-thusiast and a very bright girl.

ANNA MARIE TREMAINE

"She speaks with poignards, and every word stabs. If her breath were as terrible as her terminations there were no living near her, she would infect the north star."

E. ISOBEL WALKER

"If she will she will you may depend on il If she won't she won't, and there's an end on't."

She really isn't a bit contrary, though, but just the most dependable sort of friend anyone could have. Her hobby is music, but she likes Household Science too in spite of its diets and labs. Isobel's home is in Barrie, Ont.

KEITH P. WATSON

"Let us be silent, that we may hear the whispers of the gods."

Born, Sarnia 1902. Matriculated at S.C.I. 1919. Came to Varsity in '22, where he worked a little, played a little, and talked a great deal. For the future, we'll hope for the best.

ETHEL MURIEL WEST

"I'm not an anti-anythingite."

Vic, Women's Lit. Society, under her guidance, discovered all sorts of queer things it had never known before. She chortled at impending disaster, was amazed at her unexpected flounderings on wit—but smiled and was happy anyway. She believes in fairies but she sees the man behind who winds them up. Almonte claims the honour.

"Things come about very strangely."

The parsonage at Victoria Harbour, on Mar. 18, 1904, resounded with a melodious howl which was to develop into the sonorous tones of the basso profundo of the Victoria male Quartette and prominent member of the Vic. Glee Club. At Oakwood he was distinguished above all else for his potent checker game. He leaves Vic. with bright prospects for himself—and another.

MARJORIE ESTELLE WESTMAN

"Oh tell me more!"

A Model child, she came from North Toronto C.1. into honour mathematics and physics. Successfully untangling college and course activities, exposed to treacherons mathematics, becoming alive to the soul of physics, she yet found time to conduct numerous experiments on human nature. Immediate future is dedicated to research with the above motto.

SAMUEL D. LLOYD WEBSTER

"II'hy all this toil and trouble?"

Born at Lindsay, Jan. 1905. Lindsay Collegiate 1919-1922. Vic. 1922-1926. Modest, unassuming, undemonstrative, Lloyd proves the vanity of bustle and restless activity. With calm serenity and no appearance of effort he has drunk deeply of the most modern thought in science and philosophy, especially economics—and graduates at twentyone. More later.

KATHLEEN MCMULLEN WILLIAMS

"College a dream, the world a dream; Who can bury a red-head keen?"

As a mere child, Kay contracted the habit of going to school in Woodstock. Further complications set in at Havergal. An impossible combination of the irresistible wit and the meticulous critic, with an uncanny capacity for saving unsavable situations. Vivacious to the wth degree.

IDA S. WEGENAST

"Help thyself, and God will help thee,"

Birthplace—New Hamburg; hails from Waterloo. At first business claimed "Weggi," but the lure of language led her to study moderns. Special interests—German, and lending a typing hand to the needy. Future—sure to be worthy. CLARA EVELYN WILSON

"Let's have a colloquy."

Born October 1904. Preliminary education Toronto public schools and Oakwood Collegiate Institute. At Victoria spasmodically supported college activities. Fond of music, addicted to skating. Vice-president of the Glee and Choral Club 1925-26.

To the Graduating Class of Trinity College By Provost Seager

HE year 1926 may emerge in History as "A Year of Turning" —the year in which the world began to emerge from the distress and bewilderment of the War.

Indications to this effect are not wanting. If so, a great constructive period in the life of Canada will begin slowly to emerge and the new creative forces of the twentieth century to be released.

The graduates of twenty-six should with confidence look forward to their career as alluring with promise. They should enter upon it with eagerness and hope, in the belief that a life of high and unusual opportunity lies before them.

On the other hand, every thoughtful person is aware that no career developes suddenly. Will to hard work and a spirit of quiet patience are always necessary.

All good wishes to you all.

To the Students of St. Michael's College By Father McCorkell

THE present generation of St. Michael's students has exploited more fully than their predecessors the opportunities opened to them by the University connection. You have been prominent beyond what might be expected from your numbers in Hart House activities. You have taken a creditable part in University Athletic, debating, and literary activities. All this is natural and wise. It may not be out of place however when the present trend is in full swing to point out that as your college gains something from the University as a whole, she must enrich that complex life with her own characteristic concontribution. Your college is a very old one with long-standing traditions, and she is part of a system that is much older than she is herself. These traditions she must maintain if she is to be true to herself, and true to the magnificent ideal which actuated the framers of the federation scheme. There have been certain adjustments to the new environment and there will probably be more as time goes on, but on the eve of her diamond jubilee her academic life is essentially the same as it was at the beginning and it must remain so.

One of the principles of education for which your college stands is a more or less rigid discipline. She does not claim to be alone in her allegiance to this principle, but on account of her small numbers she has until now been in a position favourable to its maintenance. The new environment created by the University connection has not been permitted to modify this to any appreciable degree, and I trust that it never will, because this is one of our precious traditions. It is on this high ground that your liberty is curtailed more than that of your fellowstudents in the other colleges. I do not find that you resent it, but I think it wise that you should take an intelligent view of it. You are different from the others in some respects, but that is to be expected in a University made up of different units, and difference does not mean inferiority. Indeed it is by a frank recognition of our differences that we elicit the respect of others, and it is by mutual respect that the different colleges remain true to themselves, and make their best contribution to our common Alma Mater, the University of Toronto.

THOMAS JOSEPH BERRIGAN

"Then David arose, .1nd Lo, it was noon."

Tom yawned his way into the world in 1904 on Allumette Island. Moved to Pembroke for secondary education and joined the class of 2T6 in '23. Came to Varsity in 1922 where he has made a host of friends. He is a pianist of unusual talent and a good student. Has a ready wit and an infectious chuckle. Pet study is philosophy.

TOMNEY VINCENT MCMANAMY

"You made me what I am today; I hope you're satisfied."

We are. Tomney, after eighteen years repose, awoke in St. Michael's in September, 1922, proclaiming the existence of Thorold, Ont. We now admit it, and through our associa-tions with Tom's sterling qualities, we know that we have a sincere friend there. Hobbies—Tacitus, Rou-seau, and five hundred. An ex-emplary student. Brilliant future assured.

FRANCIS E. NEVLAN

"O're tomes of philosophy, by night, has he wept, While the rest of wise men, in comfort, have slept."

Years have passed and Collingwood Years have passed and Collingwood cannot yet understand why, one night, the "Aurora Borealis" shone so exceedingly bright over that fair city of the north. Francis failed to convince them so he moved to Mid-land. Exhausted the deposit of knowledge there, and came to S. M. C. to cast in his lot with the Honour Philosophers in "22. A prominent member of the Qnindecim, Literary Club, Year Book Staff, and president of the University Liberal Club. Future—law, politics.

LILLIAN CATHERINE DUGGAN

"Her soul sincere, In action faithful, and in honour clear."

Born in Buffalo, N.Y., June 12, 1906. Received education in Toronto. During her career here, Lillian has successfully combined sport and study. Diploma course in Physical education; four years in Interfaculty baseball; President S.J.C. Athletic Association. A true friend, a fine student, and a good sport always.

MARY HELENA DWYER

"I would not fear nor wish my fate, But boldly say each nigh!, To-morrow let my sun his beams display, Or in clouds hide them; I have lived to-day."

Came from Villa Marie, Montreal, to Loretto, Served on several committees, displaying splendid executive ability. Enthusiastic supporter of athletics, representing her college in Sophomore year, as president University W. Gym. Club.

MARIE EILEEN FOLEY

"Her smiles, her sweet and charming way Turned clouds to sunshine, night Turned clouds to sunshine, night to day."

The class of 2T6 claimed Marie straightway upon her graduation from St. Joseph's Academy 1922, and Marie fully justified its claim by her all-round college spirit, high standard in academic work and exceptional ability in amateur dramatics. But her greatest gift to 2T6 was her own sweet personality. "The things are few she would not do, in friendship's name."

HELEN MARY KERNAHAN

"... which can say no more Than this rich praise, that you alone are you?"

NOREEN KINGSLEY

"The hand that made thee fair Has made thee good."

ELEANOR M. MCCARTHY

"Judge me just by what I am, Then you'll find me fairest."

Graduated from St. Mary's Academy, Windsor, Ont., her home town. Came to St. Joseph's with ideas of her own. Still has them. Favorite verse, "I don't care, that isn't fair." Plucky, witty, honorable, a true friend.

HELENA JEANNE MCCARTHY

"To spend long hours in work When one might play 'Twere some mere fallacy."

Dixie, Ont., and the year 1906 claim her birth. Matriculating from St. Joseph's High School in '22 she joined the class of 276 at St. Michael's. She is attached to rural life and a firm adherent to the philosophy that a laugh is the best cure for life's ills.

MARY VERONICA MICHELL

"I can dance to any measure that is gay."

Study—her serious employment, but spasmodic. Song-hits and teaching the newest dance steps, her pastime. Manager of the St. Michael's women's hockey team 1925-26, but her most important role is the Merry Maiden.

RITA FRANCES O'GRADY

"She mixed reason with pleasure and wisdom with mirth."

Collingwood is Rita's natal place but Toronto has for several years been favored with her presence. Matriculated from St. Joseph's High School and entered Arts 2T6. Has a mind of her own and believes in doing things right. Her character and ability angur success for her future.

NORAH CECELIA STORY

"For 1 am weary of wars and idle strife Who have no joy in all these little things Men break their lives upon."

A not unwarranted reaction of a history student, whose truly Napolconic flair for organization and unique gift of tact have meant success in most varied college enterprises. Varsily reporter '23; Dramatics director '24, '25; president of class '24; Intercollegiate debater '25; interuniversity debater '26.

MARGARET JOSEPHINE PHELAN

"I am only mad nor'—nor'—west; when the wind blows southerly, I can tell a hawk from a handsaw."

The origin of the unexpected. Demosthenes in Toronto. Bernhardt the second. A sophisticated Peter Pan. Mistress Why? —and e'en though vanquished she could argue still

DOROTHY HELEN SULLIVAN

"She's little but she's wise, She's a terror for her size."

Coming from Edmonton, "Sully" finished her Prep. course at Loretto College School by capturing an Arts scholarship. Indulged in dramatics, debating and executives. Generally known as a good head but we don t know much about her heart. Very decided likes and dislikes, with a weakness for wit and humor.

GERTRUDE J. QUINLAN

"She hath a skill to hide her true ability."

Matriculated from Port Hope High School, thence to Moderns at S.J.C. It is rumored that Gertrude came to ns with a studious air and her knitting. No trace of either remains, On executive of Athletics, Literary Society and French Club. A bent for athletics and incidental bruises. A generous and thonghtful disposition; a ready humour and a quick wit. "We did not say we understood her. We would not have the presumption to say that of any woman."

ROSE MARY SILVESTER

"Our friends the petty fools of rhyme Can't do me justice at such a time."

Copper Cliff made this donation to Toronto. After matriculating from Loretto College School, "Chic" first attracted attention in scholastic circles as president of the Freshman year. One of our "high" lights in dramatics. An effectual addition to any debating team as there's nothing she enjoys more than an argument. An interesting partner at repartee.

IDA JOSEPHINE WICKETT

"To those who know you not, no words can paint; And those who know you, know all words are faint."

A Pennsylvania girl, Toronto and St. Joseph's won her. Class executives have profited by her abilities, and Newman Club remembers her as one of its most charming hostesses. Kind, sincere, and a true friend. The best of happiness keep with you, Ida.

MARY CAMILLA WRIGHT

"Thou lackest not friendship's spellword, not the half-unconscious power to draw all hearts to thine by love's sweet law."

TEACHERS' COURSE

Department of University Extension The Teachers' Course

OME years ago the University of Toronto arranged the Teachers' Course, by means of which those who are engaged in teaching may proceed to the Pass B.A. degree without discontinuing work in their classrooms.

In 1920 the first two teachers graduated under this plan and since that time eighty-four others have done so. There are now over four hundred teachers proceeding to the degree under this arrangement and of these eighteen expect to graduate in May, 1926.

These teacher-students necessarily take their work more slowly than do students in the regular courses. They take lectures in the late afternoons, in the evenings, and on Saturday forenoons in Toronto; and in Hamilton they take lectures only in the evenings. Those who do not live near enough these two centres to attend the special classes study at home during the winter and take their lectures in the Summer Session. They receive their lectures from the same members of the staff as do the students in the regular courses and they write, for the most part, the same examinations at the same time.

It may be said that these teachers miss a great deal of University life and of course they do. But, being older, they attack their work with more experience and with the advantages of more mature minds. A student in the Teachers' Course has been known to take the highest marks in the whole University in a Second Year Pass subject and students in the Teachers' Course usually secure a relatively large proportion of the A standings given each year. They are always very earnest students and they appreciate the special opportunities which the University gives them.

The Teachers' Course is only one of the many and varied activities of the Department of University Extension. In its various courses and classes, most of which do not lead to any degree, this Department had last year 2545 students and, in addition, more than 13,000 people throughout the Province of Ontario listened to the Extension Lectures provided.

Through the Department of University Extension, the Provincial University provides educational facilities to adults in its constituency who desire higher education.

"I took all knowledge for my province."

Some little girls are always sweet and good and obedient; and others give promise of amounting to some-thing. Among the latter was "Davy." She began her preliminary education in the schools of Tillsonburg and firished at Newmarket with the First Carter scholarship. In 1921 she came to Toronto and has im-parted knowledge to the future citizens of Toronto ever since. Ambition led her to take a course at Varsity and become a member of the class of '26.

To the Graduating Class in Medicine

By Dean Primrose

HE profession of medicine demands the exercise of many virtues, courage, perseverance, the love of one's fellowman and infinite tact and skill in dealing with his maladies. The well-trained student is capable of applying his knowledge with conviction, so that he is able to surmount difficulties and solve problems which, many times, in the hands of the ignorant are undertaken with disaster. So too the student will find that a medical career makes exceptional demands upon his "staying power": the under-graduate course is long and arduous, and the acquisition of his degree is only the beginning of a life service, throughout which constant study and application to work alone ensures success. Fortunately the more one works in medicine, provided the work is systematic and thorough, the more pleasure one gets from it and as one applies one's knowledge in the treatment of the sick, there is bred of necessity a true human sympathy with the sufferer and great satisfaction in one's ability to secure for him relief from his maladies.

The undergraduate course in medicine in the University of Toronto is planned to train the students in the fundamental sciences and, in the later years of the course, to teach him the clinical application of these sciences in the treatment of disease. The progress of science in general of recent years is remarkable in its extent and in its varied application to the needs of humanity. In no department of human activity is this more obvious than in medicine. Recent advances in Biology, Chemistry and Physics have been revolutionary in their application to the problems of disease. If this be true then it is obvious that the man or woman who undertakes to practise medicine must be so trained that he is capable of applying the results of scientific discovery in his daily work. If we study the history of medicine we learn of the bitter struggle of certain brilliant men who discovered great scientific truths but were unable for many years to convince their colleagues of the value of their discoveries. Outstanding men like Vesalius the Anatomist, Harvey who discovered the circulation of the blood and of more recent years Pasteur and Lister. These men were "ahead of their time." Those of the rank and file of the profession were unable to grasp the truth of their discoveries because they were not trained in science, the result was that, for example, the teachings of Lister were not universally accepted by the Profession for a quarter of a century. Many of his fellows in the medical profession did not share with him the necessary knowledge of Biology and Chemistry, they could not grasp the facts of scientific proof which he deduced and so they opposed his doctrines. They were fettered by tradition, prejudice and ignorance and so by their opposition retarded the full benefit of one of the greatest boons conferred upon humanity.

As the result of modern methods in the training of medical students we are gradually filling the ranks of the profession with men and women who have the receptive qualities necessary for grasping the importance of scientific discovery and are capable of its practical application. Thus it came about for example that the discovery of Insulin was immediately accepted by the profession. Medical practitioners were so trained that they were able to appreciate scientific proof and to apply their knowledge effectively in the treatment of a dread disease.

We trust our graduates in medicine will go forth from the University of Toronto, well equipped to play their part in the advance of scientific medicine. We wish them a full measure of success in their chosen career and we hope that each and all of them will accomplish much in the relief of human suffering.

Class History of 2T6 Medicine

"Non ministrari, sed ministrare"

THE curtain rises, in the autumn of 1920, upon a group of two hundred and fifty-seven students assembled ready to worship at the shrine of Aesculapius. They had gathered from the four corners of the globe, many having seen service in the War; others were fresh from the country and the manse; thus old and young were flung together to brave the storms of outrageous fortune, in their struggle for existence. Thus the class of 2T6 Medicine came into being.

We were welcomed into the first year by Dr. Ryerson, who was to be our friend and advisor in time of adversity, during the long struggle of a six years' course. We shall never forget the friendship, which began in the first year, and lasted throughout our course, of the "Girls" in the office. How they could always remember our names, and individual difficulties, will always be a marvel to us!

In the First Year, we elected Bill Brebner as our President. Rallying around Bill, we gave our best in the initiation. They were two years initiating us, and the rotten eggs certainly flew. That was the last of the big fights at the Stadium. "Tiny" Guthrie, the strong man, who was with us then, dropped his year for the second time. He beat us all, as in a few months he was back practising as a Doctor of Chiropractic, and also on the staff of the College of Chiropractic in Toronto. The Soph-Frosh Banquet, which we paid for, was a great success at the Masonic Temple. Sir Robert displayed his usual equanimity, when struck, by a bunch of grapes hurled from some distant corner, on his white shirt. The doors of the theatre suffered greatly when rushed by the happy banqueters for the special show. Dr. Bensley's two hour lectures in the same room, called for some diversion, accordingly Goodchild's spats and bowler adorned the imposing statue of Sir George Brown in Queen's park. Traffic was stopped occasionally. Later in the year, we found that there were three already married amongst us, namely, Cain, Cowie and Fielding.

When the dust and smoke of the eliminations due to the exams had cleared away, there were found to be many missing. Those that remained, gathered around Dave Pratt as President. Having duly initiated the Frosh in the Little Gym, we turned our thoughts to Anatomy. This seemed so much nearer heaven than Physics, that we revelled in it. We dream't of what famous surgeons we would make of ourselves, until Dr. McMurrich set the paper. In the spring, there was a well-fought battle with S.P.S. Fire-extinguishers were used to good effect, together with snow and mud. Many are the tales that could be told of the basement of the Medical Building. When the water was shut off, and the police had arrived, there was hardly a window left intact, in either building. The "Powers that Be" imposed a heavy fine, but we had had our fun.

In the Third Year, under the leadership of President Jimmie Henderson, we spent a great many hours, both in watching and attempting to perform "exper-r-r-riments that would not wor-r-r-rk." There was a combined dance with the year ahead at Jenkins' Art Galleries; this was a great success. In the spring, there was a scrap with U.C. but it never at any time reached the dimen-sions of the preceding year's S.P.S. fight. "Jake" Fine showed himself to be a good actor, and was instrumental in aiding the year in leading as it did in this branch of its activities. Unfortunately, they ploughed Jimmie, our President, and he went to McGill. They also "got" our newly elected president, Doc Campbell, so it appears, that the way of a president is hard and thorny. Miss Bates was married and dropped her medical course.

Cliff. Weber held the reins of office, in the Fourth Year. Another combined dance, with the preceding year, proved to be a success. There were no fights of any magnitude this year, the authorities have been squelching our exuberance of spirits. Dr. Oscar Klotz returns to a professorship in his Alma Mater. He appears to be working upon the idea that they did not work him hard enough, when he was a student. He forgets, that others also have that idea, and so things are changed. Dr. McPhedran used to meet us, sharp on time, at "a nine o'clock." When he was late, he would repeat "To those who have never been late, I apologize." "String" Biehn, proved himself a most able editor of Epistaxis. The class deeply regret that Bob Wagner had to leave us this year. It was Bob who wrote all three plays which placed us in possession of the Daffydil Cup. The class showed its appreciation of Freddie LeDrew by a presentation at the end of the year.

The President of the Fifth Year was Herb. Hyland. We found that Mrs. Day and Mr. Britnell had each indulged in a wedding during the summer. Don. Strebig and Hugh Ross followed them early in the autumn. This year we carried off the Daffydil Cup for the third time, and therefore keep it. It has been decided, however, to hand it down to posterity. A dance was held, just before Christmas, at the Palais Royale. We can hardly forget how Dr. Gideon Silver-thorne pleaded with us to beware of three pitfalls of the medical profession. His whole heart and soul went into it, not to speak of his gestures, those sweeping, magnificent, all-inclusive gestures; but he should not carry so many spectacles, and then there would be some hope of finding the right one at the right time. Following the example of many of his classmates, Art Ham deserted the ranks of the Bachelors, and Miss MacLachlan became Mrs. Franks.

The President of our graduating year was Lorne Deeton. The dance at the King Edward, was a complete success. Dr. Alan Brown's tea, after each group's session with him, is a complete revelation. E.M.V. Fielding observes 45 cases at the Burnside. Dave Pratt, one of our former presidents carries off the highest scholarship, the Ellen Mickle. He is intending to go to Europe on it. N. A. Mc-Cormick this year ably edited the Medical Society Journal. We go out with a remarkable record, as a year. In athletics, there are twenty-first T holders in our one year, almost a quarter of those held in the whole university. We boast of a great many Captains. Our activities have been wide and it will be hard for any other year to ever duplicate such a record. In smaller fields, we can boast of interyear championships in hockey and track for three years each; and in baseball for one year.

Of the 257 who came to worship at the Goddess' Shrine, plus the twentytwo who joined us in our fourth year from B. and M. and other courses, and those left behind from other years, there are left, before the last great weeding, 191. These now pass from a world of make-believes, of happy memories, of tremendous trivialities, and petty artificialities, out into a hard, cold, and often unrelenting world. "For ten years" says Osler in effect, "a young doctor works for bread; for ten years more, that he might have a little butter with it, and only after that may he look for cake."

As the curtain rings down upon 2T6, we can say with Ulysses, having completed our long, and exacting course :

"Tho' much is taken, much abides, and tho' We are not now that strength which in old days Moved earth and heaven; that which we are, we are; One equal temper of heroic hearts, Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will

To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

Frank's training at U.T.S. developed a desire for service which started him at Meds, and then sent him overseas to serve in France with the 4th Canadian Field Ambulance. Mulock Cup; Intercollegiate harrier and gymnastic teams; executive of Gym Cluh successively as vice-president, president, honorary coach, and captain.

GEORGE RUPERT BALFOUR

"Let me be A sharer of thy far and fierce delight,"

A past of ontstanding scholastic achievement seems almost incidental to the gradual development of a strong personality along the lines of a pure individualism. It is inadequate to say that he has the esteem and confidence of his associates because this has come without a full apprecia-tion of the depth of the man, his strong sense of the artistic being only its ontward evidence.

To the Graduating Class of Nineteen Twenty-Six By Dean Mitchell

S you are about to leave the University and expect a message from me, my desire is that you should carry with you something which I feel myself honoured in being asked to give and something in which I will be honoured to have you remember in the years to come.

There are those things which one learns at a University and there are those things which one acquires without learning, absorbs unconsciously by his University life. When one arrives at the Fourth Year, as you have done, his retrospection enables him in some manner to classify these modes of learning and to give them relative values.

When one gets out in life, however, in whatever calling he may engage, the processes of learning are not so easily distinguishable, for they are not only multiplied in number, but merge into each other.

After some years you will, therefore, look back upon your University period and your post-graduation period, as all one process closely woven together in that fabric called education, a garment that fits you better and more proudly you carry it.

To carry your education and to display it with pride and dignity is the peculiar privilege of the University graduate, and it is this that I would impress upon you, you men of the Class of Twenty-Six.

You are in a proud profession, one in which your learning and the development of your powers can and will be of great benefit to the country. All those great qualities of real men will be required for those parts you are to play and along with those of fairness, diligence, honesty of purpose and perseverance, I ask you to continue to exercise those qualities which you have developed here in your study and your desire for learning.

I have before me an old book, published in the year 1722, then in its fifth edition, entitled "The Theory of the Earth," by an English gentleman by the name of Burnet, who did his readers the honour of presenting his own engraved portrait as the frontispiece. He was, however, quite a humble gentleman, although thoroughly certain of his premises and arguments as to what he called "The Original of the Earth and of all the General Changes which it hath already undergone or is to undergo till the Confummation of all Things." He lived in the reign of King Charles the First and it is to him that he dedicates the work. Parts of his dedication have appealed to me in the light of my thought in this message and I pass them on to you in their quaint phraseology:

"To the King's Most Excellent Majesty:-

Sir:---

New found Lands and Countries accrew to the Prince whofe Subject makes the first Difcovery; and having retriev'd a World that had been loft for some thousands of Years, I thought it my Duty to lay it at Your Majesty's Feet. . . . "These things, Sir, I propose and prefume to prove in the following Treatise, which I willingly fubmit to your Majesty's Judgment and Censure—. Your Majesty's sagacity, and happy genius for natural History. for Observations and Remarks upon the Earth, the Heavens, and the Sea, is a better Preparation for Inquiries of this Kind than all the dead Learning of the Schools."

"Your Majefty hath always appear'd the Royal Patron of Learning and the Sciences: and 'tis fuilable to the Greatnefs of a princely Spirit to favour and promote whatfoever tends to the Enlargement of humane Knowledge, and the Improvement of Humane Nature. To be Good and Gracious, and a Lover of Knowledge, are, methinks, two of the most amiable Things in this World."

Gentlemen, you, as students of Applied Science, will appreciate such quaint philosophy from this humble scientific author and will readily see the message I desire to convey.

I wish you all success and long life of good fortune.

History of 2T6 S.P.S.

Chapter 1

ROM our last summer of promiscuous lassitude we floated from all corners of the earth to the "Old Red Station," just in time to board the roaring rattler 2T6, off for unknown stations on a round trip. Finding ourselves without a pilot, we singled out Cec. Armour, boosted him into the cab, and with his hand upon the throttle, sped along.

Presently, together with our erstwhile friends, the Sophs, we staggered (?) to the dining car, to partake of royal "vittles" and fellowship. At station U.C. we surreptitiously attended a lawn fete—a most delightful affair! Resolved to make our mark, we helped ourselves to both the Mulock and the Sifton Cups.

Chapter 2

After five months overhaul and refuelling, a new driver, Doug. Dow, guided the old train into the new division. The enforced delay had allowed the train of 2T7 to appear on the horizon, but we ambushed it in the "Old Gym Tunnel," and considerably detracted from its original momentum. A raid on the 2T7 dining car proved an effectual and totally satisfactory event. Away we sped again, but in spite of the ennui of the long journey, many delightful and pleasant hours were spent in smoker and dancing to the "Pullman Porter Blues."

The next station hove in sight, and as one coach was to be dropped, the question of who should go on arose, and it was settled in the usual arbitrary manner.

Chapter 3

For the arduous haul of the third year, the veteran pilot, Ro Smythe, assumed control. Through mountainous labs and slumbrous lectures we pushed our way valiantly. But this strenuous endeavour only tempered our spirits.

Suddenly we emerged into a beautiful valley abounding in luscious fruits. We plucked of these the Sifton Cup, the Jennings Cup, indoor and outdoor track, Interfaculty rowing; and contributed a lengthy factor to Canada's Senior Eight.

The Senior School Dance and the At-Home, will long be remembered by the followers of the Terpsichorean art as affairs par-excellence.

A brilliant innovation, the nomination dinner, crowded the diner to overflowing, and proved highly successful.

Hearing that the last leg of the journey was to be more or less in the dark, the demand for berths into the fourth year was great, but of course, as usual, exceeded the supply.

Chapter 4

The journey's end draws nigh. When we reach the rail head in the spring we must leave our pleasant surroundings, that for four years have guided our Destinies through hill and dale, the drear deserts of exams and the sunny oasis of youth and merriment. We leave the train with the goods and chattels which we have collected in the course of our adventures. The old, oft-travelled, well-laid rails are left behind for the uncharted regions of Life. To continue our journey we must seek and choose each our own method of conveyance, and particular trail.

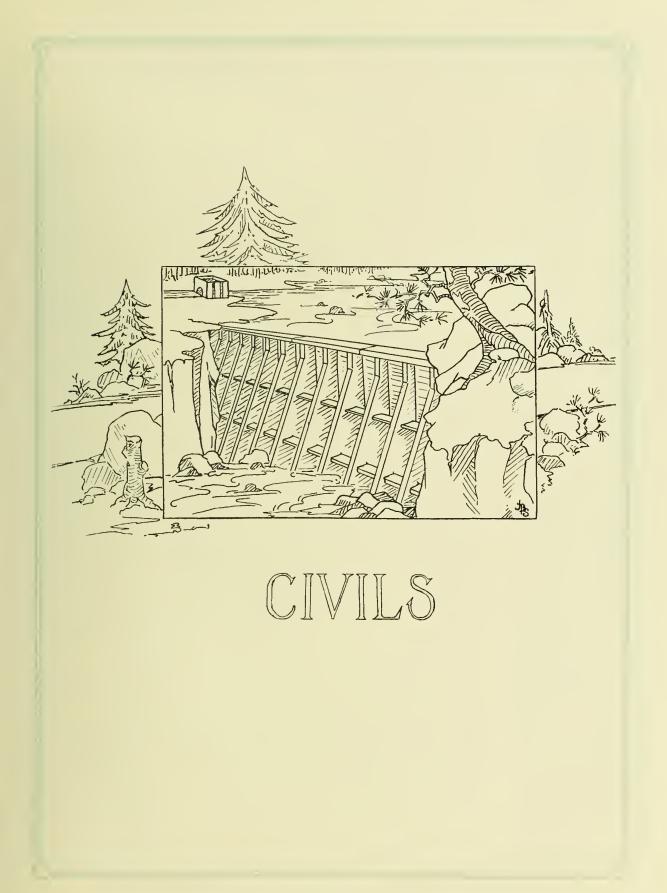

In four years of happiness much has occurred. Lives have been molded, characters strengthened, men made from youths and undying friendships welded. Our last At-Home, our own Graduation Dance, will live in our memories for always, as joyous occasions tempered withal by sadness. They are our last.

To old 2T6 was handed a gigantic task. In the face of drastic reforms and policy changes, it was given to us to uphold and foster "School Spirit." Let no one doubt but that we have acquitted ourselves nobly. We have carried on the Torch, which '23, '24 and '25 so well kept aflame. We are happy to think of any small ways in which we have added to School's welfare and traditions.

Perhaps the most signal honour that we have added to School, is the winning of a Rhodes Scholarship by one of our number—Douglas Dow. He has brought great honour to his Year and Faculty.

Fighting, playing and working side by side, "all for one," we have molded a unit, a marvel of co-ordination, but our interests are about to become diversified. From now on we shall all be in a sense—rivals. Let us always remember that we were once "School-men" together, and let us hold to our well-grounded ideals of fair play, fellowship and fearlessness.

To the Permanent Executive we wish all success—you may rely upon us to loyally back your efforts to maintain the unity of this Class, in our opinion, the best Old School ever had.

FACULTY of DENTISTRY

To the Graduating Class in Dentistry

By Dean Wallace Seccombe

THE class of 1926 will be the first to graduate from the new Faculty of Dentistry of the The University, and this in itself is occasion for congratulation. Previous classes in Dentistry have received the doctorate degree by virtue of the affiliation of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario with the University. While most of the members of the dental profession practising in the Province of Ontario hold the dental degree of the University and are interested in all that pertains to the University, under the new order we expect that both our undergraduates and graduates will have an increasing interest in University affairs.

The University of Toronto, being a provincial institution, must rely upon the support of every section of the community. The onus rests upon all graduates and undergraduates, and particularly those residing within the province of Ontario, to play their part in their many different contacts with the lay public, that the people may more fully realize the value of the work of the University.

Every well organized public health programme of to-day includes the dental phase of the problem. Our graduates have been trained to an appreciation of the vital necessity for co-operation in all public health work, because after all, the value of the profession's contribution to humanity lies in the fact that dentistry is primarily a health service. To completely meet this need, and maintain a condition of oral health among the people, would rank as an outstanding contribution to the health, happiness and longevity of the human race. To even approach the accomplishment of this ideal in a community will require painstaking, persistent, effort and continued study.

The personal interest of the Faculty in the student does not end with college days. The graduate is, of course, placed upon his own responsibility, but is not obliged to rely on his own unaided effort. It is our hope that the members of class '26 will continue to present their difficulties to the Faculty in the full assurance of sympathetic consideration and helpful assistance.

Someone has said that the man who knows nothing beyond the dollar standard or who enjoys nothing beyond economic success is an object of pity. It is the finer things of life that will mean much in the practice of your profession. My closing word would be, fulfil your obligations to your University, your profession and to mankind.

History of Dentistry 2T6

IFTY-SIX strong we wallowed in the mud of Willowdale Park, for the Sophs, by their superior numbers convinced us that we were fresh. We ducked a senior in our second year, and in the storm that followed Johnny Verth made that short but memorable speech that will go down in history.

Came the fourth year and we considered ourselves juniors after we had passed the infirmary quizz.

And then we arrived at the exalted state of senior, white gown and all.

We have fared well in our journey. We will never forget the parties, the dances and girls, nor the games we've played and seen. For those five men who have guided the destinies of 2T6 through its course, we have a deep feeling of appreciation.

LOIS ADAMS

"With gentle yet prevailing force, Intent upon her destined course."

Lois came to Dental College via Branksome Hall and Oakwood. Modest of her own attainment, she's a student, hright, cfficient. A real joke stirs up her laughter, makes her dimple stay long after. She's un-selfish thoughtful, merry, tho' at times a bit contrary. President of Upsilon Alpha Sorority.

To the Graduating Class in Forestry By Dean Howe

LITTLE meditation revcals to any man the fact that his environmental conditions have a marked influence upon his life.

Sometimes his development, his career in business or profession are much more a product of his environment than he would care to acknowledge. Passing from the unit to the mass, we find that races of men and nations have been largely guided in their development, industrial and social, by their environment-our own country is an excellent illustration in point. The climate makes a hardy people; the extent and fertility of the soil make an agricultural people; the varied and luxuriant forests make a wood-working people. The richness and availability of the ore deposits make a mining people. The farm, the forest, the mine, these engage the attention of much the greater portion of our people and they have placed their imprint in some form or other upon us all.

Of all the fashioning factors of environment probably none has had a more profound influence upon the human race than the forest. Our remote ancestors of Asia and Europe worshipped in the forest and singled out certain trees, such as the oak, ash and pine, as objects of adoration. They filled the forests with good and evil spirits, with fairies and goblins. The tree is the symbol of life's creative power or of the origin of good and evil in many religions besides our own. The tree or some part of it has been the symbol of victory or peace since the beginning of strife among men. The tree motif, with the significance indicated above, is found in the architecture of most peoples. The trees and forests have appealed to the artists and poets of all ages. Trees in some mysterious manner penetrate to the soul fiber of the men who come into contact with them.

The history of Canada in relation to the forest has been no exception. Who can measure the influence of the forest upon the life and development of the Canadian people? Who can tell how much it has added to the romance and adventure of the early days of exploration and settlement? One needs only to refer to Champlain, LaSalle and Iberville, to the voyageur, the fur trader, the later French colonist, and to the conquest of the forest in Upper Canada by the English speaking people to recall the vision. The struggles with and adventures in the forest developed hardiness and certain traits of character manifest even to this day. It would be worth while from the standpoint of character alone to retain these influences. It is still possible to do so and at the same time to maintain the wealth-producing capacity of our forests. This is the vision given to you as members of the Faculty of Forestry and the vision to carry with you in your work.

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE

To the Graduating Class of Wycliffe By Principal O'Meara

S long ago as the days of the thinkers of early Greece, men recognized that the Universe in which we live is ever in a state of movement and flux, that "the old order changeth, yielding place to new, and God fulfils Himself in many ways."

If that truth was evident twenty-five hundred years ago, it is yet more startlingly impressive in these times of almost catastrophic variation. Not least is that true in the realm of religion. The Mediaeval Church stood entrenched behind the custom of centuries; to doubt her doctrines was blasphemy; to challenge her position was treason. Not so very long ago the Christian minister worked in an area sheltered relatively at least from outside criticism. Things are not so today. All the winds of the world are loose, and the clergyman is out on the bare hill side.

Any real man would rather have it so. Today it is sheer worth in life and message that counts. False coin, in the long run, is not accepted in the world's exchange. The demand is for the best in spirit, mind and body. The need of the moment is urgent. Great is the contest, but great also the prize. May Wycliffe men, under new skies, carry on worthily the great tradition of those who have gone before.

PAUL YOKICHI HIROSEH

"Dreaming to make this world the Kingdom of God."

"Born in Takayama, mid-Japan. Four years in Arts in St. Paul's University and three years in the Central Theological College, Tokyo. Ordained priest 1919. After a few years of pastoral work, came to Canada. Spent a year at the Anglican Theological College of British Columhia. Entered Wycliffe 1925.

ROBERT HOWARD HOLMES

"It's bogged as does it."

Born in Alberta. Educated in England, at St. Michael's, Limpsfield, and King's School, Ely, Cambridge. Served overseas. Entered Wycliffe College 1922. A good student and one who believes that "difficulties were made to be surmounted." Vicepresident and secretary of the Students Mission Society. Interfaculty association football. A good friend. May "good luck" attend him.

CHARLES ROBERT HEBER WILKINSON

"But westward look, the land is bright."

Since winning the rahbit's fur at U. C. Heber has spent his summer rights in the land of the midnight sun, and his winter evenings under the light of the midnight oil. The "Chief Guy" in the "Lit" 1925-6, and one of the College debaters; one time secretary U. of T. tennis club. Plays tennis rather well with his right hand, but drives a car with his left. We know you—you rascal!

KNOX COLLEGE

To the Graduating Unionists of Knox College

By Alfred Gandier

CONGRATULATE the class of 1926 as the first group of Knox College graduates to begin their ministry within the United Church of Canada. The Presbyterian Church in Canada in which you were reared and trained has come to new birth within the United Church of Canada. Since June 10th we have found ourselves ushered into a larger, richer fellowship with nothing of abiding value in the old really lost, and it must be our constant ambition to make the great new Church catholic and missionary.

Three things are required of United Church men and their leaders:—

(1) That we be conservative in our respect for the past. What have we that we did not receive? Only a fool would despise continuity with the past or refuse to find guidance and restraint in the formulated doctrines, the organized institutions, and the practical methods which have resulted from centuries of experience in the Church of Christ.

(2) That we be forward looking in our plans for the future. The fathers made a beginning in faith and hope, but they "received not the promise, God having provided some better thing for us that they without us should not be made perfect." Only through our courage and initiative and steady pressing toward the goal, can their faith be vindicated, their hope fulfilled. The age of realized holiness and full citizenship within the kingdom of God lies before.

(3) That we be catholic in our sympathies and missionary in spirit. It is ours to build up a United Church that will not be primarily Presbyterian or Methodist or Congregational or Canadian or Fundamentalist or Modernist, but Christian a Church whose one loyalty is to Jesus Christ, whose one purpose is to give expression to His mind and will and furnish Him with a truer medium for His work of redemption among men. We are not out to glorify any Church order or any ecclesiastical system. Our motto is "the world for Christ and Christ for the world."

To the Graduating Presbyterians of Knox College By Principal Eakin

HE task of civilization, says an unpartisan writer, is to feed the roots of life, and he goes on to assert that the Christian Church, as the agent of religion, goes down to the roots of life with a recreative, cleansing, inspiring power which no other institution exercises. It deals with things unseen but real, immaterial but invincible, ideal and therefore eternal.

If in the Evolution of society there should come an eclipse of religious values, if people should become habituated to a manner of life from which spiritual faith had disappeared, in which love and hope had no objects but those that were transitory, the glory of humanity would fade and over all the activities and strivings of men they might write "Vanity and vexation of Spirit."

The Christian Church with its Evangel, its ethical ideals and its proclamation of the power to make these ideals operative must be the saving salt of our civilization. The minister of the Gospel has a great work to do, he is the herald of individual regeneration apart from which society cannot be regenerated, from the regeneration and moralization of the individual will come the socialization of the individual conscience and will, and from these will come the new societythe reign of God in the hearts of men.

The Christian minister can go to his field of labour, whether that field be large or small with the confidence that his work is vital and fundamental, and that his is a great and indispensable vocation.

KNOX COLLEGE

ALBERT VICTOR BENTUM

".1 dreamer lives forever."

A nomad from London. Although he is quiet in manner and youthful in appearance, Bert has wandered across Canada, Europe, the Near East and back. Expects to pitch his tent in the ministry and possibly in matrimony.

JAMES GORDON GORWILL, B.A.

"The Fack can't be no longer dis guised that a Krisis is onto us."

A London boy. Was a Puritan; now normal. Yea, more, he has future possibilities.

"Much company has been the spoil of him."

A St. Hyacinthe musician. Roy always had his work done on schedule but beat Satan to it in finding something for his idle hands to do.

JOHN LORNE LESTER GRAHAM, B.A.

"I would not give a farthing for a man's religion if his dog and cat are not the better for it."

A native Torontonian. Honor matriculated from Harbord Collegiate. Graduated from U.C. '23, receiving full membership in the Players Club. Entered Knox, taking rugby and theology. Believes in a practical Christianity for the United Church.

MARSHALL WADDELL HESLIP

"He makes a friend where'er he goes."

Marshall came from Ireland. Received his early education at Peterborough, Ont., and Westminster Hall, Vancouver. His many friends knowing his splendid qualities, both of mind and heart, will follow his career as "Presbyterian" with great interest.

CECIL MCLAREN CURRIE

"' 'Arf 'is books was women's looks."

A Smiths Falls' laddic. Fitz has an upward look, but comes down to earth for practical things (such as study and laughter). JOSEPH ERNEST JOLLY, B.A.

"He holds them with his glittering eye."

A Hamilton philosopher. How can he be both Ernest and Jolly? Yet he does it!

KNOX COLLEGE

CROSSLEY WARREN KRUG, B.A.

"Festina Lente-Hasten Slowly."

"Better go easy fellows," is Crossley's classical expression. Does this explain why he is still heart whole? Ile cannot be said to shun the fair sex, however! President of the Theological Union 1925-26. Expresses a desire to travel. Souvenirs of Knox—friends—torso—broken leg —sciatica.

JOHN RIDDELL

"Sincere yet not too serious."

John —another riddle that is hard to guess. He was born on September morn in Chatham on the Thames. Ilis first gaze upon the Old Grey Tower from Knox Cloister was in '19. He remained to learn that old adage, "That which you sew you shall also rip."—John 22:1.

".All in all, his is a problem to puzzle the devil."

ROBERT BALGARNIE YOUNG SCOTT, M.A.

HERBERT FRANCIS SCOTT THOMAS, B.A.

"Cheered up himself with ends of verse, And sayings of philosophers."

DONALD MCQUEEN

"The only way to have a friend is to be one."

Arrived at Stayner. Collingwood C.I. prepared him for U.C., Knox retouched for a "Great Divine." Though Dean, delights to fuss. As president of the Presbyterians, sends the porridge-eaters to the "Burgs" of Ontario to "Hold Forth." With a smile like Mac's the future is assured.

SOCIAL SERVICE

Social Service 2T6

🔞 LASS of 2T6 has had an eventful year. The "old red house" in which they began their academic career, is no more. A deep hole in the earth marks the place where it has offered a genial homelike welcome to students of social service since 1914. In its place will soon be rising the stately building which the Rockefeller Foundation is giving for the various and very distinguished services of the University to public health.

"Broken Homes" is the title of one of our most studied textbooks; 2T6 knows the meaning of that now, not only from study and field work, but from class experience. The first break in our home was when the heating apparatus left. A cold spell hit us when we were down, and put us out. Following approved social practice, we appealed to the resources of the (university) community. Enough electric heaters were collected to make it just possible for the staff and janitor to carry on a precarious existence; while a kindly neighbour took the class into his warm home.

Meanwhile Colonel LePan and his men were working hard at 45 St. George St., doing their utmost to get us settled in as quickly as possible. Now we find in the new home more than all the comfort of the old; so that the incident of the "broken home" would fast become a half-forgotten legend, were it not for a break that keeps it sadly true. In the middle of the change, Miss McGregor, our Director of Field Work, fell ill, and her illness proved so serious that she has been granted leave of absence for the session, which will we hope give her time for a complete recovery before she returns to work. A friend in need is a friend indeed-and that is what we have found in Mrs. J. B. Mc-Gregor, who is taking the vacant place on the staff.

S.S. has its share in the general sorrow for the untimely death of Colonel Lang. From our experience of his ready helpfulness, we find it easy to believe the verdict of his friends that he was one of the kindest and most lovable of men.

SOCIAL ### SERVICE

DOROTHY M. HOBDEN

The sweetest song of bird Is that whose note is half guessed and half heard."

Her degree from U.C. plus "business experience" made an excellent back-ground for Social Service. Behind her mask of demure aloofness is such strength of purpose, wealth of humour and keen interest in her work as will make fortunate the organization through which she servee serves

PERLE NARROL

Grace of movement, expressive eyes Are they not music for the soul?

Poor modern girl! Athlete, scholar, good pal, capable, yet not losing any of her effemininity: put them all to-gether you have Perle. Social Service has in her a sincere and en-thusiastic disciple. You must be far-sighted to follow her progress.

GEORGINA BERYL HOLLETT

"A aepth of truth and zeal, A dart of fun a host of friends."

From the little town of Burin, on the rugged coast of Newfoundland, Beryl came to Toronto. Attended Oakwood Collegiate. In the course of events she decided to enter this type of service—so here we find her a happy and popular member of class 2T6.

Fifth Army Light Railways. a Major R.E., D.S.O. Now a harrister-at-law (1920), solicitor (1922) and field secretary, Big Brother Movement.

GWYNED DERWYN OWEN

"Something human is dearer to me than all the worlds treasure."

An education at Bishop Strachan School, Hamilton Collegiate and work with the Central Bureau of Social Agencies has produced a bewilderingly complex personality. An cagerness to miss no experience and a susceptibility to influence is intensified by a capacity to live only on the heights or in the depths. These potentialities have become centralised around a vital desire—to serve.

Born in Hamilton, Ont. Educated at private schools—The Bishop Strachan School, Toronto; Macdon-ald Institute, Guelph; and London, England. Having worked for some years with women and girls in con-nection with her church and the Girls' Friendly Society, she entered the department for more definite training in social work.

VERA KATHLEEN CRAIGIE MARTIN

"Serve God and be cheerful."

JEAN DAVIDSON MURRAV

"A smile for all, a welcome glad, A jovial, coaxing way she had."

ONTARIO COLLEGE of PHARMACY

To the Graduating Class of Pharmacy By Dean Heebner

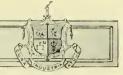

HE Pharmacist is both a business man and a professional one and the general public's recognition that our calling has a professional aspect is one of the most valuable possessions and we should strive to advance our standing as professional men.

There has been recently a considerable development of the commercial side of the drug store and we are in great danger of becoming mere buyers and sellers of goods. Some pharmacists now seem anxious to exchange their birthright to recognition as professional men for a mess of pottage in the form of commercialism. If we are to continue to be more than mere tradesmen, it is necessary for pharmacists to realize this present danger and to overcome it by living up to the traditions of their profession.

The ideal pharmacist is the one who has retained his professional standing and used it to aid him in achieving commercial success. There is no incompatibility between professionalism and commercialism in pharmacy if they are developed side by side; each in its own proper proportion and not at the expense of the other. It is obvious that a man cannot become a successful pharmacist unless he is a good business man, but neither can he become a successful pharmacist unless he is a pharmacist.

Hence, pharmacists must continue to show that they are professional men with professional training and standards and be capable of assuming the serious responsibilities of the dispenser of medicines by having acquired a thorough grounding in the basic subjects of pharmacy.

MISS R. M. ADAMS

Mamie received her education at St. Mary's Academy, Windsor. She got tired of being bossed and decided to boss herself, thus we find the Adams Drug Company where she finished her apprenticeship. Watch her juggle with benzene rings in the Senior term; also watch the papers for her appearance in the Davis Cup and Woodbine.

ROBERT C. CRAMP

Born in Meaford, Oct. 30, 1904. Bert graduated from the Meaford High School in 1921 and began his life of toil under the gentle persuasion of W. W. Stephen, Phm.B., Meaford. When he had duly served his sentence of four years bondage, meanwhile dazzling the eyes of the fair ladies of said town, he treked to Toronto to do his stuff in the College of Pharmacy.

THOMAS GRAHAM DAWSON

Our chief executive in five-pin bowling. Came to this generation on March 16, 1901, at Britannia, Ont. The Ottawa Collegiate Institute sufficed his knowledge before entering the high esteemed firm of Weldon J. Graham (Ottawa). Such honor was not due to Tom's presence, exactly, although he does execute a mean hand on those bottles, and pills.

HAROLD C. CROWE

First kicked his hels high in ccstasy of glee back in 1904 in the wilds of Northern Ontario near Kenora. Later drifted into civilization around Forest, Ont., when he received the elementary moulding of a hudding pharmacist. Has the unique distinction of possessing a beautiful auburn tinge to his hair. Great hockey enthusiast and generally goes by the name of "Mike."

STANLEY ARNOLD DELLER

Got his first whiff of that chemical compound known as air on May 26, 1903, at Norwich, Ont. Ever since he was old enough to open his mouth and holler, the prediction was that some day "Stan" would be a pillroller; sure enough, after graduating from Port Arthur Collegiate, he washed bottles for H. A. Raney. Now we find him down here, doin' his stuff.

FLOYD E. DIKE

"The ladies' delight."

Born Mar. 6, 1902 in Siloam, Ont. He matriculated from Uxbridge High School after which he apprenticed himself to R. F. Willis. Later came to Toronto to work for N. A. Taylor. Floyd wields a discordy Stradivarius and may be heard at any school orchestra practice.

JOHN S. DOUGHERTY

"Jack hails from Hamilton, His boss was Mr. Meally. Now on the Pharmacy soccer team He knows his onions, really."

Jack first breathed ozone in the borough of Hagersville. After serving time in the stone quarries of that town, he decided to follow the gentler pursuits of Pharmacy, and as a would-be "pill roller" served his apprenticeship in the "City under the Hill."

EDWARD J. DONOVAN

"Of their own merits modest men are dumb."

"Speedy" hails from Ottawa. There he drew his pay at Abean's drug store for a year and a half. He sat around Smith's drug store, North Bay, until Sept. 1925. Came to Pharmacy with a smile and his violin. His favourite saying is "I'm broke." A good rugby player.

GERALD (GERRY) DUPUIS

"Light as the wind in the tree tops."

Hails from Ottawa. Was born in Montreal in 1904. He served his apprenticeship with Mr. G. S. Brown, Ottawa, He has captured many medals for ski jumping in Ontario, Quebec, and Lake Placid, N.Y. He also handles the oars with skill. He is a born musician and leader of the famous '26 orchestra in which he is the planist.

J. L. DORION

"From the land of snow Hailed handsome Joe."

Served ap-prenticeship in Toronto and later percolated to the village of Hamilton and after marcerating there for a few years came to college to guide the semi-notorious O.C.P. rugby team. Hobby—sometimes going to teach Queen's a few pointers.

Born in Toronto June 10, 1904. He received his early education in public school and Jarvis Collegiate. After serving a four year apprenticeship in town we find him at Pharmacy. "A bright scholar and a true sport." "Al" takes an interest in rugby and bowling.

ABRAHAM SILVERBLEICH

"Truly he will be A worthy graduate of 'Pharmacy'."

JAMES C. SMITH

Born in Eastern Europe in the dawn Born in Eastern Europe in the dawn of the twentieth century. Had the privilege of being an eye-witness of the Great War, the enemy's armies invading his native land two days after the declaration of war. Ma-triculant of a European gymnasium and Harbord C.I. Served his ap-prenticeship in Toronto. Interested in good music and good literature.

Jim first breezed into this gay old world of ours at Ingersoll on Oct. 10, 1902. He served his apprentice-ship with O. J. Gills, where he made many warm friends, both in business and social capacity. A good mixer and a keen sport, especially at rugby. Now, he migrated to the famous old residence at 44 Gerrard to further impress himself that "Minima is never a Gutta."

S. STEINER

"The sun shines brightly, as a student Sal does likewise."

His first wail shattered the stillness of Toronto on Mar. 8, 1900. After successfully gradnating from Welles-ley public school and Harbord Colle-giate he qualified for the O.C.P. by dispensing school girl complexions in M. D. Peterman's drug store, Toronto. Sal is one of the daddies of the class of '26.

SAMUEL J. SWORD

Born in Toronto, Sept. 9, 1902. Attended Harbord St. Collegiate and began his career as a "pill roller" in 1921. "litting on all six" in the O.C.P. class of '26.

HAROLD E. STEVENSON

Motto: "Stratford girls are best."

Was born in Harriston 22 years ago, "Steve" dusted the shelves for H. M. Harwood and E. A. Robertson in Stratford. Could write his initials on skates. Never bowled below 300?

HAROLD E. TAYLOR

Born 1903, Niagara Falls. It is Harold's good fortune to come from that city of renown, where pharma-cists go when they have betrothed themselves with wives. Your good fortune is in making an acquaintance with Harold and his merry laugh will leave a lasting impression.

JOHN STINSON

"Very diminutive and what a lady specialist."

Was ushered into this universe on the 4th day of May, 1902. in the metropolis of Stayner, Ont. Pre-pared for his career at Stayner Pond View Academy, matriculating from there to help Bill McLeod run his pharmacy till ready to absorb pharmaceutical knowledge at O.C.P. with class of '26.

HOWARD S. TAYLOR

Our Howard is the student to whom we all look on the moment of doubt, as a reference book. His ethics and technique displayed in the "lab." all bespeak of the calibre of this popular lad.

ALFRED E. STRICKLAND

"Good hearted—genial—genuine good neighbor, A first class Pharmacist he will be!"

Born in England. But saw Canada was a better land in 1907. Attended Picton, P.S. Graduated at Picton Collegiate Institute, 1921. Entered pharmacy profession with W. A. Wright, Picton. Hobbies—radio, skating and soccer. He's a good sport.

S. EARLE TEASEL

"Restless activity proves the man."

Sam spent his early boyhood in the vicinity of the Bay of Quinte. On matriculating from Trenton Colle-giate, entered the services of E. A. Simmon's drug store. Sam's flashing smile is well known about Pharmacy and, in matters terpsichorean, is rivalled only by Apollo.

GEORGE EDWARD THOMPSON

Born Mar. 3, 1902. Boyhood days spent in London, Ont. Attended L.C.I., graduating in 1920. Entered the profession of Pharmacy this same year and will graduate as a member of the 1925-26 class of the O.C.P. His favorite sport is hockey, next to ladies of course, in which line he excels.

HAROLD WEEKES

Born at Smith's Falls, and attended public school and the Collegiate Institute there. Served his apprenticeship with Williams drug store, Brockville, Ont. Mr. Weekes is very popular and occupies the position of treasurer of this class. His popularity with the fellows is second only to his popularity with the ladies.

Born at Brampton, Ont., where he received his public school and Coll. Institute training, graduating from the latter with the Mary Trimble Scholarship. A very ambitious and conscientious young man who hopes to have M.P. as well as Phm. B. after his name in the near future.

AUSTIN T. WILLIAMS

"All great men must die, And I am feeling sick now.",

Born in Kitchener, 1900. Attended Collegiate at New Hambourg Served his apprenticeship in Toronto. His pet aversion is botany. His pet ambition a bungalow. "However hard a subject may be, no matter, its a snap for me."

LESLIE J. WAGNER

Curley started his checkered career among the balmy breezes of Georgian Bay, at Collingwood. When not watching the evolution of ships, Leslie went to school. He graduated from the Collingwood C.I. with flying colours, and chose the drug business as the best place to study human nature. He is now preparing to carry ont the different ideas of how a business should be run, which he has acquired during his apprenticeship.

WILLIAM S. WEBSTER

Hails from the city of Mimico, bordering on Lake Ontario. A great enthusiast in football because he thinks bowling is too expensive. Although his vocabulary is very extensive he cannot claim to be a descendant of the famous Webster Dictionary author. His chief aim is to reform the drug business and remove the embargo on canary seed.

LLOYD T. WILLIAMS

"High-erected thoughts, seated in the heart of courtesy."

His evolution began at Sarnia, 1905, and matriculated from the Sarnia Collegiate in 1921. Answered the call of the apothecary shop and served an interesting apprenticeship in P. T. McGibbon's drug store, Sarnia. In spite of his size, we predict that Lloyd will be a big man some day. Good luck.

HARLAND C. WILSON

Inhaled oxygen and cried for Castoria in London in 1905. Received public and high school education in the busy city. Took to pill pounding in the establishment of Cairncross and Lawrence in 1921. College of Pharmacy honoured by his presence in 1925. The Arena holds attractions. Botany does not.

JOHN E. YOUNG

Born near Almonte, Ont., in 1905, where he received his primary education. After graduating from Almonte High School he carried aqua pumpa to M. R. MacFarlane's dispensary for four years. He came to the O.C.P. with intention of studying. Plays on rugby team and also has musical aspirations. His greatest faults. He hates to eat and has a weakness for women.

J. LLOYD ZIMMERMAN

"A genial good hearted chap."

Ilails from Hamilton; a graduate from Hamilton Technical School. Served apprenticeship with his dad, J. A. Zimmerman, a well known pharmacist of that city. Better known as Zimmie, Just a real good sport—loves bowling, rugby, hockey and every kind of fun.

WILLIAM J. ZETTLER

Born June 3, 1903. Attended public and high school in his home town of Walkerton. After matriculating in 1921 he served his apprenticeship with P. A. Lambertus of Walkerton. Best luck, Bill.

WILFRID H. ZIMMERMAN (GAMEY)

Born in Milverton, Feb. 23, 1902, and attended Listowel High School. After matriculation he "rolled the pills" and smiled at the ladies in Crosthwaite's drug store. He is a member of the executive, captain of the football team, and hopes to equal Caruso some day.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

To the Graduating Class of the Veterinary College By Dr. C. D. McGilvray

TO those conversant with the present demands the practice of veterinary science is becoming more complex and increasingly exacting. In the general trend of professional usefulness the services now expected of the graduate veterinarian are vastly different than they used to be. As a result the education and training of the undergraduate must be such as will furnish the foundation upon which to build his future accomplishments. Already the entrance requirements for veterinary students are adjusted so as to restrict matriculation to those whose basic education justifies the opportunity of taking up the study of advanced scientific subjects. Likewise, the course of study and instruction has been amplified and adjusted to include such additional subjects as seem needful. Recognizing that veterinary science is yet in a transitory stage it should be kept in mind by the graduate that the basic sciences provide great opportunities for further development. New problems are constantly arising relating to animal diseases, their prevention and treatment. The need for more research and investigation in nutritional diseases as well as infectious diseases is becoming more apparent to all concerned. In fact, many of the so-called common diseases of animals, formerly considered as simple, are assuming considerable economic importance by the aggregate losses becoming progressively greater, through indifference and neglect. As in the past, boundless opportunities are open to graduates to assist in solving many problems relating to diseases of animals and to foster profitable animal husbandry by safeguarding the health of animals. As graduates commencing a professional career you should realize that simply making a living is not sufficient reason for the pursuit of the profession you are identifying yourselves with. It should be your aim to forge ahead and to keep abreast of the times in the interests of science. To extract the best from life you must give freely of your time and energies. You must also be busy, active, alert and anxious to do something worth while for others as well as yourself. As a rule, persistent and painstaking efforts associated with close study and extensive reading will do much to develop one's latent resources. May success and happiness be with you in the years to come.

University of Toronto Intercollegiate Athletics Summary

HE high standard and aims of athletics at Varsity, designed for the development of the individual, mentally and physically, and "esprit de corps" among students, participators and onlookers alike, has been well maintained during the year 1925-1926. Success is a good indicator of accomplishment but a guage by which many are too ready to estimate a season's activity on gridiron or cinder path, but the spirit in adversity, as well as victory is a great factor in the measure of attainment. Hence it is with no little pride the University of Toronto supporters survey the past twelve months. Eight championships have come to reside in these halls and never has a loss been accompanied by dishonour.

Many days before the opening of college last September, enthusiastic aspirants for positions on the University Rugby teams thronged the back campus under the critical eye of Honorary Coach "Biddy" Barr and his associates. Early hopes prompted by such activity were once more dashed to the ground when the three times champions Queen's team once more marched through to the intercollegiate championship.

The Senior O.R.F.U. team, under the able leadership of Coach Les Pearson, again vindicated their existence by their clever play and hard tackling. Although not ultimate winners, they forced every game to the finish and once defeated the champion Balmy Beach crew. The Intermediates were less fortunate, succumbing to the unusually strong trio of opponents in their group. Followers of the Junior series witnessed the excellent football that can be played by the youngsters, who under the strategic guidance of coach Les Blackwell, once more brought back the Junior Intercollegiate title.

After an absence of twelve years the trophy for the track and field events returned to the University of Toronto. Invading foreign fields the Varsity team met and defeated their old rivals at the Molson Stadium of McGill University in a meet full of sensational performances and a nip and tuck score between McGill and Varsity all the way. The final score, after the relay, found Varsity ahead by three points. A large measure of the success was without doubt due to the excellent training and generous attention given to every member of the team by Drs. Campbell and Brown and Messrs. Halbus, Lawson and Martin.

The Harrier team also invaded Montreal and likewise carried back the honours. A well balanced team scored the low number of twenty-five points and finished in close succession.

The Intercollegiate Golf championship, inaugurated in 1923, was held this year on the Beaconsfield course, in Montreal. The Varsity team composed of Don Carrick, Amateur Champion of Canada, Joe Sullivan, Norman Fell, John Carrick, John Porter and George Lawlor, defeated their McGill rivals in decisive fashion.

In the Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament last fall, played on the Queen's courts, Varsity gave McGill the closest battle for the title that has been witnessed in some years.

Followers of the English Rugger game were again delighted to see the Varsity team carry off the Intercollegiate Championship without a score against them, but the Soccer team, facing the season with almost an entirely new team, were less successful, being put out in the first round.

The enviable spirit and international fame of the U. of T. Rowing Club, is in no small part due to the influence and splendid work of Prof. Louden, whose identification with the club, through varying vicissitudes, has been a source of inspiration to its members. While the crews were not as successful as on some previous occasions, they nevertheless furnished close and spectacular races at the Canadian Henley, Philadelphia and elsewhere.

The basketball season of 1924-25 was accompanied by much success for Varsity's fast team, when they won from the three other entries of high calibre. The closeness of every game and the excellent showing made by the University of Western Ontario quintette, latest members of the Senior series, were two pleasant features. With the 1925-263 season well under way, prospects look bright for a repetition. Too much credit cannot be given to Hon.-Coach Glunsmith for his sage advice and generous service.

The Varsity swimming and waterpolo teams, of the winter 1925, met with a dual loss yet their showing was encouraging from a standpoint of the close competition and promising material brought to light.

An excellent showing in the interfaculty series in swimming and water Polo raises high anticipations for this seasons success in aquatics.

The University of Toronto hockey team faced the year with the team intact with the exception of Clautin and Taylor, but the return of Ned Wright and the addition of Dave Trottier, formerly of St. Michael's Juniors, brought the team up to a strength, which some adherents claim, has never been paralleled. Their showing on the annual Christmas tour to the United States was sensational and despite a general strengthening of the intercollegiate teams, swept everything before them.

The Intermediates captured group honours in the O.H.A. and gave much promise in the play off, while the Juniors, completely rebuilt from last year, although failing to figure prominently as winners, gave their best and were at all times formidable.

Senior Intercollegiate Rugby Team 1925

NE more season has passed and the remnants of great anticipations for Varsity's senior gridiron representatives are now but clouds of disappointment. The hopes fostered by such an array of stars seen as one surveyed well onto an hundred huskes performing conditioning calisthenics on the back Campus last September, were dashed to the ground.

A heavy wind and bad playing conditions faced the teams as Varsity lined up against the Tricolor at the Richardson Stadium for the first game of the season and contrary to expectations the Blue played the Queen's men right off their feet from the initial kick off. The Queen City outfit went into that game with such a super-spirit that they had the crowd spell bound. Queen's were 3 to 1 favourites right up to the first whistle but it just took the first five minutes of play to show that Queen's had finally met their match and at half time the score stood 4-0 in Varsity's favour. The rooters executed a smoke dance over the field in high glee and sat back to enjoy the remainer of the game.

With fifteen minutes to go Leadley executed the most strategic and well timed play of his career.

A. F. BARR. Coach Biddy Barr starred on the gridiron a generation ago and is one of the few men to captain the Varsity team twice. His untiring efforts and able advice on the behalf of the rugby team this year deserved a better fall than the results show and it was no fault of his the team did not show championship form. This fact and appreciation of his generous services are sincerely held by all who were in any way connected with him

F. II. Stollery, E. Long, W. B. Snyder, W. M. Master, G. F. Trimble, F. N. Dundas, J. H. Bales, L. II. Carrol, E. Coleman (President), D. A. McFayden.

Catching one of Snyder's punts he ran fifteen yards, drew the whole Toronto team, punted and running up on his own kick fell on the ball just as Trimble was about to pick it up with good prospects of running it out. A convert and two rouges ended the game with Queen's on the long end of an 8–5 score.

A game against the strong London Intermediate team provided practice and royal entertainment at the hands of former U. of T. players such as Doug. Heustis, Sandy Somerville and Jo-Jo Stirrett. Unfortunately about this time Bul Duncan, regular outside wing was lost to the team for the rest of the season, breaking his leg in a practice scrimmage. His loss was undoubtedly felt.

On the 31st of October Queen's journeyed to Toronto, bound to prove their superiority after their narrow victory some three weeks previously, and on a sloppy field, not conducive to good football, defeated the highly optimistic Varsity team by the decisive score of 17–0 in their twenty-fourth consecutive victory.

Queens were at their best, they fought for the breaks and took advantage of WARREN SNYDER. Captain elect for 1926 held the same position in 1924. His rugby fame dates back more than six years when he began to star for Oakwood Collegiate. He is invariably included on all star selections and as one of the best half backs Canada ever produced tackles like an outside into the bargain. Here's to you Warny! May you lead the Canadian Champions next Fall!!

Snyder boots a low one. Queen's-Varsity Game, Kingston.

them when they came. The Tricolor was a well-balanced, well-trained, powerful machine, and never did Leadley and Batstone execute their amazing criss-crosses to greater perfection. On the other hand Varsity evidently had an "offday" though admittedly the inferior team and thus a highly touted game proved a bitter disappointment to the 18,000 fans who were on hand.

Varsity and McGill, now both out of the running had yet to play each other and on November 7th in Montreal the Blue and White returned to their old form to win by a score of 9–3. Warren Snyder was the big gem on the Varsity defence and attack and turned in his finest performance of the season. Doug. MacFadyen got his first real chance when he relieved Trimble and his certain catching and fast dodging runs proved him worthy of a place on any man's team.

Rugby lost one of its finest sportsmen and cleverest players in an unfortunate accident which occurred when Hanna the McGill star half-back tackled Snyder head on. The severe injury he incurred will enforce his absence from the game for all time. Rykert, the hard playing Varsity inside wing was also removed after a serious injury to his knee.

The McGill game at Varsity a week later developed into a kicking duel, and TINY LONG. His name may be paradoxical but his effectiveness is in proportion to his weight and strength. As a freshman last year he won the intercollegiate heavyweight wrestling championship, and last fall stepped out early in the season to earn a regular berth at an inside position on the Senior Rugby team. He starred in every game and is a tower of strength for years to come.

Trimble kicks a long punt. Varsity-Queen's Game, Toronto.

Snyder shone in a new role, scoring two field goals. The game appeared to be on the ice till in the dying moments St. Germain, the fleet footed Montrealer, rounded the end for a long run to score the touch which when converted won the game. His and Cameron's plucky play were the features of the day, while Captain Cliff Weber, at half back turned in a hard tackling game.

The season closed with a dinner at which handsome recognitions were presented to Coaches Barr and Murray and Manager Jack Lowden for their untiring efforts and excellent services.

Although such outstanding players as Weber, King, Kirkpatrick, Coleman, Stringer and Dreyer graduate this year prospects are good for 1926. Since the wealth of fine material on the other squads, whose only drawback has been inexperience, will be available.

Trinity, Jr. U.C., St. Mikes' and Senior Meds. provided the strongest teams with the Meds. eventually winning the coveted Mulock cup by their superior weight, tackling and the excellent running of Large and Mullen on the half line. The latter is also a punter of no mean repute, and is expected to be with the O.R.F.U. squad next season.

"CHESH" DREYER has the longest athletic record of any man in University. He includes in his repertoire Intercollegiate Rugger, Soccer, Wrestling and this year stepped from Interfaculty Canadian Rugby to play a reliable, hard tackling game for O.R.F.U. and later Senior Rugby team. "Chesh" graduates in Medicine this year so will be lost to the Blue and White gridders.

O.R.F.U. Rugby

HE Varsity O.R.F.U. team was first entered in the Ontario Rugby Football Union some five years ago with a view to utilizing the surplus material of senior caliber and as a training place for promising players of senior intercollegiate prospects. Hence this team is always handicapped by the continual shifting of players to and from the intercollegiate team. This year was no exception and the process, continuing all season due to injuries made it very hard for the coaches to get the best out of their material.

However, by the time of the first game against Hamilton Rowing Club at the Stadium on October 3rd, Coach Les Pearson was able to get the team into very good shape. Doug, MacFadyen was elected captain and with this star player as a nucleus of a well balanced team the initial encounter of the season was faced.

The half line of MacFadyen, Carrol, Creighton, Bentley and Wright proved themselves the equal of any in the Union in a game which proved to be one of the best of the season. The score at the end of full time stood 8-8 but in the overtime period the H.R.C. by an energetic spurt scored a point that Varsity were unable to retrieve.

The O. R. F. U. Team in Action

In the week intervening between the next game the team worked hard and stepped out on the field at Scarboro' Beach determined to beat the Flyers from Camp Borden. The loss of MacFadyen and Carrol to the intercollegiate team was a sad blow, but with Hec. Creighton elected captain the team put up an excellent game against the unexpected strength of the air-men. The latter finished on the long end of a 6–4 score.

October 17th saw the Camp Borden men playing their return game at the Varsity Stadium. This time it was too much Harding that spelled defeat for Pearson's hopefuls, and although everyone played a good game the Flyers won by a good margin.

The following Saturday saw the team journeying to Hamilton to play the Rowing Club. Again these two teams were forced to go into overtime and in semi-darkness the Rowers scored a lone point which gave them the victory.

Just when they had been eliminated the O.R.F.U. team broke free from the jinx which had apparently dogged their efforts for on Thanksgiving day they met the unbeaten Balmy Beach outfit at the Stadium and scored a sensational win.

The return game was played the next Saturday, November 15th, at Scarboro' Beach and a win was imperative for the East Enders if they wanted to cinch the title. Consequently a spectacular and desperate struggle ensued, in which the Beach won out.

The team was exceedingly fortunate in having "Mike" Pearson as coach for it was by virtue of his efforts that the team was able to finish the season so well and play such excellent rugby throughout. His work and that of Manager Jim Goldie was greatly appreciated by the team.

University of Toronto Rugby Club Junior Intercollegiate Champions 1925

F England's battles are won on the playing fields of Eton, Varsity's notorious Senior Rugby teams come from the back campus. So with two championships won by the Juniors in as many years, greater things in higher circles can be anticipated.

A willing and hard working crowd of Juniors were fashioned into a smart aggregation of hard tackling, clever ball handlers by the astute coaching of Les Blackwell, whose ability can be estimated by the fact that at the beginning of the season the Juniors faced a loss. Much of the credit is due the boys themselves, however, and their natural ability they turned to good advantage and played as reliable and ingenious rugby as has been witnessed by senior teams of a high calibre.

These men will be heard from in future years, so note their names and faces.

University of Toronto Track Team

RACK and field athletics more than any form of sport require strict adherence to training rules, and no athlete can expect to perform in first class manner by any other route. Hence success comes as reward for persistent and faithful work, and so . . . the opening days of college last September saw enthusiastic aspirants for positions on the Track team in daily workout at the Stadium, culminating their summer training. Each day the coaches were on hand to give truly of their valuable advice on the fine points of cinderpath and field events.

The Faculty Meets, though disappointing in their attendance showed results indicative of more than brief practice and the interfaculty meet was a decided success revealing some almost unhopedfor material whose addition strengthened the intercollegiate team in its only weak spots. For the first time in a number of years, Meds won the meet, and in handy fashion. The surprises were provided by Bill Mitchell in the three mile when he set out at a terrific pace to succumb only in the last fifty yards to the redoubtable Wally Graham, but won himself a place on the team as did Les Black by his phenomenonal throw in the Javelin event.

It was, therefore, with the most hopeful prospects in years that the team set out for the intercollegiate meet in Montreal on October the 15th. The only regret being the unfortunate injury which Pollock, the star half miler, had incurred some ten days previously and which kept him out of competition.

A clear dry day for the meet provided a rosy outlook and the Varsity team, though sixty per cent new comers, were fit.

The Blue and White strength, everyone acknowledged, lay in their aggregation of star performers on the track, and McGill, the chief rivals, looked for the laurels by their supremacy in the field events and their quarter and one mile men. The first event, the Discus resulted in six points for the Red and White, while Shute of Varsity pulled out a second. In the hurdles, Sparrow (T) won handily, and McKenzie (T) was unfortunate to lose second place by fouling the last hurdle. Russel (T) won the hundred easily with Mabee second, but was prevented from equalling the record of 10 seconds, which he has done on more than one occasion by a rather slow track. All this time Davenport, freshmanaire pole vaulter was fighting with Wille Cosiglio, the McGill star in this event. Time and again each man tried the eleven foot seven mark, until both wearied. Davenport eventually won out by an heroic effort over his finished and gallant rival. These points were hardly hoped for, so when Les Black of Olympic Boxing fame in a mighty effort hurled the javelin to win his event, pandemonium reigned among the respective adherents. Thompson of Queen's won the half mile in two minutes flat, McGill the high jump, McGill the shot put, two-twenty yard hurdles and broad jump with difficulty, Captain Lively being but a few inches behind Patterson's 221 mark, so the score stood up and then down for the "T" or the "M." Mabee and Russell took the two-twenty and in one of the prettiest races of the day, "Mo" Mitchell beat Reuben of McGill after a gruelling struggle in close to record time. Christie of Olympic note won the four-forty in handy fashion, and Trenouth of Queen's furnished the sensation of the afternoon by beating Graham of Varsity in the last fifty yards in record time. In this race Bill Mitchell deserves much credit for his feat in setting the gruelling pace which forced Goforth the McGill hope, out of the running. The day ended with Varsity three points up and with the championship so close the relay race was the deciding factor. Disqualification was the only manner by which the Blue could lose and with this in mind, no doubt, a rare and unfortunate mix-up occurred which fortunately only put Varsity back to second place in the race, but champions on the total score nevertheless.

University of Toronto Harrier Team Intercollegiate Champions, 1925

The coming of Winter 1925 marked the close of a very successful season for the U. of T. Harrier club, for at the Interfaculty Meet run over the North Rosedale course, more than eighty men faced the starter. Few failed to finish and Wally Graham of Dents, in spite of heavy weather, covered the course in close to record time.

This augured well for the success of the Intercollegiate Meet at McGill, and such was the case. Here the Varsity team won back the honours wrested from them by the R.M.C. men last year.

The Varsity team registered the low number of twenty-five points and finished in close order. "Mo." Mitchell fought a great battle with Trenault, the sensational Queen's marathoner, for first place, and lost only after a great effort in the later stage of the race. Both men crossed the finish in record time breaking the former record, held by Goforth, late of Varsity, by 17 seconds.

Calle to S.F.S. this year and started his swimming career aright, fighting his way to a place on this year's team by capturing the Durnam trophy emblematic of the best all round swimmer in the University.

Swimming

HE Intercollegiate Meet last year was held in the Varsity tank, when George Vernot of McGill and Olympic experience again demonstrated his ability particularly in the two hundred yards and long plunge. His and Bourne's performances counted many points towards the McGill victory. The University of Toronto team did not lose without a fight and gave a good account of themselves. Latchford manifested his endurance by competing in four events with considerable success setting a new record in the back stroke, and VanValkenburg won the fancy diving event by a clever exhibition.

This year the interfaculty swimming, always keenly contested provided one of the hardest fought battles in many seasons. U. C. who has for several years had a very strong team in every department won again, but by no means had things all their own way.

With the Intercollegiate Meet in Montreal this year not far off, Roy Lowndes, hon. coach, is driving the boys hard and they thrive on it. The swimmers include Uren, captain, Lorenzen, Goss, Nimmo, Enouy, Thompson and some others not selected yet, and with this formidable array of star performers promise McGill keen opposition.

EDDIE VANSTONE One of the most enthusiastic members of the club, and a first class swimmer and water polo player himself. He is capably filling his job as manager of both teams this year. HETHRINGTON Hagar managed the Meds championship interfaculty water polo team this year and is expected to put up a sterling performance in the intercollegiate games with McGill this year due to his silent tenacity and clever play.

Water Polo

HE Water Polo Team of 1925 while not successful in winning the intercollegiate championship lost to McGill only after hard fought games, particularily in Toronto. Vernot proved as formidable at polo as he did in the swimming while the McGill goal keeper was nigh unbeatable.

Fran. Lorenzen at centre displayed his usual speed and clever shooting, while Les Latchford the star of the swimming team was always prominent in the play.

Honorary coach Les Blackwell's training was evidenced by the improvement of the teams play over pre-season form.

The Interfaculty Water Polo series last Fall provided one of the keenest competitions in several years, and Sr. Meds for the first time in years succeeded in capturing the cup.

The excellent play demonstrated in this series and the valuable addition of Flummerfelt as intercollegiate goal keeper makes the prospects for the defeat of the long victorious McGill men, this year, bright indeed.

Coach Les Blackwell is again in charge and is pushing the boys to their limit while instructing them in the fine points of the game. Fran. Lorenzen the phenominal centre player was elected captain by popular choice and with the team from last year almost intact the event of the games is awaited with anticipation.

University of Toronto Senior Hockey Team Intercollegiate Champions and Allan Cup Finalists, 1925.

NIVERSITY OF TORONTO Senior Hockey Team distinguished itself and brought no small measure of glory to the University during the season of 1924-25. The team has the honour of representing the East against the West in the final games for the Allan Cup, and although defeated by Port Arthur in two matches at Winnipeg by scores of 4-0 and 3-2, the Blue and White squad lost none of its glory in defeat.

The University of Toronto team fought a plucky battle right from the start of the season. "Happy" Day, former Hamilton defence star, was counted on by Coach Conn Smythe to play for Varsity, but Day signed a contract with Toronto St. Patricks. In addition, Somerville, Greev and Wright, of the 1923-24 squad, announced that they would not be able to play, and Smythe found himself with only Lou Hudson and Joe Sullivan as a nucleus for the 1924-25 sextette. Bill Kirkpatrick, Ross Taylor, Wes Richards, Art Clouthier, and Bill Devins of the Intermediates, Hugh Plaxton and Jack Porter of the Juniors, were used with excellent results. Under Conn Smythe's coaching the team shaped up well.

Varsity was entered in both the Intercollegiate Union and O.H.A. series, the former being selected at the first of the season as the association through which the team would enter the Allan Cup play-offs. The Blue and White won the Intercollegiate title for the sixth year in a row, without losing a game. In the O.H.A., in a five-team group, the University finished third.

University of Toronto Hockey Team Intercollegiate Champions, 1926

VEN a brief survey of the season 1925-26 discloses the fact that the year was a very profitable one for University hockey teams, both in the matter of games won and in competitive friendships cemented and new connections made. Teams were entered in the Senior Intercollegiate and Intermediate and Junior O.H.A. while the winner of the Jenning's Cup series, emblematic of the University Interfaculty championship, represented Varsity in the Intermediate Intercollegiate play-offs.

Precedent was established when the Seniors severed all connection with the O.H.A. and, in compliance with a new ruling of the Intercollegiate Union, played off for the Allan Cup solely as representatives of that body. Despite a general all-round increase in strength in the intercollegiate teams the Blue and White more or less swept everything before them and the gallant little band of warriors, almost intact from the team that fought its way into the Canadian finals the previous season, once more strove valiantly for the honours. Games with American Colleges were encouraged and fostered, the team winning every game played during the annual Christmas tour of the States.

In the intercollegiate series Varsity was quite superior to the opposing teams, coming out on top with little trouble. In all Varsity scored 42 goals, to their opponents 13, which about shows their superiority.

None of the games were close enough to cause the team any worry, although McGill put up a great fight in the game here, and Queen's held the boys for two periods in the first encounter at Kingston.

As Intercollegiate Champions Varsity met the Champions of the U. S. college series. The game took place at New York, and a huge crowd filled Madison Square Arena. This game proved conclusively that Canadians still play a brand of hockey far superior to that played south of the line. The final score was Varsity 6, Dartmouth 1.

In order to fill in the time until they entered the Allan Cup play-offs Varsity arranged a game with the Stratford Seniors, for March 3rd. Stratford came out on top in this game. Only three of the Indian team were in the game, the remainder of the men being Toronto players. While Varsity lacked the services of Plaxton, their game was poor, and unless they show vast improvement, they will not keep up the record of last year's team.

In the intermediate series Varsity easily captured group honors in the O.H.A. and gave much promise in the play-offs. Many coming players were included on the line-up and it was generally felt that the team had well served its purpose in developing material for the coming season. Despite the handicap of bad weather the interfaculty games were completed in time to enter the winner in the Intermediate Intercollegiate where their showing proved that the series is doing its part in initiating good hockey.

The Juniors, completely rebuilt from last year, failed to figure prominently as winners, but the players at all times gave their lest and were always formidable. The team was composed largely of young hockeyists who will be available for Junior company in the coming season, and who should, in the future, prove a fertile nucleus on which to build a strong sextette.

With promises of our new Arena next winter, hockey matters are in for a big boost at Varsity and, with improved facilities, University as well as interfaculty teams should gain tremendously in hockey ability.

The executive of the U. of T. Hockey Club, composed of J. T. A. Sullivan, Honorary President; John C. Porter, President; James W. Robson, Vice-President and C. W. Stollery, Secretary, carried on in an able and efficient manner while the great work of Honorary Head Coach Conn Smythe left little to be desired. # Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club Intercollegiate Champions, 1924-25

HE season of 1924-25 was a most successful one for the Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club in which much new interest was developed and the Intercollegiate Championship retained.

The annual trip to Guelph came first when our second string boxers and first string wrestlers were opposed by the O.A.C. stars. Most of the contests were close but with the University winning the majority.

During the last week of November the various faculties held their annual tourneys with the usual Junior Assault-at-Arms a week later. Here were to be found all grades of ability, most bouts being, however, more demonstrations of enthusiasm than skill. These contests brought to light many very promising mittmen and grapplers who go to form the members of future championship teams.

After Christmas the boxers got rapidly into training for a contest with the Granite Athletic Club. They furnished the first outside competitions our boys had experienced and they gave a very good account of themselves, Don Carrick defeating the Ontario middleweight champion while Rutnam forced the 118 lb. city champion into an extra round to win. The same night the wrestlers met West End Y.M.C.A.

The trip to West Point against the United States Military Academy was indeed the acid test for our teams, the cadets furnished the strongest sort of opposition. In spite of that our boxers won three of six bouts our wrestlers being less fortunate.

The Senior Assault-at-Arms was filled with its usual number of thrills and surprises, the defeat of Hubbard, the "Champ" of the previous year by Graham being the greatest. Rutnam and Carrick showed up best for our Intercollegiate team in boxing while in wrestling Kohli, Cooper, Jeckell and Webster were the stars.

The Intercollegiate Assault at Toronto was a great success not only because of our overwhelming victory but also because of the lack of the customary friction which frequently becomes evident. Again the above mentioned starred, Fidler proving the surprise of the meet however in defeating the McGill Champion in a most exciting bout. Lee our good 135 wrestler was most unfortunate in receiving a fractured clavicle due to a fall.

The trip to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis by a team composed of the intercollegiate champions, nearly all our men, was the climax to our season. The middies, who are considered the best in the States, laid the team low with the exception of Carrick who won a sensational victory in the light heavy class. Barr, our fencer also covered himself with glory equalling the Navie's best. The remaining team though beaten were far from outclassed.

CARRICK, Varsity's premier boxer since Les Black retired after Olympic games, is now a heavyweight. He has been as successful at this weight as he was when as a lightheavyweight last year, he vanquished all his opponents, finishing the season at Navy with a sensational victory over the United States Intercollegiate Lightheavy Champion. Don is an allround athlete playing hockey and golf for Varsity and water-polo for U.C. As a golfer he holds first rank among Canadian amateurs, having captured the Amateur Open Golf title last summer.

Wilf. Shute who is attempting to equal in wrestling the fine record set for him by his brother Evan in boxing, is here seen riding for a fall.

"Chuck" Hall has a threequarter nelson on Kohli. Kohli at present of the B. W. and F. club, cannot defend his 145 lbs. Intercollegiate championship this year on account of illness.

The half-nelson and crotch hold as used by Webster. "Dany" has been a consistent winner for Varsity, holding in the last 2 years the 112 and 118 lbs. Intercollegiate Championships. This year he wrestles at 123 lbs.

U. of T. Intercollegiate Soccer Team

SSOCIATION SOCCER, so long one of the championship winning sports for the U. of T. dissappeared as title holders two years ago and the 1925 season was too short a space of time to again build up a team of calibre sufficiently capable to regain lost laurels. In this the Varsity soccerites were handicapped by lack of players of intercollegiate experience and the new ruling which prevents senior players returning to the interfaculty series after their short season. The departure of Mr. Ryerie to the United States also left the team without a manager.

In spite of these difficulties a good team was formed under the capable managership of Mr. T. A. Legge.

The Intercollegiate Tournament was held in Toronto on November 13th and 14th. Varsity and McGill met in the first game which was closer than the score of 3-0, in favour of McGill, would indicate. Lack of team play in which McGill excelled was responsible for Varsity's defeat. The second and final game between McGill and R.M.C. was won by the former team 4-0.

Next year it is hoped to have a scheduled series of games in place of a tournament which has not given sufficient opportunity for development of teams.

Prospects for next year are particularly bright. Mr. King, who was an outstanding player was elected captain of next year's team. He will have the nucleus of a strong team in Jackson, U.C.; Smith and Withers, Wyc.; Shields, Vie.; Taylor, Ferguson and West, Knox. The soccer cup should be brought back to Varsity next year.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SENIOR CREW N. W. Taylor (Bow), W. L. Thompson, J. D. Smith, R. C. Laird, W. I. Turner, W. F. Langford, R. S. Hunter, W. L. Wallace (Stroke), G. W. Smart (Coxwain).

University of Toronto Rowing Club

HE regular training on the machines commenced on the 8th of January. While certainly not representative of the University, the small turnout of new men was encouraging.

A gradual weeding-out process reduced the squads to about fifty men who showed promise of improvement. These men were coached constantly on the machines by Professor Loudon and the experienced club members, until the 12th of April. On this date the first work-boat went on the water.

Picking the crews for the shells continued during May, and by the beginning of June the club had four promising crews on the water; namely; 140 pounds, 150 pounds Junior and Senior Eights. Rowing twice a day, these crews rapidly improved as the Dominion Day Regatta approached.

At this time the 140 pounds crew, who displayed remarkable style in the practices, were compelled to disband due to irreparable damage to their shell when they ran over a sunken pile.

On Dominion Day, the 150 pounds crew stroked by Carl Weber, finished about a length behind their competitors, the Argonaut 150 pound crew. A similar fate befell the Juniors stroked by "Scotty" Bruce.

PROF. "TOMMY" LOUDON, S.P.S., M.A., the man behind the megaphone. His enthusiasm has made the Rowing Club. One of his greatest ambitions is to bring the Grand Challenge Cup across the ocean from the Royal English Henley. He would also like to see a University of oarsmen. Among other things, a great collector of souvenirs.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO JUNIOR CREW R. E. Nicholson (Bow), B. B. King, S. H. Dale, H. P. Ruggle, R. B. Rochester, C. V. Pollock, G. Rumble, C. F. W. Bruce (Stroke), R. M. Robertson (Coxwain).

With the results of this regatta in mind, some changes were made in the Junior boat. The 150 pound crew however, remained intact for the Eastern Canada Regatta at Brockville on July the 4th.

In their first race when Varsity were leading, due to exceedingly rough water, their boat was swamped and they had to swim. This occurred about a quarter mile from the finish. Lachine managed to get across the line with six men rowing, thus getting first place. Ottawa who swamped about fifty yards out, drifted across for second place.

The Varsity crew persuaded Lachine and Ottawa to enter the Junior race and thus decide the best crew. In this race Argonaut Juniors captured first by half a length with Varsity second, Lachine third and Ottawa fourth.

Not content, the redoubtable tackweights entered the Senior race and finished practically tied for second place with Argonaut Juniors, and Lachine Seniors.

Active training, morning and night was continued with vigour, and on the 28th of July the 150 pound and Junior crews went to Port Dalhousie. The shells were assembled in pouring rain and both crews went for a practice spin. With the arrival of the Seniors on Wenesday the three crews were able to row over the course together. This was done twice a day until Friday, August the 1st, when the 150 pound eight's race was held.

While displacing two of their three opponents, Varsity were unable to maintain the pace set by the Detroit crew, and after leading nearly all the way down the course, finished in second place by a length of open water.

The Junior race an hour later, was the most closely contested of the whole regatta. Fighting all the way down the course, Varsity and Detroit in a hard gruelling battle finished so close that for some minutes the judges were at variance as to which had won. The decision was given to Detroit.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO 150 POUND TACKWEIGHT CREW B. O. Heron, (Bow), F. A. Sievert, A. C. Scott, S. D. Thom, G. L. Duff, N. G. Scott, R. A. Fisher, W. C. Weber (Stroke), D. S. Hoare (Coxswain).

Following this, the Seniors won their heat against Lachine and Bachelor's Barge without extending themselves. In them lay Canada's hopes of retaining the Hanlan Trophy.

Saturday came, and good water and a strong crew augured the best. Leading soon after the start, Lawrie Wallace maintained a steady powerful stroke. It seemed impossible that just in the last half minute they should drop and finish with three feet separating their nose from the successful Pennsylvania Athletic Club crew.

Impressed by the showing at the Henley, several Toronto men financed a trip to the N.A.A.O. regatta at Philadelphia, on August the 7th and 8th. A four with coswain and two singles from Argonauts, a single from Dons and the Varsity Junior crew made the trip.

Racing against the Penn Barge Club, the Quaker City Barge Club and the West Lynn Boat Club, Varsity finished second with Quaker City Barge a half length in front.

After this regatta the club was closed for a few weeks. On September 8th, a picked crew began to train with the view of going to the Royal Henley in England in 1926. They disbanded however at the end of the month, and the shells were stored for the winter months.

IVOR CAMPBELL, Mcd '26 has coxed with the club five years. His achievements include Junior and Senior championships for Canada for 1920; and four Senior championships since. In 1924 he had the distinction of coxing the Canadian Olympic crew at Paris.

English Rugby

HE prospects for the 1925-26 season were far from rosy at the outset. Despite early handicaps the English Rugby team finished the season winners of the intercollegiate title and unscored on.

At the outset it was discovered that nine of last year's team had graduated. Added to this, Ches Dreyer, our Captain and President left, to have a taste of Canadian Rugby. Ches besides being a leader is a tower of strength as a forward, as many know who have watched the Canadian Intercollegiate games. There was lots of enthusiasm left and about forty men were induced to turn out. From these a team was selected with great difficulty, and some very good men had to be left out.

The first game was with Toronto British Rugby Club. It was a defeat due to inexperience on the part of the Varsity team.

The next encounter was with Hamilton British Rugby Club, when the team and some loyal supporters chartered a bus to Hamilton. A close game resulted in no score for either side.

The first intercollegiate game was played at McGill. Under ideal playing conditions the Red and White were defeated 6-0. Varsity played excellent rugby in this game, the quarters, particularly Ross, giving some clever exhibitions of running and passing.

On a heavy field at Varsity, McGill held Varsity down to 3–0, the following week. McGill showed improvement but the home team showed better scoring ability. This victory brought the intercollegiate title to the University of Toronto the fourth consecutive time.

The team were given an opportunity to show their improvement in a final match with Toronto British Rugby Club. On St. Andrew's field they defeated Toronto 12-0.

Senior Intercollegiate Champions, 1924-25

HE Basketball season of 1924-25 saw the Intercollegiate championship return to Varsity after an absence of three years. The University of Toronto squad led by Captain Hal Burgess, one of the cleverest and most effective defense players, were forced to play a brilliant type of game to win from the strong opposition afforded by McGill, Queens and Western Universities. Every game was closely contested and only once were the Varsity men defeated and then by only one point in a strenuous game at Queens.

A RECORD OF THE YEAR'S PLAY IS SIGNIFICANT

Varsity at McGill : 38–34	McGill at Varsity : 21–40
Varsity at Queens : 25–26	Queens at Varsity : 21–40
Varsity at Western : 26-17	Western at Varsity : 22–27

The above record was made possible by the hard work and unselfish play by every member of the team while much of the success of the season was due to the excellent coaching of Mr. Glen Smith who gave untiringly of his valuable time and sage advice.

This year was marked by the participation of the University of Western Ontario in the Senior series for the first time, and their excellent showing bodes well for the future of a still higher class game.

"BIFF" POTTER

Hails from the Niagara Peninsula and has been playing on the Varsity first squad ever since his second year here. This year he captains the team that is apparently bound for another championship. His speed and scoring ability have marked him as a dangerous opponent, and his reward as scoring all of the intercollegiate series is being maintained this season.

GEORGE HUTCHISON Lanky centre player of three years senior experience is particularly adapt at flopping the ball one handed in the basket three or four times in a game. An Ottawa product and a hard and elever player.

"HIP ' SMITH

Knew Coach Glen Smith when he played Junior Basketball under his guidance back in the dark 80 s. A staid member of the team of several years standing, he has flashed back to his juvenile days, and as a regular, his unerring eye and uncanilly accurate shooting account for many points.

Basketball

1925-26

HE opening of the 1926 basketball season, found the championship team of the previous year intact to a man. Practice started before Christmas and two trips were essayed across the border during the holidays. The pre-season form of the team was however somewhat under the style they showed later, and although they incurred no overwhelming defeats were not as successful as might have been anticipated.

The McGill-Varsity game on the latter's floor on Jan. 25th, opened the season with a 32–21 win for the Blue and White. The game was fast from the start, and the scoring honours being divided amongst Potter, Smith and Hutchison, while Koff of McGill was high scorer of the game.

A week later, however the McGill men turned the tables when they defeated the Toronto team in Montreal by one point after a sensational game. On the same trip the Blue and White men defeated Queens who subsequently did the same to McGill. This and the defeat of the University of Western Ontario quintette on February 5th, enhanced the prospects for another championship.

A word is but slight recognition of the able leadership of last year's team by Captain Hal. Burgess whose excellent playing on defense has seldom been equalled. Rusty Bell proved a source of strength as his partner while Currie was a hard sub to keep off the regular line up. Chuck Potter and McGuire performed ably on the forward line and could be counted on especially in pinches.

University of Toronto Tennis Club 1925-26

HE Varsity Interfaculty Tournament was played early in October. The four semi-finalists were, Art. Ham, Gilbert Nunns, Brian Doherty and Reg. Cook. The final was between Ham and Nunns, Nunns winning the first two sets, when Ham increased his pace and Championship for the second time. Eric Vesey, a promising young player from Japan, won the Challenge Round, and was chosen as fourth singles player on the intercollegiate team.

The Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament for 1925 was played in Kingston on the Queen's courts, R.M.C. being the hosts. The result was in doubt right up to the finals, when McGill won both the singles and doubles. Ham played splendidly in the singles final against Jack Wright of McGill, but the Davis Cup player's versatility saved the day.

The Intercollegiate Tournament will be played in Toronto next year, and the University of Toronto will be hosts. The Tennis Club is very fortunate in having five excellent clay courts available for next season, and for the first time the Intercollegiate Tournament will be played on the University of Toronto grounds.

A resume of the year's activities of Varsity tennis players is in order.

Ham played the most brilliant game of his career, in the semi-finals of this tournament, against Fritz Mercur, 1924 winner of the Longwood Bowl, and one of the most prominent of the younger American players. After being down two sets to love, Ham made a spectacular rally and was only defeated after five sets of thrilling tennis, the result being in doubt almost to the last stroke. Ham and Nunns won their way through to the finals of the doubles also, defeating several noted American and English teams, and forced Wallace Scott, and Fritz Mercur, to five sets, in the final. This is a notable achievement, as Scott is a former intercollegiate champion of the United States.

represent Ontario in the Canadian Tournament; Nunns won Canadian Junior Championship for the second time.

Very interesting exhibition matches played at end of August between the Oxford-Cambridge tennis team and combined McGill and Toronto team. The series was won by the Canadian team, 8 matches to 4. Nunns defeated Ionklass of Oxford. and Ham defeated Carleton of Oxford. Together in the doubles Ham and Nunns defeated Jonklass and Carleton. The University of Toronto Tennis Club held a dinner for the visitors. in Hart House, after the exhibitions.

In the Eastern Canadian Tournament, Brian Doherty, went through to the fourth round, where he was defeated

"The National Game"

NFORTUNATELY this excellent game is in imminent danger of dying an unobtrusive and painless death at the University of Toronto. The time of year when its activities begin are unfavourable from the standpoint of a majority of students and the absence of an organized intercollegiate league detracts from any regularity of schedule.

That Canada's National game should be fostered at one of her premier institutes of learning and athletics, is to be desired, so with this in view, some idea of the previous activities of the former representatives of this University are in order.

Each year in the Spring aspirants for the team may be seen in practice for positions on the team which makes an annual journey across the border, to play the best teams that can be met. The prestige of the University of Toronto team is high indeed and has been established by the excellent type of same provided. In the past year the blue and white men defeated the strong New York team on their own field, the first time they had been defeated in two years—Varsity having turned the trick the time before. In addition this strong crew of Manhattanites have never been defeated by any other team in ten years on their home grounds, so the strength of the Varsity teams can be judged from this fact.

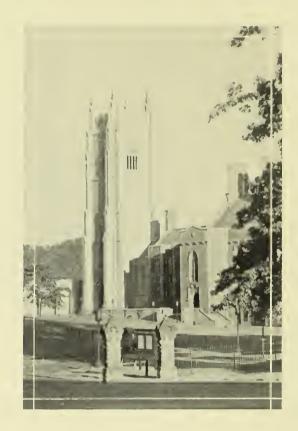

On the same tour the Toronto men won from L'huondelle and Mt. Washington of Baltimore, Union College of Schenectady, Stevens Institute of New Jersey, St. Stephen's College, Annandale N.Y., Lehigh University and Colgate. On this strenuous trip they only lost two games of the crowded programme, their conquerors being the strong representatives of the Naval Academy and Syracuse University.

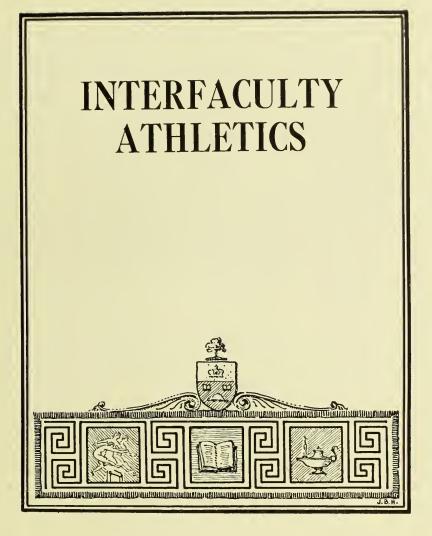

W. B. Brunt of Victoria college captained this team of outstanding performers whose personel included Wallace, Victoria I, Smail, U.C. II, Beatty U.C. I, Hall U.C. III, Graham, U.C. II, McGee, Meds. V, Sparks, Meds, V, Day, Dents. IV, Robinson and McCaulay of Pharmacy, Brunt and Blair of Victoria.

The Lacrosse club is at present working on an improved programme and features anticipated to further this sport whose place should be second to none in the athletic activities of the University.

The premier motive of this movement is to further the interests of the National game which on account of its lightning rapidity of play and varied action is apply fit for the participation of the highest type of athlete.

Student support is an imperative factor in the nurture of the game to bigger things and greater fame and the time is looked forward to when each Spring, Canada's premier Universities will meet to decide the title and the victors will journey across the line to meet-and, we hope, vanquish the best our neighbours can offer.

- D. D. CARRICK—Don is one of most versatile athletes in the College. Last year he won the Intercollegiate heavyweight boxing championship—Plays hockey on the Varsity Jr. team, and is a member of the Golf team. Last summer he won the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship.
- A. T. CHRISTIE—Alan was a member of the Canadian Olympic track team in 1924. In his two years at Varsity, he has twice won the 440 yards event in the Intercollegiate track meet.
- E. COLEMAN—Cap. earned himself a reputation by his smart work as quarter of the Varsity Sr. Intercollegiate Rugby team this year.
- H. N. CRIGHTON—Hec, has played basketball for the Sr. Intercollegiate team and last fall was captain of the Varsity O.R.F.U. Rugby team. He is perhaps even more renowned as coach of the Varsity women's Basketball team.
- F. N. DUNDAS—Made the Sr. Intercollegiate Football team in his first year as a freshman from Oakwood. Freddy continued his good work last fall.
- B. A. DOHERTY—Brian is one of Varsity's best tennis players. He was a member of the Intercollegiate championship team last fall.
- C. G. FRASER—Yank, played rugby for the Varsity O.R.F.U. team for two years, and last fall made a regular outside wing position on the Sr. Intercollegiate team. He will be missed next year.
- B. B. KING—Bruce's départure from college this year will leave a big gap to be filled on the Sr. rugby team's wing line. He has starred at middle for three years.

- F. LORENZEX—Fran. is an outstanding man in the tank. Besides being a member of the Varsity Swimming Team he stars at centre on the Water Polo Team.
- E. C. MABEE—Cam. is developing to be a big asset to Varsity on the track. He was successful at the Intercollegiate meet at Montreal last fall.
- G. NUNNS—Won the Junior Tennis Championship before coming to Varsity and has since been a strong man on the Intercollegiate team.
- II. J. PLANTON—Hugh represented Varsity in several sports. He played Sr. Rugby in his first year, is a star on the Sr. Hockey Team and puts the shot for the Track Team. He is a member of the Athletic Directorate.
- A. S. RANEY—Al is another Intercollegiate champion. He won the 118lb. Boxing title in the 1925 Intercollegiate Assault.
- famous Stollery—Bill is the elder of the famous Stollery brothers. He has played for three years on the Sr. Rugby Team as well as being goalkeeper with the Varsity Jrs. for one year and seniors for the past two years.
- F. STOLLERY—Howard is well known for his prowess on the gridiron—All critics give him a place on the All-star Intercollegiate Teams.
- R. S. VANVALKENBURG—Dick is the Intercollegiate diving champion. His performances from the high and low boards are pretty to watch.
- 11. J. BALES—Harry saw the light last fall and transferred from Victoria to U.C. He is a smart football player, having been a member of the Varsity Senior Team for two years.

University College Junior Rugby Team

HIS year's Jr. U. C. Rugby Team was one of the finest coached squads seen in the Mulock Cup Series for some time. Team work and the willingness to turn out to practices produced near champions for University College.

After eliminating Jr. S. P. S. Champions of the previous year, Jr. U. C. succumbed in the semi-finals to a heavier and more experienced team.

First year men composed two-thirds of the squad which means that next year's coach will have some excellent material to build up with. In all probability, however, some of the men will make a place on one of the Varsity teams.

LAYING against a more experienced and stronger team Jr. U.C. lost the Eckhardt Cup to Sr. Meds by one goal. The fast, light forward line of the Juniors found it difficult to get around the stalwart defense of Moir and Greig. The Juniors' forward line consisting of Latchford, McGill, Jennings and Thompson, though undoubtedly the heaviest forward line in the series, nevertheless need more experience. While Flommerfelt was a tower of strength in goal, yet Leo Latchford was able to fool him for three out of his team's four goals.

It was a struggle of a grand experience on the one hand, against youth and eagerness on the other, with the genius of Sr. Meds triumphing.

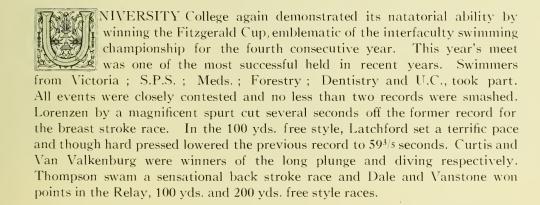

Capt. Ross Thompson has played the same position for the last two years. Latchford at centre the fastest man in interfaculty polo, was aided by the heady playing of McGill and Jennings. Hodgetts in goal was the find of the year, while Carrick played a wonderful game on defense. Doug, Jennings, the right-forward, could always be called upon to come up to scratch in the pinches.

The substitutes Baker, Plumptre and Sayers while lacking the finer points of the game gave some show of promise. Most of these players will move up to senior ranks next fall, yet with the nucleus of a team in Latchford and Hodgett Jr. U.C. can be counted upon in 1926.

Victoria College Athletic Association

HE administration of men's athletics in Victoria College is left entirely in the hands of an executive appointed annually. This cabinet consists of five undergraduate officials and the captains of the various teams, together with a representative from the graduates and the class in Theology.

Under excellent organization it is possible to maintain a series of intervear and interhouse games in practically all the sports and so bring to light any potential athletes for the College teams. Victoria always presents strong, wellcoached teams in every interfaculty competition and seldom fails to win at least group honours. Development of candidates for University teams is a motivating consideration and this year at least eleven first and second T's will be available for Vic men.

Athletics are financed through a generous revenue derived from the "Little Vic Rink" and rental of the tennis courts and playing field, all of which are directly controlled by the students. A sound financial basis gives the unique distinction of an undergraduate enterprise which can cope with its needs in a fairly elaborate manner.

Inspiring precept, successful example and facility of operation, in athletics, combine to produce in Victoria an ever famous University and College spirit.

Victoria College Hockey

OR the fourth time in its history the Jennings cup, emblematic of the interfaculty hockey championship, was won this season by Victoria College. In winning this cup the Vic team has established a record, winning all of their six games and scoring twenty-four goals, and having only two counters scored against them.

At the beginning of the season the team's chances of winning were very problematical as only two of last year's regulars were available. A large number of students, both in the first and upper years, turned out for practices, and provided keen competition for positions on the team.

Grouped with Trinity and O.A.C., Vic had a comparatively easy time winning a place in the play-downs. In the second round Forestry provided stiff opposition, there being no score until the last period when Vic counted twice. In the semi-final Junior Dents, were outclassed by a score of 6 1. In the finals the much-heralded Pharmacy team were unable to score against Vic, even when the latter were weakened by injuries, while the boys in Scarlet and Gold added four to their scoring record.

There was no particular star on the team. Eleven players were used during the season, eight of whom may be termed regulars. To all of these eight players belongs the credit of forming the best-balanced and fastest team that ever represented Victoria College in interfaculty hockey. Much of the credit for the splendid showing of the team is due to the coaching of Mr. J. M. Bishop, a former student of Victoria College.

On February 2nd, the Vic team played a return game with Syracuse University, when the friendly relations established between these colleges by the game in Toronto last year were deepened.

Trinity College Amateur Athletic Association

N 1892 the Athletic Association was first formed, and was then known as the Trinity University Athletic Association and later, after federation with the University of Toronto, it assumed its present name, prior to 1892 cricket, football, hockey, tennis, and baseball were controlled and operated under independent managment. To these harrier and basketball have been added, and this year a soccer club has been admitted to the association. All these clubs are combined and controlled by the Association through its executive.

In the early years of the Association Trinity entered a team in intercollegiate rugby, and the hockey team was entered in the O.H.A., and both made excellent showings. In cricket Trinity was a consistent winner and sought games with the American intercollegiate teams, Parkdale, Upper Canada College, and Hamilton. In recent years, interest in cricket waned but a revival was held last spring, when the students played the staff of the college.

Trinity for three consecutive years won the Brotherton Cup of which she became the owner. She has also won the Spalding Cup for baseball and the Jennings Cup for hockey. This year both the soccer and the rugby teams won their groups but were unfortunate in losing in the play-offs.

St. Michael's College Athletic Directorate

HE Athletic Association of St. Michael's College has control of all the Athletics of the house. It is the organ through which the various coaches and managers of the different teams are appointed. It has also to deal with the awarding of the College Colours and is the last word in athletic decisions.

The Directorate at the first meeting of the year realized that, in order to function properly and with any degree of continuity, a constitution with fast rules was necessary. A committee was appointed to draw up this constitution, which was presented to the Directorate, and adopted by it. Future councils will now know exactly the scope of their authority and obligation, and will be better able to carry out their purpose. A definite standard was set for the college "M" which will be maintained in the future, and left a set of rules which are to be followed by future Councils in awarding the letter.

Under the able tutelage of the coaches, and due to the initiative of their managers, practically every college team reached an enviable position in its quest for honours. Perhaps the most important factor in this success was the large number of players that were induced to turn out for the various teams. This gave the coaches plenty of good material to work with, and those who did not catch a place have learned enough to enable them to fill the breaches next year.

St. Michael's College Intermediate Rugby Team

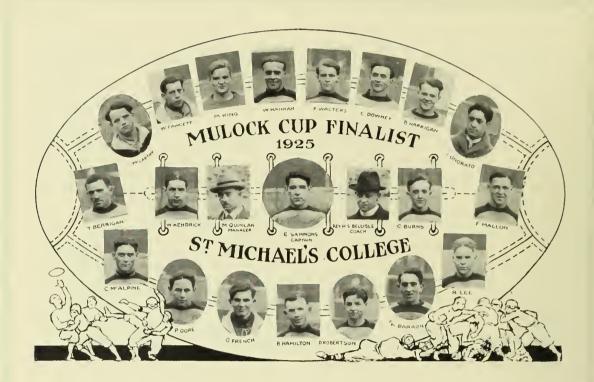

T. MICHAEL'S repeated their performance of the last four years in the Intermediate Intercollegiate Rugby Union by winning the Shaw Trophy for the second time. But they went still one better this year by winning the Intermediate Intercollegiate Championship and coming within an ace of carrying off the Dominion Title.

The entry of Osgoode Hall into the Western Section of the Intercollegiate Union necessitated a two group division. St. Michael's were paired with the lawyers and won their group easily. The agriculturists from Guelph were winners over Western and Varsity in their group, and St. Michael's took two smart games from the farmers to stand undefeated at the head of the Western Section.

The next move of the Double Blue was to meet McGill University for the collegiate crown. They complied in fine style by defeating the Montrealers at the Stadium in one of the best games ever witnessed there. The game was replete with clever plays. Dore, Sheehan, Callaghan, and Haffey outplayed the Red line by a big margin. LeBel, O'Brien, and McGraw provided the sensational with their back-field plays and Lowery's kicks were high and far all through the game. Jack McKeon and Sheeny turned in some smart tackling, with Watson and McGahey featuring the game with perfect snapping and appropriate plays. Donohue, Flahiff, Regan, McKeown, Morin, Heenan and O'Donnell all did their share to make the game a glowing tribute to the coach, Father Carr.

The Irish held their lead in the Quebec City to win the Intercollegiate Championship. The team then met Sarnia, Champions of the Ontario Union, in the Western City to decide the opponents of the C.N.R's in the Dominion Final. The Imperialities came out on top and shattered St. Michael's hopes of winning a Dominion Championship for the first time in eleven years.

St. Michael's Mulock Cup Rugby Team

HIS year the Mulock Cup team experienced their most successful season in interfaculty rugby. Last fall the prospects were not exceedingly bright; experienced players had graduated to the intermediates and some of the promising Freshmen were taken for the junior team. However, with a nucleus of last year's regulars to build around, two full squads were rounded out. Practice started at once and under the capable tutelage of Father Bellisle things began to look brighter. Our first game resulted in a 7-6 victory over Forestry which gave the necessary impetus for harder work. Knox were our next opponents and we outscored them 17-1 with the backfield showing up well. In our second game against Forestry we cinched the group for the second year in succession by winning 19-5. Sammons was the outstanding star in this game getting two touches and three rouges. Our first game in the play-offs was against Pharmacy, whom we defeated after a thrilling battle in the last quarter with King and Barren scoring touches. This put us in the finals for the Mulock Cup for the first time in history, but after a hard struggle we failed to lift the coveted trophy. Meds were a real team and it was no disgrace to be beaten by them. It was a hard fought game from start to finish, with neither side showing any marked superiority on line or extension plays. The game turned out to be a kicking duel and fumbles at critical times gave them their points. To pick individual stars would be almost an injustice as every man worked himself into a state of exhaustion in an effort of win. Hannah turned in his best game of the season with Downey and Sammons backing him up well. The dauntless three, King, McAlpine and Hamilton stopped the much vaunted Med bucks and also found time to sift through for many gains themselves. Harrigan, Walters and Berrigan tackled like veterans while the rest of the team, led by Robertson the quarter, turned in a stellar game.

Medical Athletic Society

HE executive, this year, have tried to stimulate interest in sport in those who have never taken any part hitherto. In doing this it has had two purposes in view. First and foremost, to aid the individual in developing himself physically, and giving his mind recreation. Naturally out of this will come a desire to make higher, and better teams; and so material will be obtained, and developed for the interfaculty series. Thus medicine will not lack material when she needs it, as one by one the men are taken for the university teams.

This has been accomplished in some measure by the introduction, this year, of interyear basketball and baseball. Some splendid material was found in the first year. The executive has continued the activities of former years, in the form of a Medical Field Day, which though poorly attended, brought forward good material. This is shown, by the fact that Meds won the Track Cup, for the first time since anyone now at Varsity can remember; this was followed by an intercollegiate triumph for Varsity in Track for the first time since 1914. A Medical Assault-at-Arms was also carried out in December, and though the competition was poor, some new material was shown.

To the date of going to the press, we have had a splendid year in medical athletics. A great number of the men in medicine have gone out for the university teams, and made them. Those playing in the interfaculty series have done well, and so far we have annexed three interfaculty championships, the rugby, track and water-polo. Medicine lost a fourth, the harriers, by a narrow margin. It is our intention to field strong teams in hockey, basketball and boxing and wrestling, and attempt to make this a banner year.

First "T" Holders in Medicine 1925 - 26

HE Undergraduates of Medicine, better known as "Meds" continue to uphold the enviable record of the faculty in intercollegiate sport. They are well represented on almost every university team, in any sport. Many captains have been chosen from amongst their number. It is therefore not to be wondered at, when one finds that more than a third of the first colours held in the university have been granted to Meds. The graduating year shares in one half of these, with twenty to their credit. This is a remarkable record, which will be a mark for future years to strive for. Their distinguished career in sport, created by men who have starred for Varsity for a great number of years, will leave vacancies that will be difficult to fill.

Amongst such a collection of athletes, it is almost inviduous to select any for special mention, though even here some are well deserving of such. They have all, with few exceptions, not confined their efforts to those sports alone, in which they hold their colour. Some have shown themselves to be the best men the university has in one particular sport; whereas, others have a splendid allround career.

In spite of the heavy course, with long hours, and often interrupted sleep, these men have taken a most prominent part in university athletics. The traditions of Medicine have been upheld in sport, oftentimes at the expense of a year, or an extra effort on his part; but, a strong, healthy, vigorous body will be found a great asset in such an exacting profession, and Medicine is proud of these men whom the university has delighted to honour.

Senior Medical Football Team Mulock Cup Champions 1925

EDS have always been in the running for the Mulock Cup the last few years. In 1924 Senior Medicals lost by a very narrow margin. They played to two tie games and three overtime periods, only to lose in the end. This year Senior Medicals went right through to another glorious championship, in spite of the fact that there were ten medicals playing on Varsity Seniors, and others on other university teams. They have a splendid record, not having lost a single game; their line never having been crossed; having only seven points scored against them in as many games; such a record would be hard to equal.

The backfield was the team's main strength, both in attack and defence. Captain Les Mullen's kicking outclassed everyone in the series, his drop-kicking was remarkable. In the hardest game of all, that with Junior Arts, he placed one over the posts from forty-five yards out. Gordie Large, also on the backfield, did much for the team by his long broken-field running. Both backfield men were sure of their catching and so threw away no valuable points. Smith, Burgess, Vivian and Flommerfelt were the line men who starred, they plunged well, and tackled well. Rutherford starred on the outside position. Farmer, at quarter, handled the team well, using very good judgment and making use of every opportunity. The others all did their share and under the able coaching of Alex. Duncan, the team became well rounded out, and once again brought home the Cup to Medicine, and it is to be hoped, to stay there for some time.

Medical Track Team Rowell Memorial Cup Holders 1925 - 26

OR the first time in a great many years, Medicine has been able to carry off the Interfaculty Track Meet. As considerable material was gleaned from the lower years, it is most probable that Medicine will have several stellar athletes to offer the University for several years to come.

Those represented in the above photograph were the point winners for Medicine, and greatly aided the University in her singular victory. Lively captained the University team, and has for several years been her representative in the broad jump. He is also a short distance runner. Mitchell is looked upon at present as the best one-miler in Canada. Other middle distances however attract this versatile athlete. His partner is Burn who will develop further rapidly. Sparrow is Varsity's hurdler, and also a short distance runner. Black and Shute looked after the weights, discus and javelin. Crawford and Oakes did well in the pole-vault and high jump.

Senior Medical Water Polo Team Eckhardt Cup Champions 1925-26

[] last! Six years of unceasing effort has brought the coveted Eckhardt Cup to the Medical Building. Senior Meds killed the jinx. Starting the season with an outside chance they ploughed through the series to gain the championship. They were left with a small nucleus of last year's team and a number of coming stars from junior ranks at the first of the season, but steady practice welded them together into a strong team.

It would be useless to try and name any individual stars. Everybody gave everything they had, unselfishly and willingly. Undoubtedly much of the team's success is due to the faultless work of Tommy Flommerfelt in goal. Ken Moir an old stalwart and Bill Grieg a new comer formed an almost impregnable defense, as witness the low scores against them. Ross Tilley and Perc. Williams alternating at centre were the best the league produced. They can swim and shoot with the best in the University. Of the forwards, Bill Higgs and Wolf Derbyshire are the old timers. These boys used their experience to good advantage. Bill's bullet-like shots and "Derby's" submarine tactics scored many a goal. Alvin Jones and Loren Hutner, the other pair of forwards, were as tricky as they make them and were noted for their hard checking and accurate shooting.

At the first of the season Sr. Meds were considered on the outside. But these boys soon showed their worth and before the season was far advanced they were pressing U.C. and School hard. These three teams ran a neck and neck race almost to the end of the series. But the team work of the Medical team began to tell and they slowly forged ahead. School dropped a game to Vic. and by beating Sr. U.C. once Meds clinched their group. In the play-offs Sr. Meds were up against a fast, accurate shooting team in Jr. U.C. The first game was a torrid affair. Sr. Meds won by two goals (4-2) and 16 scratches. There was no love lost in the second game. The game was the fastest and hardest seen in the tank for years. Jr. U.C. managed to pull the game by one goal (1-2) but the trophy went to Sr. Meds by one goal on the round (5-4).

Medical Boxing and Wrestling Team

HE DAVIDSON CUP for boxing, wrestling and fencing was won by the medical assault team. In 1922 the cup was won by the Ontario Agricultural College, also in 1924 they repeated when they defeated Meds by one bout. In 1923 Dents won the assault and in 1925 the silverware went to Meds.

The Med team was composed of four wrestlers and three boxers.

M. Lindzon 2nd year, won the semi-finals in the 118 lb. wrestling but lost out in the finals to Webster.

"Dan" Webster, 4th year, intercollegiate 112 lb. wrestling champion for 1924 won the 118 lb. interfaculty and intercollegiate titles.

E. V. Shute, 4th year, winner of the semi-finals, was defeated by Long in the heavyweight wrestling. Evan held the intercollegiate heavyweight boxing title in 1924.

J. E. Long succeeded in getting a decision over Shute in the heavyweight wrestling.

Robertson, intercollegiate 135 lb. boxer, again won the interfaculty and intercollegiate titles with very little trouble.

H. Hill gave Fidler a merry battle for the 158 lb. boxing title, but lost out on a decision.

K. A. Fidler, making his first appearance in the ring, succeeded in winning the interfaculty title, and then went on to win the intercollegiate title.

S.P.S. Athletic Association

ACULTY of Applied Science and Engineering Athletic Association became self supporting in 1921—when the faculty collected $1.00 from each student to equip the various teams. Since this time school athletics have been flourishing. Each year the Association has found it necessary to give as many as 50 S's. There colours are granted at the discretion of the executive—with practically the same guiding rules as the Athletic Directorate.

Last year School had a banner year, winning no less than six of the cups open to Interfaculty Competition. These were:—

Outdoor Track	Lanky Rowell Cup
Rowing
Rugby	Mulock Cup
Indoor Track	Toronto Cricket Club Cup
Hockey	Jennings Cup
Basketball	Sifton Cup

This year School has already lost two of these cups to the Meds. However we will be there fighting—and it will be an able team which takes more of these cups away from School.

S. P. S. "T" Holders 1925-26

CHOOL men have again upheld the honour of S.P.S. This year twelve men were awarded the coveted honour of a "T" as a reward for their activities in the field of sport, making a total of twentyone Schoolmen who are "T" holders.

Among the most popular of this year's award was to Prof. T. R. Loudon. Prof. Loudon as honorary coach of the University of Toronto Rowing Club has done very much to spread the good name of Varsity at home and abroad.

The six men who are graduating this year have a splendid record in Varsity sport. "Scotty" Bruce stroked the Varsity Junior crew for two years as well as receiving his "T" for rugby. Geo. Rumble, a member of the Varsity Junior crew for two years, a member of the track team in his freshman year, also played on the British Rugger team. Mort Robertson, Varsity coxwain, is a member of this year's boxing team.

With such a record as this to spur them on the freshmen class of 2T9 can surely fill the gaps left by the graduating class of 2T6.

S.P.S. Track Team

Interfaculty Champions, 1926

N the field of Interfaculty Track Competition for the year of 1926, School's traditional win in the outdoor meet was upset by Meds. Several of her most promising point winners were not able to compete so that the odds were against her favour. However the standard of School's track athletics was clearly shown by her record in the Intercollegiate Meet in Montreal a week later, when Russell, McKenzie, Burke and Davenport accounted for a large percentage of Toronto's wins in the first championship in seven years.

School Meet

School's own Track Meet on October 5th was instrumental in bringing out many new men who should in coming years uphold the high standard. All freshmen took part in some event or other, those not being athletically inclined preferring to delight the upper years by staging an obstacle race. The second year repeated their performance of the previous session by taking the major number of points although the graduates-to-be provided them with keen competition.

Indoor Meet

It remained for the winter term's Interfaculty Indoor Meet to demonstrate that the spirit of the old red building was very much alive.

The tables were turned on Meds, S.P.S. leading by 47 points to 36, as well as winning both relay events, one of which was run in record time. Thus for the year's track work, School has only one reward, the Toronto Cricket Club Cup, but by retaining it fate's decision has been overcome, and the outlook for future years appears bright indeed.

S. P. S. Rowing Club, Crew No. I. Interfaculty Champions

NCOURAGED by the success of last year, the School of Science Rowing Club reopened their activities early in October. So many promising men turned out that it was difficult to pick the crews; and it was not until a week before the regatta that this was done. Two fine crews went on the water immediately, and by rowing both morning and night were soon in splendid shape.

The old School Spirit was much in evidence, as shown by the cheerful way in which everyone carried on when the temperature hovered around freezing.

T. R. Louden (Hon, Pres.)

Due largely to the able coxing of "Mort" Robertson, both crews were successful in their heats; and but for unfortunate accidents in the final, the result might have been different.

School H. crew defeated both U.C. I. and Meds in close heats to make the final. School I. crew drew a bye in the heat, defeated U.C. H. in the semi-final and by a narrow margin came first in the final ahead of their own H. crew.

Students' Cabinet. Cec. Garland was elected President of Athletics and looked after the interests of the school in all the different sports.

He was ably supported by the different presidents who spent much time in their line of sport. The more prominent of these was Montgomery who organized the Dental hockey team.

Frank Kohli successfully put on the Dental assault and helped in the junior interfaculty assault, and Wallie Graham staged the Dental track meet.

Dental "T" Holders

NTHONY J. VINCE first became athletically prominent at Riverdale Collegiate, Toronto, when he broke the Ontario boys' record in the 100 yard dash. He played rugby on the High School championship team but decided that sprinting was his best sport. On entering University of Toronto he became a member of the track team and was twice an intercollegiate champion. During the year 1923 he held five championships, Canadian Y.M.C.A., Intercollegiate, City, Ontario and Dominion Championships. Equalling the Maritime sprint record of 10 seconds, he attained the goal of his ambition when he was chosen to represent Canada at the Olympic Games at Paris. Since 1923 he has only competed in a few events and is devoting his time to the training of athletes.

J. B. WILKES was the star English Rugby Player at St. John High School; he also engaged in baseball and basketball.

For five years he has been an active member of the University of Toronto English Rugby team, being a star player and this year's manager. The English Rugby team of University of Toronto has been four times intercollegiate winners. Bert has also been active in sprints where he and Vince have shone together.

These athletes are devoted friends and chums and it was a great thing that such men as these should both receive their "T."

"D" Holders

HE "D" is a crest composed of a garnet and white college crest mounted on a blue background filling in a garnet "D". It is the award for athletic merit given by the Athletic Association to those who are first T holders, to those who have played on a winning interfaculty team or to those of outstanding ability whose activities have war-team, or to those of outstanding ability whose activities have warranted some distinction as recommended by the Students' Parliament. In addition to "D's," Dr. Willmott has granted in the past a pin named the Willmott Crown to those of the graduating year who are first T holders, or to those recommended by the Athletic Association whose merits are deserving of more than a "D" and who have been outstanding athletes in their college career. These are only presented to members of the graduating year, while "D's" may be granted to any member except those in their first year.

Dental Track Team

OR the first time in several years Dentals were strong contenders for the Langford Rowell Memorial Cup emblematic of the interfaculty championship. With only a small entry list Dents succeeded in winning two firsts and three seconds which speaks well for the personnel of the team.

Marshall —- besides winning the interfaculty high jump, represented Varsity on the intercollegiate team in that event.

Graham—won the three mile and represented Varsity on the intercollegiate track and harrier teams.

Garland—our consistent walker, placed second in the half mile walk and Sommerville besides placing second in the interfaculty 440 yds, made a place on the intercollegiate team, running both the 440 yards and relay. With Sommerville, Garland, McDougal and Graham, Dents placed second in the relay and altogether amassed 22 points taking third place in the Interfaculty Championships.

Dental Soccer Team

OO much credit cannot be shown the Dental Soccer team for their all round ability in winning the Interfaculty Soccer Championship 1925-26. A few new faces are seen on the team, but the majority played on last year's team and considering the limited time that they had for practicing they did remarkably well.

To pick the stars would indeed be a task. Hutchinson, the towering goalie and Varsity basketball star was a world of strength to the team. His uncanny stops and methods of clearing the ball often bordered on the miraculous. To Devins, the sturdy little full-back and Captain of the team must be credited a major portion of the team's success. His team-mate Braden is a sterling player and the two full-backs made an almost impregnable defence. On the half-line Garland, Quigley and Hettenhausen were tireless players and fed the forwards well.

The forward line, although composed of comparatively light players, attacked well and were always dangerous. They depended chiefly on a short quick pass plus their speed to carry them through the opposing defense. Claman at centre, a new player this season, is fast and has a terrific shot.

Greaves and Hewitt outside, and inside left played well and never gave up trying. Butcher, inside right, also a comparatively new player proved his football ability conclusively.

Kennedy outside right worked hard and kept up his share of the attack. He is fast, tricky and a consistent goal getter being responsible for the majority of the goals during the season.

Dental Junior Hockey Team

THIS season the Faculty of Dentistry entered a strong team in the Jennings Cup series, but were eliminated in the semi-finals, after winning their own group. Dents have always had good hockey material to work with, and have been in the running four years in In 1923, the Jennings Cup found a roof at what was then succession. the R.C.D.S. In 1924, the Junior team lost out in the finals, and in 1925, they were eliminated in the finals again. This season, however, they'reached only the semi-finals, due chiefly to lack of coaching.

Harry Bishop captained the squad this season, playing at right wing. Whitaker was used at centre, and occasionally on the defense. Sheridan at left wing, rounded out a smart forward line, all three having had Junior O.H.A. experience. Haselton and Chalmers combined to form a steady defense, Hudson and Mahaffy were hard to keep off the regular line-up, and did not weaken the team any when they were used. Hewitt in goal was reliable at all times, and helped to form a well balanced team.

Dental Basketball Team

REAT things are expected from this fine aggregation of speedy experienced players. A great deal of new and good material came to Dents this year and along with some of last year's Juniors a splendid team is the result. Already they have played some of the best Junior teams in the city and have come out on top. However, they have still to beat some good teams if the Sifton Cup is to rest within the old College walls.

Dental Baseball Team

ENTS have been outstanding in baseball. They have become almost as consistent winners as the Baltimore Orioles.

Dents have captured the Spalding Cup the last four years in succession. This year only a Junior Dent team was entered owing to the inability of the senior years to get away from the Infirmary and play the game.

However the juniors bid fair to repeat the success of former teams.

They have three of last year's champion players left. O'Brien, Stewart and Lawson. No better men than these can be found in their respective positions.

In addition to these a new pitcher was discovered in the person of Sommerville. Along with these Korman, Roland and Marshall round out a superb infield.

The team was managed by Mickey O'Brien and coached by Cec. Garland,

Dental Waterpolo Team 1925-26

HE Dental Waterpolo team which represented the Faculty this year deserves the utmost praise. Of last year's team most of the members graduated leaving only three men of former experience. The new men however turned in very creditable performances and when next polo season comes around should make a name for themselves.

Grouped with Jr. U. C., Jr. S. P. S. and Jr. Meds the Dent team put up a stubborn fight in each game losing some of their games by very close scores. Of this year's team Garland, Milburn, and McKinnon are in their final year leaving the others to carry on. Special mention should be made of the showing of Brock, Barker and Stewart who showed up well on their year's play and can be counted on in the future to do some damage around their opponents' nets.

of the University Association as well as President of the Dental Club. From a shooting family "Tommy" has for years shot for the R.H.R. in the Provincial and Dominion matches. In the recent intercollegiate match he was high individual. "Sandy" Somerville, Secretary of the Intercollegiate Association and star of several sports

"Ed" Sisley graduating this year leaves a space on our team that will be hard to fill. "Ed" shoots for the Irish Rifle Club and ranks high in that aggregation of crack shots.

Wycliffe Athletic Association

Executive 1925 - 26

ISIONS of winning a cup—sometime, somehow, somewhere—have ever been the guiding inspiration in Wycliffe College Athletics. But somehow this has, up to the present, seemed an unattainable goal. Nevertheless the men constantly look forward to the next year, cherishing the same ideal, the same high hope-that sometime they shall fight through to first place, and shall be crowned with the wreath of victory.

Enthusiasm and expectation ran high last year, when this ambition was almost realized through a fast-working and experienced basketball team; but it faded again, all too soon, when the lads from the little red schoolhouse defeated us in the semi-finals. After a long absence from interfaculty rugby, so much keenness was evinced throughout the College that the difficulties of purchasing equipment and of securing sufficient material from our small numbers were finally overcome, and a team was entered in the Mulock Cup Series. Though beaten out by the drug dabblers, the team made a creditable showing, and great things are hoped for next year. Keen interest is displayed in Soccer, and we boast several wily toe-tappers, one of whom was taken from us by the intercollegiate team. Though we have never shone forth supreme victors on the cushion, full many a time and oft have we scintillated right merrily, and several of the boys propel the puck with amazing accuracy.

One of the Association's cares is to awaken and foster in the breast of every freshman the spark of interest in athletics. "Catch 'em young and train 'em plenty" works wonders, we find. A great aim of the Association is to encourage, as far as possible, participation in University sports. This may be proven by the fact that this year we were represented on all four University rugby teams.

To promote goodwill and good sportsmanship; to play the game in a manner beyond reproach, in victory or defeat; that every man may learn the great lessons taught in sport—that is, and always shall be, our ideal.

Gerald Dupuis

E IS UP IN THE AIR. This may not be a complimentary term when applied to a Baseball Pitcher, but is quite appropriate when associated with Gerald Dupuis, Ottawa. In fact he is quite at home, smiling, not a bit excited when he explores the upper regions, on a pair of skis.

Although only 21 years old, Jerry has already successfully taken part in a number of ski-ing contests. One of these worthy of mention is the 160 feet leap, February 1925, at Lake Placid N.Y., where he met the best of other nations.

Only in January this year, while representing Ontario College of Pharmacy at Lake Placid, N.Y., "Jerry" gained first place in competition with various College representatives. This was the first time in the history of the meet, that a contestant from a Canadian College has captured the title.

"Jerry" is a typical clean-cut, blushing, young French-Canadian, quiet disposition, an accomplished pianist (when he plays the piano, we always have the Fire Extinguisher handy—Safety First).

He has one fault, however, "too-modest." It was with difficulty we extracted information to the effect that he has two or three, who can tell, maybe five entries in coming tournaments. In one of these he will try and gain the Championship of America.

Officers and members of 1926 class are proud of Jerry, and wish this "Ozone Cutter" lots of luck.

WOMEN'S INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Activities

THE record of intercollegiate successes for 1925-26 is not as brilliant as that of last year, but the teams themselves have been worthy representatives of the University.

This year only one university basketball team was chosen, as no challenge in the intermediate group was received from Western or Guelph. Varsity lost Ethel Morden, Billy Maclennan, Bea Oaks, Marj. Wallace, and Lillian Sher by graduation, and had only one regular left of the 1925 team, Willene Wallace. Phyllis Griffiths, who was elected captain, had proved her mettle in the meet last year when she went in after an injury to Marj. Wallace, but the rest of the girls were new to senior company. They were Pat Wood, and Edith Buchanan, forwards; Evelyn Willmott, Marion Forward and Emma Weir, centres; and Mildred Wilkins and Mary Addison, guards. The team was fortunate in retaining last year's coach, Hec. Crighton, and had an excellent manager in Dorothy Fraser.

The Senior Intercollegiate meet took place at Montreal on Feb. 18, 19 and 20, with McGill, Queen's and Toronto as participants. Since no entrance charge may be made for games in the magnificent Montreal High School gym, where the men play, and as gate-receipts are essential to finance the women's meets, the games were played on a floor especially prepared in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C. As this was only 50 feet long, it was a great handicap to all the teams, and especially to Varsity whose scientific floor-work was nullified and whose terrific speed on the small floor caused bunching and consequent penalties.

The first night, as is customary, an exhibition game was played by the home team, after which the visiting teams met. R.V.C. played the McGill School of Physical Education for the third time this year, and were defeated for the first time by five points. McGill did not extend themselves and no adequate idea of the strength of the team could be reached. Varsity and Queen's met next, and the Toronto girls were right on their toes and gave a brilliant display of speedy and systematic basketball. The game was no walk-over as Queen's fought all the way, particularly at the start of the second half, but the Varsity attack could not be stemmed and the game ended 35 to 18 in their favour. The way in which Phyllis Griffiths, the Varsity captain, held Queen's star forward, the brilliant shooting of Pat Wood, and the floor-work of the rest of the team, featured the game.

The next night the Physical Eds. defeated Varsity in an exhibition game which was one of the hardest fought of the series. The Toronto team had no fight in the first period and the half-time score was 15-8. The next stanza was a different story however, and Varsity outscored their opponents 16-11 but could not get the two points needed. McGill defeated Queen's in the second game in a close contest. It looked at one time as if Queen's would win, but McGill pulled away.

The final and deciding game of the series was one of the hardest ever played in the series. McGill had Varsity down 11-4 at half-time, due to poor shooting on Varsity's part and heavy defence work on McGill's. The early parts of the game were marred by constant stoppages due to a very strict interpretation of the "Two-on-one rule," but the last period was a whirlwind. Varsity gradually came up and McGill were hard put to it to hold their own. Edith Buchanan went on for Varsity four minutes before the end, and scored three baskets. Another half-minute of play might have turned the tide, but the whistle blew with the score 23-22, making McGill Intercollegiate Champions for the second time since the series began. McGill undoubtedly have a splendid team, and in their captain, Miss Roba Dunton, have a field-general of rare qualities. At the time of writing the intercollegiate team is planning two games with Western University.

The record of the hockey team is not yet complete. They have played one or two minor exhibitions and but one intercollegiate fixture against Queen's. The wonderful team of 1925 which held the Toronto Hockey League, Intercollegiate and L.O.H.A. championships, was broken up by graduation. It is doubtful if a more consistent team ever played women's hockey. Their only defeat of the season was in the first game against "Pats." when the score was 1-0, and the second Ottawa Alerts game was tied 1-1. The Ross sisters shared the scoring honours for the year, while the goal-keeping of Thora McIlroy, the captain, was the sensation of all games. Miss McIlroy had only five goals scored on her all season, one by Pats, two by Aura Lee, and one in each Ottawa game. Varsity altogether scored 18 goals in 9 games which is quite a record for first class women's hockey.

Doris Ross, captain and centre, Marion Hilliard, left wing, and Olive Mews right defence, are the only ones of last year's players remaining, while Coach Jerry Campbell still directs the team. In the first Intercollegiate game, Queen's won 4–0, scoring all goals in the first ten minutes of play. Varsity unquestionably outplayed them for the rest of the game, but due to excellent goal-keeping by Queen's, were unable to score. The return game is scheduled for March 1, and unless Varsity is able to make up the four-goal lead, the beautiful Beattie Ramsay Cup which has been here since 1922 will travel to Kingston. (Ed. Note: It did.)

The interfaculty series have all proved as interesting and hard fought as usual, with one or two championships changing hands.

The Tennis provided the first upset, when St. Hilda's, with 16 points, won for the first time in years. Dorothy Fraser was the ranking first player, and won her games with comparative ease. U.C. came second with 11 points while O.C.E. and Vic. tied for third with 8.

The Basketball was divided into two groups, with Vic., O.C.E., Meds and McMaster in one and U.C., St. Hilda's, St. Michael's and Vic. II. in the other. Vic. and O.C.E. had two close games which Vic. won by a small margin, but the other teams in the group were less experienced. The second group was better balanced although U.C. with six intercollegiate players won all games with comparative ease. The finals between the winners were played at the Central Y. and Hart House and both resulted in U.C. victories after hard struggles. The winners were coached by Miss Marjorie Wallace, Varsity Seniors 1921-25, and Mr. Arch. Bryce.

In Indoor Baseball, Vic. and U.C. again won their groups handily and the finals were postponed till after Christmas. More exciting games were never played in the series, the first game on the Vic. floor resulting 6–5 for the home team, the second on the U.C. floor being a tie at the end of the seventh inning and 10–9 for U.C. at the end of the eighth. The final game at U.T.S. gym was most spectacular, but the fighting qualities of the University College team brought them out on top 11–6. The champions were coached by Miss Athol Wesley of the Toronto Ladies' Club.

The 1926 Interfaculty Swimming is scheduled for the middle of March and should be quite as successful as the 1925 meet. The latter was won by Senior U.C. with 43½ points, with Jr. U.C. in second place with 15 points, and Medicine third with 3 points. The winner of the individual cup was Evelyn Willmott, U.C. I., who piled up 23 points. The calibre of the swimming was excellent, and the large entry list, with nearly all swimmers in the lower years, promises well for the future of the sport in the University.

University College Tennis Team

OR many years the University College women have been running their tennis tournament under a great handicap owing to the fact that they have no courts of their own. For some time past, however, the men of the University residences, have solved this difficulty by lending them the use of their courts for the mornings during the week of the tournament. New and unexpected difficulties arose this year. Upon attempting to arrange for the reservation of these courts, it was found that they no longer belonged to the University Residences, but to Trinity. Nevertheless, arrangements were finally made for the use of these courts, through the kindness of the Trinity College men.

The tournament opened very satisfactorily with an entry list of sixty. The players were particularly fortunate in having ideal weather throughout the week of play. For the first time in many years the tournament was carried to its completion, a first year girl, Ruth Higgins, emerging victorious after many hard-fought games.

In Ruth U.C. has an exceedingly promising player. In the interfaculty tournament she created a sensation by forcing the winner, Dorothy Fraser, into two long sets, which finally culminated in the scores, 11-9 and 7-5. The second player, Lillian Staples, is also of the first year, which augurs well for the future of the U.C. team. Lillian won her place only by defeating several of last year's players. Next is Jean Kennedy, of second year. Jean is a strong and steady player. The fourth player, Jean McKay, has worked hard for her place on the team. The most outstanding point in her playing is a very swift serve. Thelma Standeaven the fifth player, has now played for three years on the team, and has never failed to win points for University College. The last player is Elsie McLaughlin. This is her second year on the team, and she is also tennis curator for 1925-26.

The U.C. team this year won a total of thirteen points, in the Interfaculty Tournament, gaining second place. The team has displayed a better brand of tennis than last year, when it attained third place.

University College Women's Hockey Team

ISPLAYING good individual ability, but lacking combination owing to the difficulty of securing ice for practices, University College's 1925 Women's Hockey Team went through its group undefeated only to lose to Victoria in the finals. The team was wellbalanced and fast, most of the games being won without great difficulty.

Kay Johnson, in goal, kept many a well-directed puck from the nets, and was particularly cool "when all about her" were shooting, scrambling, poking and doing their best to score.

Willene Wallace, Dorothy Wilson and Ivadell Donald alternated at centre and on the wings. Their passing was good, and each had a part in the scoring. Anna Raney and "Ev" Willmott formed a strong defense, the latter starring in every game. "Ev" was probably the most outstanding player in the interfaculty series, and is a real intercollegiate prospect. Marjorie Karn and Bethea Arthur were reliable substitutes.

Lack of practice was chiefly responsible for the team's losing out in the finals. although all credit must go to the Scarlet and Gold sextette for its victory.

Three of the U. C. team—Ivadell Donald, Anna Raney and Dorothy Wilson -have graduated, while Bethea Arthur has left college. Kay Johnson and Mari. Karn have still one year to devote to U. C. hockey, while "Ev" Willmott and Willene Wallace have three more winters to give to the team. University College crests were awarded to all the players.

Dorothy Brandon was manager of the team, and Art Games, of Meds, was the efficient coach.

Women's Swimming Team

University College

NIVERSITY College in 1925 was again successful in carrying off the women's interfaculty swimming championship. Owing to the large turnouts at practices, and the amount of enthusiasm displayed, it was decided that U.C. should enter two teams, junior and senior. This innovation proved most satisfactory, as these teams secured both first and second places in the interfaculty meet. The curator for the season was Elsic McLaughlin, who proved a most capable organizer.

Every event was won by a U.C. first year student, and Evelyn Willmott, 2T8, captured the Isobel Robertson Cup for the individual championship. Miss Willmott came first in the diving, side-stroke, crawl and breast-stroke races, and was second in the back-stroke. She totalled twenty-three points, the highest number yet captured in the meet by any swimmer. Her record time of 15 3-5 seconds in the crawl merits special attention.

Catherine Cringan added another five points to the score by taking the back-stroke event, while Margaret Fairbairn won the long plunge with a distance of 56 feet 6 inches.

Incidentally, it may be said that the Canadian plunge record for women is held by a U.C. Graduate, Verna Tucker, who did 60 feet 4 inches in the Hart House tank at the 1923 meet, thereby winning one of the four senior "T's" awarded to date for swimming.

Junior "T's" were won by Elsie McLaughlin, Evelyn Willmott, Margaret Fairbairn and Catherine Cringan.

The fact that most of the point-winners were in their freshman year promises well for the success of future University College teams.

University College Basketball Team

Women's Basketball Team carried the Red and White colours to victory. The U.C. aggregation went through the season without a defeat, and won every game by a decisive margin. This was due to the splendid team play throughout the season.

U.C. had plenty of enthusiastic material to choose from, and the team developed into a sextette of "all-stars" who, nevertheless, played an unselfish combination game. It was by far the best team in its section.

The real test came in the finals, when U.C. met Vic in two games at Central Y.M.C.A. and Hart House. The large floors enabled the players to show a much better brand of basketball than is possible in the small Lillian Massey gym. Good passing, superior shooting and an effective six-man defence enabled U.C. to win by scores of 31-18 and 35-17

The team practiced early and late, both players and coaches working hard to perfect the plays. Pat Wood and Willene Wallace formed a dangerous forward line, with Beryl Goettler as substitute. Doris Ross, Evelyn Willmott and Emma Weir alternated at centre and side centre very effectively. Mildred Wilkins, Phyllis Griffiths and Anne Harris made up a strong defence.

Mr. Arch. Bryce, with Miss Marjorie Wallace as assistant, coached the team, and the credit for its success is due to them. Miss Wallace very capably handled the team during the final games owing to Mr Bryce's illness.

University College Women's Baseball Team

NIVERSITY COLLEGE Women's Baseball Team came through to a triumphant finish in the interfaculty league this year. After winning their group by easy victories over McMaster and O. C. E., they faced their old rivals, Victoria, in the finals. It took three exciting, closely-contested games to decide the issue, each team winning its home game by a one-run margin. The play-off at O. C. E. resulted in a decisive win for U. C., 11-6.

Starting the season with last year's champion team sadly depleted by the loss of Lorene Gibson and Kay Ferguson, who transferred to Victoria, U. C. steadily improved under the able coaching of Miss Athol Wesley. Team play, rather than individual brilliancy, was accountable for the Red and White's success.

A "never-say-die" spirit enabled the girls to come from behind to win the last two final games. In the fixture on its home floor at College Street United Church, U. C. tied the score by a spectacular rally and, in the extra innings, scored the winning run.

Although Vic. were the favourites in the play-off, U. C. provided a surprise by outplaying the Scarlet and Gold in the field and at bat. After Vic. had taken the lead, 6-4, U. C. first tied the score and then piled up a five-run lead while holding their opponents scoreless.

The keen playing and good sportsmanship of the Victoria team made the final games both interesting and enjoyable.

Doris Ross, whose steady pitching featured all the games, graduates this year. Rae Anderson, Peggy McCready, Julia Ritchie and Helen Burford will also be missed on next year's line-up. Phyllis Griffiths, brilliant and consistent catcher, Pat Wood, dependable first baseman will be available next year as well as Edith Cosens, Muriel Thompson, Phyllis Howard, Helen McKinley and Rhoda Howe.

It is hoped that Miss Wesley, whose coaching simply "made" the team this year, will again show U. C. the way to victory in '27.

Victoria College Women's Athletic Executive

ENNIS, basketball, baseball and hockey have all been successfully launched and carried on, this year, by the Victoria Women's Athletic Association. While no team has, as yet, brought home a championship, the Scarlet and Gold has been prominent on field and floor and has brought honour to the players and their College.

The tennis team suffered the loss, by graduation, of many star players, but others were enlisted and many more interested, during the season.

The basketball title was closely contested, and won, by our age-old rivals, University College. Vic. also entered a second basketball team which proved very successful and promises good material for future senior use.

The baseball finals were the major events of the season. The first, played on Vic's home ground, was exciting throughout and ended with a one-run lead for Victoria. The second was won, in over-time play, by the University College girls on their own floor. The third, on neutral ground, went to U.C. also, with the championship.

Prospects seem bright for this year's hockey team, and Victoria is looking to her skaters and swimmers to bring home the championships which the other teams have missed by such a narrow margin. Whether they do so, or not, the sentiment of the Association is voiced in the lines:

> "It won't be whether we've won or lost But whether we've played the game."

St. Michael's College Women's Basketball Team

ASKETBALL, which for a number of years has been a major sport of St. Michael's Women's Athletics, again played an important part in this year's activities. The Athletic Directorate of St. Joseph's and Loretto College considers that this season has been a most successful one for their baskctball team. Although the honour of winning the group went to University College, St. Michael's hold second place and the Directorate is greatly encouraged by the splendid showing made by the team.

If one may judge by the closely contested games and the increasing number of students supporting this branch of athletics, St. Michael's may hope in a few years to produce a team of calibre equal to the present championship holders.

St. Michael's started off successfully and defeated by a slight margin both Victoria Seconds and St. Hilda's. They proved too weak for the almost impregnable strength of University College but they are to be congratulated on the creditable showing they made against a team of such high order.

Much of the credit for their success is due to the able coaching of Mr. Francis Buckland, who has trained St. Michael's basketball squad for the past two years.

The team which is the best that has represented the joint forces of Loretto and St. Joseph's Colleges was captained by Miss Callista Doyle who was also an outstanding player on the team. Miss Mary McDevitt was manager.

St. Joseph's College Athletic Club

THLETICS at St. Joseph's are steadily taking on prominence from year to year, and under the direction of a capable executive, the season 1925-26 has been in every way a successful one, from the standpoint both of games won and enthusiasm of the players.

With its sister college Loretto, St. Joseph's was represented in the fields of baseball, basketball and hockey. In baseball, the team was under the direction of Miss Lillian Duggan, who acted as coach and played as well. The other players included Misses Bessie Dunn, Euphie McGahey, Edith Quinlan, Marion Hayes, Anita Murphy, Loretto Bradley, Jean Harrison, and Mary Fitzgerald. In basketball, the girls were most successful, as the team achieved the place of second in its series.

Mr. Tim Mulvihill is acting as the coach for hockey and the Misses Grace Cooney, Marion Hayes, Estelle Reynolds and Edith Quinlan are prominent among the promising material with which he has to work. Results therein are as yet a matter of conjecture, but since the spirit is willing, the outcome must be obvious.

Students' Administrative Councils Joint Executive

OT so many years ago Varsity and Torontonensis were conducted by a small group of men for personal profit, which was large or small in proportion to the ability and business acumen of the proprietors. Naturally this system revealed many defects; and the Parliament of the Undergraduates, which later became the Students' Administrative Council, assumed control and supervision of both of these publications and established permanent business management.

The editorial and reportorial staffs were necessarily recruited from the student body. But during the war, the majority of the men who had been interested in publications enlisted. Then, as occurred in so many other instances, the women took up the work and carried on, and the natural outcome of this service was their demand for an equal share in the financing of the publications. To meet the new situation, the Men's and Women's Councils began co-operation under an agreement which was later moulded into a constitution, and thus arose the Joint Executive of the Students' Administrative Councils.

The Joint Executive has as its most important work the supervision of The Varsity and Torontonensis. However, there are many other services, less obvious but none the less important, rendered on behalf of the student body. In fact the activities of the Joint Executive are being extended further each year. The University Handbook was one of the new enterprises during the past year, and met with marked success.

Once each term, and more often if occasion arises, representatives from this body meet in conference with the Caput to discuss matters pertaining to discipline and student affairs in general. Much has been accomplished by this co-operation between Caput and students in the few years of its existence, and the results of its activity give reasonable ground for the belief that succeeding years will witness a greater justification of what was, at the outset, an admitted experiment in Student Government.

Students' Administrative Council

ELF Government by the students of the University of Toronto has established itself in the form of the Students' Administrative Council. This elected body of students, representing the students of the various Colleges and Faculties which make up the federation of the University of Toronto is responsible for the consideration and protection of the interest of the student body as well as the enforcing of certain measures of discipline.

During the academic year of 1925-26, the Students' Administrative Council has been called upon to find ways and means more in keeping with the good name of the student body whereby students entering upon their freshman year may be given a fitting reception. Initiations, as such, have been outlawed, and a committee of control composed of members from the Students' Administrative Council and members of the Caput has been made responsible for the form of all receptions given to freshmen.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. S. L. Biehn a committee of the Council has made a detailed study of organised cheering and cheerleading at the University games. They have recommended a re-organization of the Rooters' Club with the result that next year this particular work of the Council will be conducted under new conditions in which it is possible that a Students' Band may function.

Mr. A. T. VanEvery, as Chairman of the Literary and Debates Committee, has had the responsibility for arranging the debate between the Imperial debaters and the University of Toronto as well as arranging for the interuniversity debates and the special Sunday address by Senator Raoul Dandurand, President of the sixth Assembly of the League of Nations.

These few brief sketches of the functions of the Students' Administrative Council can but give a very inadequate picture of the many and varied ways in which it is called upon to serve the students of the University and to act as a link between them and the authorities. It further assumes joint responsibility with the Women Students' Administrative Council, through the Joint Executive, for the publication of The Varsity, Toronionensis and The Students' Handbook."

Women Students' Administrative Council

URING the years 1914-16 when groups of women all over the country were organizing for war work of various kinds, the women of the University felt the need of some central body which would bring them together to do their share. The necessity was also felt for some general organization which would discuss the women's problems as used on and would act for them in all waters of common interact undergraduates, and would act for them in all matters of common interest. Accordingly, in 1916, the Women Students' Administrative Council was formed.

The Council is composed of representatives from the women undergraduates' societies of University College, Victoria College, Trinity College, St. Michael's College, the Faculty of Medicine, Ontario College of Education and the Department of Social Service. There are sixteen representatives to the Council sent by the Colleges and Faculties named, each one having representation more or less according to size. The presidents of the undergraduate societies of the first five named, with the General Secretary-Treasurer, who is a graduate appointed by the Board of Governors, make up the Executive, and are the women members of the Joint Executive. The offices rotate each year, beginning in 1916-17 with the Presidency in University College.

The Council is responsible for various undertakings. A free book exchange, through which hundreds of books pass yearly, is maintained, and tickets for the women's sections at games, debates and various other events are handled by the Council. Since 1918 the women have taken joint responsibility with the men in the publication of The Varsity, Torontonensis and The Students' Directory or Handbook, and in all other matters in which the interests of both men and women are involved. These Affairs are all administered by the Joint Executive of the Students' Administrative Councils.

University College Literary and Athletic Society 1925-26

YEAR of purposeful activity on the part of the University College Literary and Athletic Society reveals living fellowship and energetic team play among the many male undergraduates of the oldest college on the Campus. Always marked by its progress, the policy this year has been directed toward expressing student opinion, invigorating college life, and promoting the best interests of every individual. Variety and originality have distinguished this policy, instilling new enthusiasm and vitality into the old traditions.

The junior common room has been the scene of five interesting and entertaining meetings of the Society, with a larger attendance than that of any others since the War. The gradual change to a more constitutional procedure in the conduct of the meetings and to a wider participation in the discussions bodes well for the Society, making it more democratic as well as more popular.

The debates have added to the interest of the meetings, newspapers, railway amalgamations, and the completion of the Hudson's Bay railway all being treated with equal insight and eloquence. The intervear shield was won by the second year team. In the I.C.D.U. series University College was ably represented by a winning team.

In university athletics the College has provided players for the first teams in every sport. Interfaculty competition found U.C. in the finals and semi-finals in rugby, in track, in rowing, in hockey, in swimming and in water-polo. Interyear athletics have flourished as never before, squash racquets being introduced for the first time. The interyear shield was presented at the Annual Athletic Dinner, held in Hart House on the election night in March.

Beginning with the Soph-Frosh Banquet, the social activities have been fewer in number, but better arranged. The "Follies," the annual college stunt night, had unprecedented success this year, the unique and varied programme being enjoyed by over seventeen hundred merrymakers. The most brilliant function was the Arts Ball of University College, outstanding for its éclat and tradition. Two dances were also arranged by year executives in addition to to several class parties, smokers and a musicale.

Looking back on the year just concluded one cannot help but feel decidedly optimistic in regard to the "Lit." In its many aspects, financing, organising, leading and originating student activities, it plays a part so extensive that every student is in some way directly affected. This would not be possible were it not for the loyal support of all its members.

Those in the graduating class have seen four years of remarkable development in the "Lit.", not a small amount of which is a tribute to their untiring efforts. Their high standard of scholarship has been an incentive to the other years, and at the same time their interests have been versatile. University College is proud of its men and wishes them fame and success as they go forward to strive in new spheres of life.

Women Undergraduates' Association

HE Women Undergraduates' Association is the official representative and administrative body of the women students of U.C. At the commencement of the session Mrs. Andison kindly accepted the position of Honorary President, left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. MacIvor due to ill health.

On October 6th the Women Undergraduates' Association gave a party at the Women's Union for the Freshies at which skits were performed by the Undergraduate Associations.

At the Autumn tea on October 24th, stiff rows of chairs and insipid lemonade gave place to an old fashioned tea-party at which Mrs. Kirkwood, Mrs. Andison and the President, Miss Grace Graham received. After tea had been served, three informal speeches were delivered by Mrs. Andison, Miss Graham and the first year representative, Miss Eleanor Ross.

At the Autumn mass meeting a motion was carried that instead of the usual seventy-five per cent of the funds, collected by the Bursar, only fifty per cent should go to athletics, the customary twenty-five per cent be reserved for the Association's expenses and the remaining twentyfive per cent to be voted at the descretion of the council; any surplus of the last mention to be added to the Athletic Funds at the end of the year.

The Women Undergraduates' Association gratefully accepted a prize offered by the St. Margaret College Alumnae to be awarded for some form of public speaking, to be determined by the Women Undergraduates' Association, in which all women of U.C. might compete.

Victoria College Students' Parliament

"The King is dead-long live the King."

EEDLESS to say, in this case, the King—contrary to good British practice—is the parliament. For one year the Victoria College Student Parliament, as constituted in the Spring of 1924 has controlled the student activities of the men of Victoria College. To-day, the men who are most closely associated with the Parliament and with its immediate predecessors, the Union Literary Society and the Men's Student Council, are resolutely striving to find a form of student organization that will be more expressive of Victorian thought and activity than has heretofore been the case.

And so, while the cloak of parliamentary procedure is having a "long vacation," the spirit which it enshrouded and which brought into being first the Jackson Society and then the Men's Literary Society, is searching for a more up-to-date garment with which to clothe itself.

It has become a custom at Victoria that each succeeding year should carefully revise the constitution that has served them during their term of office, and while this "introspective analysis," as it has been called, can be both commended and condemned it forms only a small part of the many activities which the Parliament undertakes during the academic year.

The weekly meetings are for both business and pleasure. Those who gravitate into Alumni Hall during a parliamentary session not only appreciate the opportunity of taking an active part in the student business of the College, but also they retain many pleasant memories of sing-songs, debates, and addresses.

And so through divers vicissitudes of fortune, the Parliament continues, strong in the faith, believing as did its predecessors, that there is something worth-while in student fellowship, in the cultivation of literature, and in the orderly conduct of public business.

Women Undergraduates' Association Victoria College

HE Women Undergraduates' Association of Victoria College is organized to represent and express the opinion of the undergraduate women of the college and to co-ordinate its various organizations. Its executive includes the presidents of the Women's Athletic, Literary and Choral Societies, and of S.C.M. and Annesley student government. In cooperation with the men's parliament, W.U.A. is responsible for representing the students on the Social Caput, and for sponsoring Acta Victoriana. W.U.A. takes no direct part in student government except in emergencies, but is responsible for any innovations among the women students. For instance, it has organized and taken charge of the residence extension campaign among the women undergraduates.

Class History 2T7 Victoria

ROM coast to coast our timid freshmen came, soon to appear on the horizon of Victoria, as a year whose many and varied talents are still being brought to light.

Can the boys play rugby? Just ask "Mike" Pearson and "Biddie" Barr. Half of the players on the team that last won the Mulock Cup for Vic. hail from 2T7. Can they play basketball? Who provided the Junior Vic. basketball team in 1923? Why, 2T7. And in baseball and hockey old 2T7 can well hold its own.

How about the ladies of the year? Just watch them play basketball, baseball and hockey. On the arrival of the 2T7 freshettes Vic. won the interfaculty championship in all three.

Then there is the Bob. It was beyond doubt the big hit in the opening of the Sophomore act. The "avalanche of verdant youth" which threatened to overwhelm Victoria in the Autumn of '24 was successfully intercepted by the action of the Bob committee ably led by Wallie Sterling.

In every activity in the college, members of 2T7 take prominent partsdramatics-choral-Acta Victoriana-Student's Court and Parliament.

The extraordinary success which has attended the class may be accounted for by the unity and splendid class spirit which are proving strong enough to overcome any difficulty arising in its undergraduate career.

Class History 2T8 Victoria

HE spirit of this year's Sophomore class has done much toward making 2T8 one of the most active and outstanding years in Victoria College. Beginning with the initiations, the hike, the Bob, the Dances and regular meetings have formed one round of activity.

The initiations of last Fall established a precedent. The manner in which 2T8 carried out their original "stunts" was a credit to them. The spirit exhibited during the whole proceedings between the Sophs and Frosh was certainly a revelation as to how initiations might be carried out.

Continuing their slogan of new standards, the Bob was an unequalled success—even old Robert Beale himself would say so.

The year retained an even keel through the stormy examination seas last year, although a few men were washed overboard; at the same time two University scholarships were added, besides several smaller ones.

Athletically, the men and women of the year have taken their place in the College. They are especially well represented on the ladies' basketball, baseball, tennis and hockey teams. The men come not far behind. Last year, they took the interyear basketball, and this year the interyear rugby, also having six men on the first team. They are right in line for the baseball cup, and have hopes for the basketball.

The annual hike, up the Humber, was a real success despite the low temperature which prevailed. A dinner-dance held early in December was the feature of the year. It was all that its name implies, and the success of the evening was evidenced by the gaiety of the revellers.

Trinity College Literary Institute Council 1925-26

HE Trinity College Literary Institute seems to have lost none of its popularity or prestige by its change from Old Trinity to New. In fact it has acquired a new vivacity and interest which in its old quarters was rather suppressed. Although the Institute actually had its birth as the Debating Society of the Diocesan Theological College of Cobourg, the real beginning seems to have been in 1854. Up to this time and till 1915 it existed purely for debating, but after that the present parliamentary system came into force. It now consists of the whole male student body, with a speaker, government of nine, and opposition council of five. Its constitution is based on parliamentary procedure and insists on parliamentary forms of address in the house.

As well as its function of government in the house, the council has full charge of the College Common-Room, and sees that the College is properly supplied with papers and periodicals.

The government which is in power on Dec. 10 has complete management of the annual conversazione, whether that government is afterwards defeated or not.

After the Provost's Founders Night Reception was separated from that of the Institute, the conversazione became a dance pure and simple, and is now Trinity's most important social function.

The government also gives open "Lits" to which St. Hilda's is invited, an annual oratorical contest and other literary activities, which are held from time to time, to vary the usual programme of debates, and the Trinity College Literary Institute is without doubt the most active society of which the University of Trinity College can boast.

St. Michael's College Students' Council

HE Students' Council at St. Michael's College is the most important student organization in the house. It effects the students as a whole, and works in complete harmony with the staff. The Council is composed of the presidents of the four Arts years and the vice-president of fourth year, and each member is directly responsible to the year he represents. The officers of the Council are president and vice-president of fourth year and the president of third year. Dealing with all matters of interest to the students, the council has to settle a great variety of questions in its work. These include such matters as college debating, arts banquet, smokers, students' parliament, and numerous other activities. It receives its financial support from the students themselves; each contributing a fee of one dollar.

The first step of this year's council was to call a regular meeting weekly, hoping in this way to keep in touch with all live questions. An effort was made to arrange a joint executive between the Sister Colleges of Loretto and St. Joseph's. Difficulties were met with, however, and, feeling the danger of haste, the completion of this organization was recommended to future councils. The matters of interyear debates and a college crest pin were both dispensed with to the credit of the council. The Arts Banquet and the Arts Smoker too were voted the best in history. Among other questions of major importance, the most noteworthy, perhaps, was the bringing of the Year Book under a competent management responsible to the council.

Medical Society

OR thirty-one years undergraduates of the Faculty of Medicine have had their organisation in the Medical Society. As year by year conditions shift and change so has the Society, since it's humble inception in 1895, altered and extended it's scope little by little to better serve the needs of the transient student body. The executive is elected annually in February and upon it's shoulders rests the responsibility of administrating an ever increasing volume of social, academic and business matters such as may engage the interest of the undergraduates as a whole throughout the session.

Primarily it is incumbent upon the executive to promote close co-operation between the staff and students and to provide educational meetings that may serve to draw the various years together from time to time in common extramural interests. Secondarily come the traditional considerations of the At-Home, Faculty Dinner and Daffydil as well as the responsibility of the Medical Sick Benefit Fund and the appointment of the staff of the University Medical Journal. Besides these institutions there is a miscellany of other duties involving close association with the Medical Athletic Society, partial responsibility for the students' library in the Medical Building, provision of a phone for the students and a piano for the ladies' common room and a due regard for the freshman, that he may be well and truly started in his course.

The Medical Women Undergraduates' Association

OLLY gatherings each month where every undergraduate woman belongs, delightful fireside teas at the Women's Union, talks from persons who can authoritatively lead our thoughts adown the vistas of Medicine stretching far ahead, or into side-paths where the responsibilities of citizenship or the amenities of artistic things are met, the January "At-Home" held in Argyll House where staff, Alumnæ and students mingle in pleasureable contact—these are some of the things incorporate in the M.W.U.A., whose affairs this year have been so ably conducted under the Presidency of Isabel Day, with Dr. Rowena Hume as Honourary President.

Our participation in "Daffydil" has ever proved worthy, and this year the work was energetically directed by Rachel Haight.

In spite of our comparatively small enrolment—we are but sixty-one we produce athletic teams which make a splendid showing with those of other faculties.

By such activities our organisation maintains a high group ideal, a close interyear unity, and ever fosters loyalities and interests as broad as life.

Our S.C.M. group has displayed keen interest in its various study groups through the year—and most especially in its Christmas Party held at Argyll House where a "tree," carols and a fireside talk made such a happy combination. May its spirit of universal friendship ever continue.

Engineering Society

HE Engineering Society, is a formation of the undergraduates from S.P.S.

In 1885, owing to the increasing registration it was felt that the students should have some means of administration under their own control, and accordingly this society was formed, with the Dean of the Faculty as president. Three years later the constitution was changed, the executive then being chosen entirely from the student body. Thus the foundation of the Society was laid, although its constitution is being continually amended from year to year to meet changing conditions. It was not until 1893 that a compulsory fee was charged, thus making every undergraduate a member of the Society.

The executive is composed of the President, first and second Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Secretary and Curator, together with the chairman of each of the seven "federated and affiliated" clubs and the president of each year.

The duties of the year executives are chiefly social, although the social activities of the Society are managed by the first Vice-President. He appoints and acts as chairman of the committee which arranges the "Dinner" in the Fall and the formal dance in the Spring term.

The individual club and the Society, as a whole, each contribute to the technical side of the year's activities. Each club holds meetings, dinners, smokers and parties, at which addresses are given in connection with that branch of Engineering in which the club is most interested. This work is supplemented by regular general meetings of the Engineering Society. At these gatherings, wherever possible, a lecturer addresses the students on some subject of general interest, and always of some engineering value.

To fulfil the requirements of daily life a supply department is run in conjunction with the Society under the management of the second Vice-President. This department handles all the commodities necessary to a student, except text-books.

The literary efforts of the Society are given an opportunity of expression in the publication of the combined Transactions and Year Book. The editor is appointed by the executive and he chooses his own staff. Every now and then a powerful organ, the Toike Oike, is published, giving news, gossip and risque stories.

Those who prefer the fuller life many find scope for their dreams in the S.P.S. Christian Association. This organization has been, and is to-day, one of the strongest formations of its kind in any university, which state of affairs can only be due to the absolute conscientiousness of the executive.

One of the chief aims of the Society is to take part or assist in matters or events which are of interest to the undergraduates of the University as a whole.

Engineering Society Store

Civil Club

S "School's" contribution to the Civil Engineering Profession, we, the Civils of 1926, feel that we owe a solemn debt of gratitude to: President Falconer and the University of Toronto for the educational facilities provided.

Dean Mitchell and the honourary officers of the Civil Club, namely Professors Gillespie, Young and Loudon, and the other members of the Faculty, not only for that portion of their knowledge which they have so painstakingly imparted, but for their interest and co-operation in our undergraduate activities.

If, in the past four years, while yielding to the gradual and inevitable change in the order of things, we have upheld in some measure the best traditions of our race and University, we dedicate our efforts to those who will follow.

We hope that our activities in the world of Engineering may be of some benefit to mankind, and to Canadians in particular; and it is thus that we aspire to show our appreciation to those, who not only through their ability as teachers, but also in virtue of their example as gentlemen, have shown us the way.

Back Row: K. C. Grogan (III Yr, Mining Rep.), L. A. Howard (II Yr. Rep.), W. C. Kirkpatrick (IV Yr. Metallurgy Rep.), J. D. Barrington, (IV Yr, Mining Rep.), G. M. Gray (I Yr. Rep.) Front Row: A. Wigle (Vice-Chairman), A. D. Dickson (Chairman), W. C. Martin (Secretary-Treasurer).

The Mining and Metallurgical Club

N the dim and misty past when "School" was but an infant in years and size, there was no Mining and Metallurgical Club. To-day after some forty years of growth and development "School" has several clubs and not the least of them is the M. & M. Its activities supplement in every way the work of the Engineering Society as well as advancing the interests of its own members both as individuals and as a group. There is in addition a side to the efforts of the club, which is not so apparent.

As a sister organisation to the Institutes of Mining and Metallurgy both of Canada and of the United States, it acts as a medium for keeping the student in close touch with men and events in the profession.

The club holds its meetings in many forms. Dinners, dances, smokers and skating parties are all popular and provide excellent ways for the different years to become acquainted. The dinners are perhaps the most frequent and most satisfactory. On such occasions a man of some note is invited to address the members on a subject pertinent to the profession or of current interest.

The officers of the club consist of a chairman who is elected at the Annual "School" Elections and automatically becomes a member of the Engineering Society Executive, a vice-chairman, a secretary-treasurer and year representatives, who are selected at the first general meeting of the club during the fall term.

Mechanical and Electrical Club

TILL another page will have been written and turned in the history of the Club, when the senior members carry away their parchments from Convocation this Spring. Inscribed on this page, will be found the activities of the Club in good clear form; not one outstanding above all others, but each and every one vieing for the premier position.

The "Trips" this year were well up to snuff and many fine industrial plants were visited. Then again this year the local organizations of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Society of Electrical Engineers, by means of their Student Competitions, provided the opportunity to all students to submit papers on technical subjects. The success of this particular event was due largely to the interest shown in the series of weekly meetings at which the Club members presented papers of a technical nature.

Who will forget the many little things that happened during the year? The ride on the old trolley up the snaking tracks to the Queenston Power House? The dinner at the Refectory? Those who missed connections in Niagara Falls, New York? And the many features that characterized the trip to Galt?

Architectural Club

HE Architectural Club was fortunate this year in securing for its Honorary President one of its originators, Mr. J. H. Craig, who has always taken a keen interest in its activities.

Immediately following the beginning of the session the usual outdoor sketching classes organized by Professor C. H. C. Wright and Mr. C. W. Jeffries, R.C.A. were resumed. In the course of these excursions the club visited the valleys of the Humber and the Don, returning with some very original interpretations of the landscape.

The premier social event of the Fall term was a dinner. The Honorary President gave an interesting account of the formation of the club and spoke briefly of the ideals and opportunities of the profession. Professor C. H. C. Wright sketched briefly the history of the department. Mr. A. W. McConnell, one of our former professors, entertained the club in his usual humorous style. The initiation of the freshmen and a three minute response from each was an entertaining feature of the evening.

The Architectural Club Exhibition has become an established annual event. It is held early in April in one of the University buildings and after a formal opening is thrown open to the general public. The best undergraduate work of the department, together with a selection of drawings and photographs of the work of practicing graduates make up the exhibition. Last year a selection of student drawings was hung at the Canadian National Exhibition, and it is intended that the practice be continued.

Industrial Chemical Club

HE Industrial Chemical Club, as one of the federated Clubs embodied in the Engineering Society, is the official organisation representing the Undergraduates of the Department of Chemical Engineering.

The objects of the Club are to promote trips to various industrial concerns both in and without the city, to advance the interests, and to foster the personal contact and social activities of the students.

It is the aim of the Executive of the Club to gather the students together at least once a month. These meetings may be disguised under various names such as smokers, dinners, or an evening address in Hart House given by men prominent in the field of Chemical Industry. Who will forget that three-day motor trip to Windsor and Detroit, to say nothing of the mud and detours encountered around Wallaceburg, and the banquets we enjoyed? One hour engrossed in the process of boiling down sugar molasses or learning of the manufacture of salt; the next being carried over the highways by the "Skipper" in his gasoline-buggy.

Students' Parliament, Faculty of Dentistry

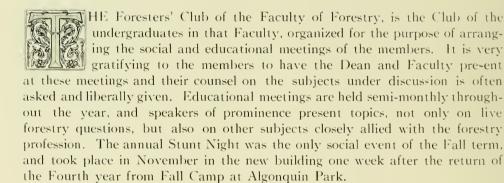

HE entrance of the School of Dentistry of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, to the University of Toronto, as a Faculty, represents another mile-stone in the progress of the Dental profession and also of the Students' Parliament—the undergraduate governing body.

Changed conditions have necessitated new constitutions, new crests, new class pins, etc., but the Cabinet, the executive body of the Parliament under the leadership of Arch. Hays, have ably coped with the situation and worked to strengthen the bonds that now bind us more closely to the University.

W. E. McCraw (Treasurer), 11. L. Causland (Vice-Pres.), G. R. Lane (President), 11. 11. Krug (Secretary), C. W. R. Day (Committee).

The Foresters' Club

This year, the members feel fortunate that they were able to be present at the opening and dedication of the new Faculty of Forestry Building on St. George Street, on Tuesday, January the nineteenth. The two following days were the occasion of the meetings in this building of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers, at which all the members of this club were present.

This year the Annual Banquet was held on January the twentieth, in conjunction with the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers. The speaker of the evening was Mr. S. T. Dana, Director of the Northeastern Experimental Station for the United States Forest Service at Amherst, Mass.

The Annual Dance of the Club was held in Hart House, Januar y the twentyfirst, to which were invited the members and foreign guests of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers. The final social event of the year was a Smoker, held in Hart House, in February at which many of the graduate members of the Club were present.

Wycliffe College Literary Society

HE history of the Wycliffe Literary Society runs parallel with that of the College itself, and the first meeting of which there is any record was held in 1877, in the School House of St. James' Cathedral. This period of the Society's history is marked by the names of Archbishop Du Vernet, Archdeacon Dobbs, Canon Marsh and Canon Daniel.

Six years later the College was transferred to the present site of the Mining Building, and it was while there that Bishop Hamilton of Japan and Archdeacon Armitage took an active part in the Society's meetings. In 1891 the Lit. held its first function in the newly opened College on Hoskin Avenue, and here its meetings are still held in the historic Common Room. It is interesting to think that in this very spot Bishop Stringer (Yukon), Canon Cody, Canon Gould (Palestine), and Archdeacon Renison have debated, and that here the late Rev. Septimus Jones acted as Critic for several years.

The Lit. is the official representative organisation of the undergraduates and transacts their business, and consequently governs most of the non-athletic activities of the student body. Its aims are those of all Literary Societies, and the annual programme, though varying somewhat from year to year, provides for literary and musical evenings, interyear and Cambridge debates, open meetings with popular speakers, and an oratorical contest. The social life of the Society finds its outlet in autumn hikes and bus rides, or winter sleighing parties and skating, while occasionally the General Committee sponsors an afternoon tea. The pre-war Annual Conversazione is now only a fast-fading memory.

The President of the Lit. is Ex Officio senior student and chairman of the Students' Supervisory Committee. In this, the Society's first year under coalition government since 1918, the presidential chair has been very capably filled by Mr. C. R. H. Wilkinson, B.A., whose indefatigable energy has made the year a successful and most interesting one, despite the absence of those fiery debates which used to characterise the meetings in the old days of the party system.

Knox College Undergraduates' Association

THE Knox College Undergraduates' Association was formed in 1920 when the Knox College Theological and Literary Society was amalgamated with the Knox College Missionary Society. The membership consists of all men registered or resident in Knox College, whether Divinity students or otherwise. The meetings of the Association are held fortnightly, and are conducted according to parliamentary procedure.

Through its committees the Association has charge of all departments of the life of the student body. The athletic activities are directed by the Athletic Committee. The House Committee has general oversight of the residence life, such as the provision of reading matter for the Common Rooms, the administration of the Sick Fund, the Initiation, and the maintenance of order in resident life. The Programme and Worship Committee has charge of all devotional services conducted by the student body. Every evening after dinner a short family worship service is held in the Dining Hall, conducted by each man in turn. This Committee also directs the social activities of the Association. During 1925-26 a new feature was introduced by this Committee. This was after-dinner speeches given, one every Wednesday evening, by men who are representative in the fields of Art, Literature, Sculpture, Law, and so forth.

For all these activities funds are necessary; they are secured by fees of five dollars and three dollars, levied on resident and non-resident students respectively.

Pharmacy Students' Administrative Council

HE Class of 1926, who but few months ago passed as strangers, now number as graduates some hundred and eighty friends. In eight short months of classroom and extra-class activities there has been created a bond of fraternal fellowship that has predominated throughout the class. Evidences of such co-operation were apparent in the part played by the rugby team, the hockey team, the soccer team, the basketball team and all the other items of student life which depend so much on individual unselfishness.

The unfortunate accident to our Dean removed him from our midst for a time and his absence as lecturer called upon the students for earnest zeal in their studies. The return of Dean Heebner to his official post was eagerly awaited and greatly appreciated and the sympathy of the student body during his days in the hospital was evinced by their gifts of flowers and personal calls.

The success of the Junior and Senior Dances bore further testimony to the hearty appreciation of the schools activities by the undergraduates. Attendance at all interfaculty competitions was strong and if the interest displayed by the Class of 1926 during their student days is continued on into their professional lives the success of the Class of 1926 is assured and the Class Executive feel that their thanks be thus tendered to their loyal and worthy classmates.

Ontario Veterinary College Students' Council

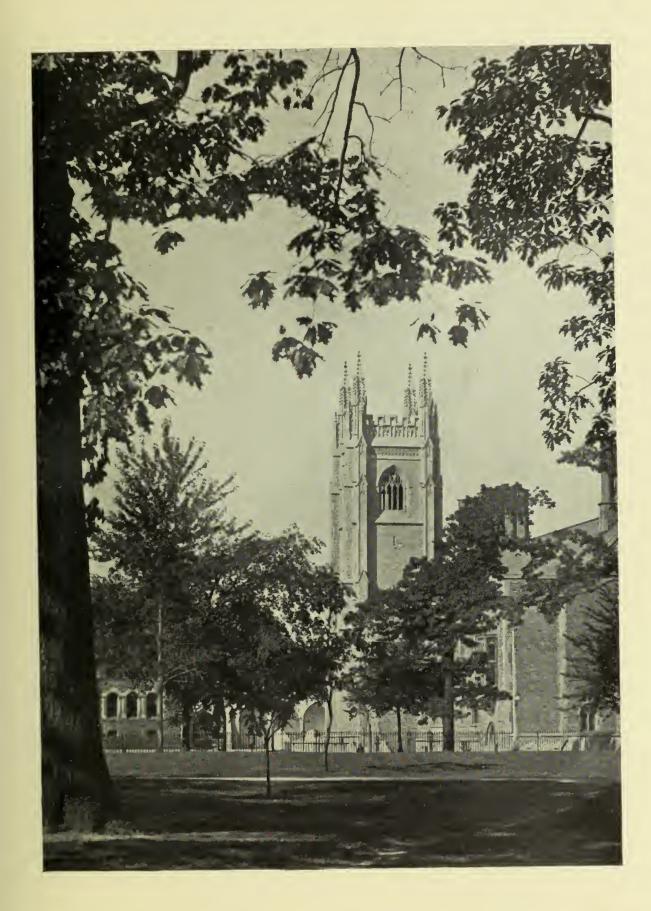

HE Ontario Veterinary College Students' Council was formed in the session of 1922-23, the first year the College was in Guelph. The ideas that led to its formation were to discuss all matters pertaining to the student body, to aid in bringing about an understanding with outside colleges, and to aid in the advancement of good feeling between the students and the faculty.

The council is composed of eleven members, two from the first year and three from the remaining three years and consists of a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Since its formation, the council has justified its existence in many ways. During the first two years there was much to contend with over questions arising between the O. A. C. and O. V. C. students. In almost every case, the question of contention was settled in a very amicable manner to the benefit and satisfaction of both student bodies. The present student body is reaping the harvest, the seed of which was sown by the previous Councils, and the good feeling prevailing throughout the student body itself and that of the O. A. C. is due in no small part to the Students' Councils of the last two years.

During the past year the Council has been a fit successor to those preceding and while nothing outstanding has been done, the good work started by previous councils has been carried on and some of it brought to a fitting conclusion. Chief among the works of the present council has been its support of athletics, and never, since the College has been in Guelph, has the O. V. C. taken such a prominent part in sport. The present good-fellowship existing throughout the whole student body and between the faculty, which has not been surpassed in the history of the College, is also one of the many things for which the Students Administrative Council of 1925-26 is responsible.

Each month a meeting of students is held in the College where the problems of the student, college and the nation are discussed. The Wilmott Shield is always open to intervear competition and many wordy battles take place for its possession.

At present it is the property of IV Year, won by Mr. G. V. Tario and Mr. R. L. Braden from Mr. Box and Mr. Chambers, two very competent speakers of the second year.

St. Michael's College Quindecim

LL clubs and societies of the University fall into one of two types those in which one receives ideas and those in which one learns to express ideas. The Quindecim of St. Michael's College is probably unique in that it combines the essentials of both. The Club was founded for the purpose of political discussion, but, thanks to the farsightedness of the original members no hard and fast rules were laid down in this regard. As a result, a wider variety of subjects has been dealt with and the tastes of all have been catered to.

The usual custom has been to invite a prominent speaker to address the Club. This is the side of the activities which furnishes new ideas. When the speaker of the evening has finished, an open discussion of the subject follows, and here the members have an opportunity to air their own views, to correct false impressions and to foster true ones. Men prominent in politics and in diplomacy, in church and in education, in letters and in deeds, have at different times contributed to the success of meetings. And it redounds to the glory of the Quindecim that they have almost without exception declared themselves agreeably surprised with the workings of the Club and have expressed their decided willingness to return on any future occasion.

The Quindecim has this year reached a crisis. The graduating class of 2T5 carried off the last of the charter members and the future of the Club, dependent on new material, hangs in the balance. Its ultimate success or failure rests on the current year's activities. With only five former members remaining the newcomers are in a position to make or break a most promising organization. However, the enthusiasm displayed at the meetings to date augurs well for the future and under the capable direction of the executive it is to be hoped that the infant traditions of the St. Michael's College Quindecim will pass on untarnished, and indeed more brilliant, to the students to come.

Newman Club

NEWMAN CLUB

EWMAN CLUB was founded in the year 1913 by His Grace, Archbishop McNeil of Toronto, for the religious, intellectual and social welfare of the Catholic students attending the University of Toronto, and other institutions of higher learning in the city. The Club Chapel is the parish Church of the students. A Chaplain is in residence during the academic year and devotes his time to the interests of the members. All the regular services of the Catholic Church are conducted in the Chapel. It is the earnest wish of the founders and Directors of the Club that all Catholic students make Newman Club the centre of their religious, intellectual and social activities. In the reference library a carefully selected list of Catholic books and periodicals is placed at the disposal of the students. Each year a series of interfaculty debates and oratorical contests are conducted for both men and women. Shields and medals are awarded to the winners. At regular intervals lectures are given by prominent speakers on timely subjects. The Leonard Scholarship, founded in memory of Lieut. John Leonard, M.C., a former member of Newman Club who gave his life in the late world war, is awarded yearly to the student member of Newman Club in good standing who obtains highest marks in the First Year English and History course. A reasonable amount of social activities, viz, dances, teas, bridges, musicales, etc., are held. The official organ of Newman Club, The Torch, appears several times during the year.

University of Toronto Menorah Society

HE University of Toronto Menorah Society, the local chapter of the Intercollegiate Menorah Association, was founded in 1916. The Menorah crest—"For the study and advancement of Jewish culture and ideals"—sums up its aims, and except for a few social functions, all efforts of Menorah are bent in this direction.

The Menorah Society furthers its aims by obtaining the most authoritative lecturers on relevant subjects, by promoting discussion amongst its members, and by staging debates, local and intercollegiate. It endeavours to give its members, without trying to impose any point of view, the opportunity of arriving at intelligent opinions and convictions, and prepares them for intelligent participation in the solution of Jewish problems. It maintains a splendid Jewish section at the University Library and makes available to its members the Menorah Journal, a cultural magazine of the highest type.

The literary programme, this session, has so far consisted of alternating "open" and "closed" meetings, at fortnightly intervals. The open meetings, open to all undergraduates, graduates, and the public in general, have been occupied with lecturers of sufficient merit. The closed meetings, available to Menorah members and graduates only, have taken the form of debates, Hart House style, upon subjects of Jewish interest.

Following a series of preliminary debates in the Winter term, debaters will be chosen for the annual debate with McGill in the Spring. The victors in this debate, which takes place in Toronto this year, are awarded the "Bennett Cup," at present held by McGill.

The Menorah Society wishes to express its appreciation for the kind efforts of those members of the professorate, and of many friends now outside the academic fold—notably Mr. A. B. Bennett M.A., donor of the "Bennett Cup" —who have taken an active interest in its work. Thanks are also due to many talented musical friends, who have embellished its programme.

University College Women's Literary Society

"Better Than Ever"

HIS seems to have been the slogan for the University College Women's Literary Society for the year 1925-26. With the active interest of the Honorary President, Mrs. M. W. Wallace, the society was able to carry out its aims more easily.

The President, Miss Genevieve Brock was forced to resign owing to her numerous activities, and Miss Margaret Ness was appointed her successor.

Since it was decided that the Society should confine its interests entirely to the study of literature, debating was dropped from its program. However, the Literary Society aided in forming a University College Women's Debating Society for intervear debates.

Professor Macdonald addressed the first meeting which began the season in splendid style. Many a happy hour was spent at the fireside of the Women's Union, while our modern poets, authors and their works were discussed.

After Christmas, a study of modern drama paved the way for an interesting play, which was presented early in February under the direction of Miss Ness. The success of the play clearly showed that the ability of the Society was not confined to things solely of a literary nature.

Loretto College Literary Society

HE activities of the Loretto College Literary Society are threefold, debating, dramatics and lectures. The first two are exclusively student activities.

Debating was introduced some years ago, and is now firmly established. Each year five debates take place among the various years with a shield for the winner. This system besides stimulating interest in the intervear debates, has successfully trained debaters for the intercollegiate debates and contributed two members to the Women's Interuniversity Debating Team of 1926.

It is only in the last two years that dramatics have been taken over by the students. The same system has been applied here as to debating. Each year produces a play and presents it at a Literary meeting and the year whose play is adjudged the best holds the dramatic trophy for a year. The present competitions are only the training school from which the Society ambitiously hopes to draw material for more widely known dramatics in the near future, and even in the last year creditable and promising work has in the production of such plays as "The Rivals" by Sheridan and "The Tidings Brought to Mary" by Paul Claudel.

A meeting with a lecture on the programme is an occasion of relaxation for all the members of this industrious society, and following up this idea the aim has been to choose a topic of general interest and immediate appeal. The one most frequently treated in the past year has been the all-absorbing question, "What Becomes of Students After Graduation?" One of the most delightful answers was certainly given by Mr. McKenzie, the Editor of MacLean's Magazine in his talk on "Journalism."

St. Joseph's Literary Society

HE St. Joseph's Literary Society, for some time a tradition of the College, was rejuvenated last year, and under the able president. Miss Blanche Larochelle, carried on a very successful and interesting study of modern poetry—especially Canadian poetry.

For the year 1925-26 the Club has as its officers—Miss Gertrude Quinlan, President; Miss Norma Duffy, Vice-President; and Miss Marie Foley, Secretary; Miss D. O'Connor, Treasurer. It turned its attention towards the Novel and Modern Drama.

Activities started early in October with the annual picnic to Sherwood Forest—a most enjoyable and hilarious event.

At the first regular meeting in November, the Honorary President gave us a general but quite comprehensive survey of modern literature with special reference to John Agscough and Robert Hugh Berson.

Robert Hugh Berson has given us in his historical novels "By what authority," "Come Rack, Come Rope," "The King's Achievement," accurate pictures of the period with which he deals. In "Initiation," "The Average Man." he has displayed his power of character portrayal and keen analysis of life and in "Lord of the World," his insight into the tendencies of modern society and their probable result.

At another meeting the characteristic features of the works of Joseph Conrad were admirably exploited and illustrated by reading. Archibald Marshall brought before us his pictures of English country life; Booth Tarkington philosophized and analyzed the hidden feelings of his heroes and heroines. Under the auspices of the Literary Society a debating club was organized to arrange interyear contests in oratory. These contests, with the study of the drama, form the remainder of the year's work.

University of Toronto German Club

TTHOUGH formed hardly two years ago, the University of Toronto German Club already has an enviable record. Last year in addition to the regular meetings which were well-attended and very enjoyable, two plays, "Der Prozeas" and "Günstige Vorzeichin" both by Benedix, presented at Hart House Theatre, were an unqualified success from every point of view. Dr. Needler, the honorary president, and the other members of the German staff have done much to aid and encourage the Club.

In order to study the German language and culture more closely, the Club is divided into conversation, dramatic and music groups which are led by convenors elected for that purpose. Since each member takes an active part in at least one of these groups, the Club is of real benefit to those studying German. Of special interest is the Wagner section of the music group which studies the words and music of such gems as "Tannhauser" or "Der Fliegende Hollander."

The Club meets on the last Monday of every month in Annesley Hall. At this year's first meeting Professor Holt sang Schubert's famous "Erlkönig," and the dramatic group put on a delightful comedy, "Der Knopf" by Rosen. At a second meeting Dr. Kaltenback, an eminent scholar, spoke on "Schulin in Deutschland." A hilarious comedy "Emir murss heiraten" by Wilhelmi was also presented by members of the Club. The meetings always end with a happy sing-song and refreshments around the fire-side.

The Club intends to present a more ambitious production in the spring. From all indications it will surpass that of last year.

Modern Language Club of University College

THE Modern Language Club has been one of the most thriving of University clubs this year. A largely increased membership offers sufficient evidence of the wide-spread interest in its activities which have been thus far highly creditable.

The annual dramatic endeavour of the club marked the climax to a successful Fall season. The Club presented two one-act comedies. "Les Honnêtes Femmes" by Henri Becque, and "La Comtesse d'Escarbagnas" by Molière. Both were well received by an appreciative audience. Their success this year was all the more noteworthy in that the club was denied the use of Hart House Theatre and was obliged to have recourse to the auditorium of the Women's Union. Incidentally "La Comtesse d'Escarbagnas" was the first play of Molière to be attempted at the University, and the club is to be congratulated on its work. Mr. N. P. H. Brown directed both plays, and the leading parts in "Les Honnêtes Femmes" were taken by Miss Shiell, Miss Arnold, and Mr. Crozier; in "La Comtesse d'Escarbagnas," Miss Ferguson, Miss Hamilton, Mr. E. K. Brown, and Mr. McCullagh.

Among the speakers at the regular meetings should be noted Professor de Champ, who gave a most interesting address on the works of Erkmann-Chatrian: Mr. H. Steinhauer, who compared the tragedies of Racine and Shakespeare: and Miss Needler who spoke on Ariel, a life of Shellev by Maurois.

Sing-songs, refreshments, and a social half-hour invariably follow the meetings to make them quite delightful gatherings.

The president, Miss Shiell, is to be commended on the quality of the programmes presented and the coming Spring term bids fair to surpass even the fall insofar as the activities of the Modern Language Club are concerned.

St. Joseph's College French Club

HE French Club of St. Joseph's College as organized four years ago was composed of the Senior Students and others without the College who had attained colloquial proficiency and a wide acquaintance with the best in French Literature. This year it was found advisable to restrict the membership to College students only, but to include all the years.

The primary aim of the French club is to afford an opportunity to the students of extending their knowledge of French Literature and of developing a greater degree of fluency in speaking the language.

An election was held early in the year so that the Club might become active at once. Up to the present the meetings, conducted entirely in French, have taken the form of an address by a native French speaker or professor, followed by a discussion thereon and refreshments. Once we decended to the frivolity of cross-word puzzles which were welcomed as an amusing novelty.

Augier and Capple have been read with pleasure but perhaps Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac" aroused the most enthusiasm. We hope in the near future to be able to add to the list of our activities a sing-song, and among the more ambitious ones dramatically inclined there is a rumour of a French play. Nous verrons!

The Italian-Spanish Club

T may be said that the Italian-Spanish Club is the "latest thing" at University as it was only formed in the fall of 1925. Previous to this time, these languages had been included in the programme of the Modern Language Club, but practically only in name as most stress was put on French and German.

The purpose of the Club, expressed in most fitting terms by Professors Goggio and Cano at the opening meeting, is to further Spanish and Italian within the University—that is to enable the students and any of their friends to understand more thoroughly the characters and arts of the peoples whom they are studying. With this also goes the opportunity for progress in the conversational use of the languages as all the meetings are conducted in either Italian or Spanish.

These meetings are made as informal as possible and the programme of the year includes addresses on different subjects relating to Spain and Italy, plays, national games and songs. The membership is open to all students of the two languages in the University, and any others who are interested receive a hearty welcome.

The Club was most fortunate regarding its opening meeting, for, through the kindness of Signor Carboni and some of the members of his studio, a most enjoyable evening of music was given.

It was with trepidity that those in charge of this new venture proceeded, but with the support of the staff, concerning programme material for the monthly meetings, and of the many students who became members, the executive was greatly encouraged, and now feels certain that the Club will advance with rapid strides.

University College Classical Association

"Gaudeamus igitur juvenes dum summus"

UCH is the spirit of the Classical Association. There, birth records to the contrary, all are young; there, august professors throw off their gowns to sit at the feet of undergraduates, nunc primum praetextati; there, the certamen verborum waxes hotter than ever it did in Virgil's councils of the gods and subsides into perfect calm amid the clatter of punch glasses and the strains of "Clemantine." The Classical Association came into existence between the years 1892 and 1896 but the exact date is beyond recall. It first met in the full light of day but the time of meeting was later changed to the evening, that the soft glow of the fire and gay spirits of night time might do their part in stimulating sociability.

And in the evenings it has continued to meet and go on its carefree way; so unworried is it by the problems of financing, for it merely collects enough fees to pay its casual expenses; so unconcerned about securing a hall for its meetings as the wives of the professors are ever eager to entertain the association in their homes. Indeed this association has always held an unique position among college organizations, in virtue of the lively interest taken in it by the professoriate and their wives, who at occasional meetings even outnumber the undergraduates.

The Association meets six times during the academic year. To each year is allotted the programme for one meeting, while for the two remaining meetings the undergraduates cheerfully hand over the papers to more experienced speakers. Amongst the most distinguished speakers, whom the association has had, was Goldwin Smith, who addressed it about the year 1900. This year Professor J. O. Carlisle of Ontario College of Education and Adam Carruthers, Professor Emeritus of University College, addressed the Association.

Now may we say in the old familiar words, the wish of all its members:

"Vivant academia, Vivant professores, Vivat membrum quodlibet, Vivant membra quaelibet, Semper sint in flore."

Victoria College Classical Association

HOSE who have "small Latin and less Greek" may perhaps wonder, why a Classical Association? Probably the only really incontrovertible reason one can give is the answer received by the immortal Alice when the Dormouse was telling of the sisters who spent their days in drawing 'everything that begins with an M. "Why with an M?" said Alice. "Why not?" said the March Hare. But many students reckon the validity of an argument by the number of points made, rather than by the force of one unanswerable reason. For such it may be well to add other, though confessedly weaker, reasons. Classics, it is well known, is what Household Science Dietitians know as a "complete food." It contains in it all the elements of perfect and complete living. In what more satisfactory way, then, could a classical student fill up his hours of leisure from classical study than by absorbing more classics? Again there are many who take Honour Latin but not Greek. To remedy what all recognize to be a grave lack in the University course, these are admitted to all the priviliges of membership, in the confident belief that by "classical association" they will absorb the atmosphere in which the classical student moves and lives, and thus finally attain the blessedness of George Elliot's character, who had a general sense of knowing Greek, although he could not be said to know any Greek in particular. Thirdly, at the meetings the students demonstrate to their professors what is the ideal way of conducting classes. Members come and leave when it suits them; there may be a brief paper combining instruction and amusement; always plenty of the brisk and ready talk so desiderated in group discussions; some dramatic, musical or other "stunts"; finally refreshments. O si sic semper!

The Honour Science Club

HE Honour Science Club was organized about ten years ago for the purpose of bringing together, outside the class rooms, the Science students in the Faculty of Arts. It includes students, who are specializing in one of the sciences of Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Mineralogy, Geology, Household Science, or in the combined Course of Arts and Medicine. During the first and second years, these students follow very nearly the same work, but in the upper years the courses diverge, and the students do not have the common meeting ground of lectures or laboratory classes.

It is recognized that an educated man must know something of everything, as well as everything of something. This is particularly true in the realm of science, where an intelligent understanding of the various branches is necessary before a truly scientific training is acquired. It is the purpose of the Honour Science Club to bring the various groups together, realizing that much benefit may result to the members from a personal knowledge and appreciation of the subjects studied by students in departments other than their own. It promotes social activities, thus giving the members an apportunity of acquiring that "savoir faire" which should be an evidence of a University education.

The club holds six meetings a year, of which some are entirely social, while others are addressed by the Professors in the pure sciences on topics of general scientific interest. Members of the staff are invited to all its meetings, thus bridging the gap between staff and student, often felt in the lecture room and laboratory class.

The year 1925-26 has been a successful one for the club, and it is hoped that in the future, it may continue to play an important part in the life of the Science students of the Faculty of Arts.

Mathematical and Physical Society

HIS society was organized about fifty years ago to provide the students in the departments of Mathematics and Physics with an opportunity of hearing and discussing papers and subjects not included in the curriculum but of interest to science students. Devoted to this purpose it seeks as well to provide social intercourse among its members.

The membership includes members of the staffs in the two departments, graduates and undergraduates of courses in Mathematics and Physics and others who are interested in the society.

Meetings are held in the Physics Building on alternate Thursdays. At some of these meetings, the speakers are members of the staff, visiting professors and graduates, but at many of them, papers are given by students in the different years.

In addition there are several social functions, chief of which are the annual dance and the skating party. The dance, held during the Michaelmas term, is especially popular for it serves as a reunion to graduates and also enables them to make and maintain friendships with the undergraduates.

It has always been the aim of the society to have the undergraduates take a large share in the activities of the society and, adherences to this principle, it is believed accounts for its long life and present popularity with staff and student alike.

Trinity College Science Club

ONG before the days of federation with the University of Toronto, the students of Trinity College were deeply interested in Science. Many of these have since made a name for themselves in the scientific as well as the industrial world by their inventions and improvements.

This interest in Science continued to develop after federation and took concrete form in the organisation of the "Science Club" which later became the Trinity College Science Club.

The founders of the Club were Mr. David A. Keyes, Mr. F. M. Turner and Professor Simpson. A whole issue of Trinity University Review, at the initiation of the Club was given up to Scientific articles contributed by members of the club. A constitution was drawn up by Mr. Keyes and Mr. Turner. The great War interrupted the continuity of the Club during the period 1916-1919.

In the latter year, 1919, the Club was re-established at the instance of Mr. Percival Warren and since that time has been very fortunate in the keen interest taken by Canon Rollo. The constitution was reformed and printed in 1920.

The following is a list of the Presidents since the close of the war: Mr. P. S. Warren, Ph. D., now on the staff in minerology of the University of Alberta; A. H. Gee, M.A., Ph. D., engaged in chemical research in the University of Toronto; Mr. J. A. Johnston, M.B., practising physician at Carleton Place; Mr. R. S. S. Chaffe, B.A., formerly of the Royal Air Force in the war; Mr. J. H. Roderick, B.A., undergraduate in medicine; Mr. L. H. Burpee B.A. Sc., the retiring President and Mr. L. M. Ives, undergraduate in Arts and Medicine. the President-elect.

Federal Cabinet Students' Christian Association

HE Student Christian Association of the University of Toronto is a federation of local units in each college and faculty of the University. Each local unit is represented on the Federal Cabinet and through this central body is more fully kept in touch with the work of the Student Christian Movement of Canada.

As a unit in this larger movement the Association is also "a fellowship of students based on the conviction that in Jesus Christ are found the supreme revelation of God and the means to the full realisation of life. It seeks through study, prayer, service and other means to understand and follow Jesus Christ, and to unite in its fellowship all students in the University who share the above conviction, together with those who are willing to test the truth of that conviction." The purpose of the Association is to give expression to this aim in the life of the University, by helping students to strengthen their own religious life, to explore the truth of their beliefs by study and discussion, and to seek others to share in the fellowship of the movement.

This past year the outreach of the movement in the University has been enlarged through contact with the British Movement in the person of their Study Secretary, F. A. Cockin, M.A. Mr. and Mrs. Cockin visited the University for the duration of the Fall term and gave added stimulus and direction to the work accomplished and projected. The programme of the association has been augmented to include special addresses from time to time in Hart House and elsewhere, social service work, the use of the Chapels in Hart House and in Knox College, joint meetings of the men and women in study groups, as well as the regular study groups and Conferences. Through all there is kept in mind the central purpose of the entire student movement.

Victoria Students' Christian Movement

O many connected with it, the S.C.M. means an association of thinkers. It appears rather unfortunate that some people finish their university course without doing any independent thinking about religion, either blindly accepting everything they once were told, or cynically rejecting all religion as sanctimonious. That is why the S.C.M. would like to challenge everyone by the life of Jesus, and all that it implies.

The outstanding factors in the Vic. S.C.M. this year have been the Elgin House and Island Conferences, and the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Cockin to our university. Vic. girls are exceptionally happy in having Miss Kilpatrick as head of the Union.

Due to the emphasis placed on study groups, the Sunday teas at Annesley, pet target for the ridicule of the Philistines, were purposely neglected in the Fall; but those who attended them in the Spring found that they had a real value.

Particularly noticeable this year is the increased interest shown in group activity. But the contribution of the S.C.M. cannot be estimated by statistics. It must ever be an individual realization that Christ spoke truly "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God."

Dental Students' Christian Association

THE Dental Student Christian Association is an integral part of the University Student Christian Association, and through it a part of the National Association. The executive is elected at the time of the General Faculty elections, and is comprised of a president and secretary-treasurer elected from the senior year, and a representative from each of the several years.

The Association aims to carry out its work through discussion groups and personal contact. It also tenders a reception to the Freshmen Class shortly after the opening of the academic year. The Association also identifies itself with any programme put forward by the National Association, which this year took the form of a Student Friendship Campaign.

The funds of the Association are derived from voluntary contributions from those interested in the Word.

Wycliffe College Students' Mission Society 1925-1926

HIS select assemblage of the Minor Prophets is representative of the spirit of the College which stands for Missionary effort in the truest sense. To those who have been fortunate enough to be selected for executive positions in the Society the College looks for leadership in so far as Student Mission activities are concerned. The motto of the Society breathes the spirit which animates all its dealings, for it speaks of the great work to which its members are called. "Preach the Gospel" is its watchword and to do this demands the highest type of spirit, if success is to be gained. It is the Society's hope that its work may be out of all proportion to its size, and its influence for good as great as its desire to carry out the Master's will.

The Varsity

NAPPRECIATED, underslept, unpaid! — thus in the past The Varsity's noble night editors sacrificed selfish comforts in a truly public-spirited manner in order to produce a paper which is more slandered than the worst, and more sought after than the best of our great dailies.

This year, however, things have changed. The "powers that be" have at last decreed that night editors should be paid the magnificent sum of one dollar a night. With one dollar, one night editor is able to purchase his share in a pieeating contest staged nightly in a nearby restaurant.

The night editor is not the sole producer of the undergraduate newspaper, as he frequently requires to be reminded. It is his duty to write the glaring head-lines and put the finishing touches to the news which a large staff of reporters has gathered during the day—or night. The editorial column inspired many heated arguments which took place through the medium of the correspondence column. The male element in the university expressed its views on the subject of a professional rugby coach, while the women urged for more speedy action regarding plans for a new women's building; and both showed hearty approval of the editorial stand on the matter of the late closing at Christmas. One known as "A Male Free Lance" felt called upon to endorse the opinions expressed in a certain rare bit entitled "The Feminine Touch," while "Another Point of View" entered the discussion in opposition to His Freelanceship.

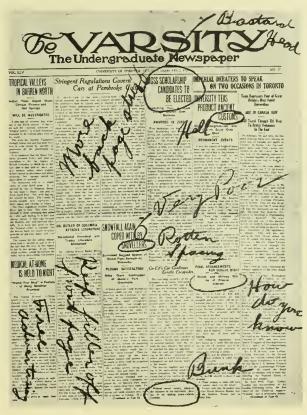

The Telegram gave The Varsity some free publicity by taking exception to the "learned pacifism" expressed in its editorial column and by scathingly criticising not only The Varsity, but the whole university, including even members of the faculty. Allied with the evening paper was Thomas Langton Church, M.P., ex-Mayor of Toronto, who, claiming Toronto as his Alma Mater, felt it necessary to add his voice in disapproval and alarm. When The Telegram actually took the trouble to publish the ages of the staff, many were the revelations made, considering the fact that accuracy in this respect was not the most notable feature of "The Tely." Even Champus Cat purred joyfully at this opportunity for feline wit. During the year the Kitty, in the person of a certain Bee Gee, upheld the traditions of the office by providing the daily laugh to waken bored students from mental supersonnia, the inevitable result of dry lectures. Jno., of last year's fame, contributed an occasional wise one, just to let the world know that he was still able to scratch.

Busy students could again consult "The Mood of the Mode" and from a paragraph learn the gist of prevailing fashion fads. An innovation in the form of a "Profisms" column had a thriving existence until the professors became too modest, and, not wishing to appear so often in print, closed their lips upon the gems of wit and wisdom which had been so eagerly devoured by their listeners (especially The Varsity staff). Student Verse, the ardent outpourings of undergraduate genius, died a natural death from lack of fuel.

A new departure on the sporting page, a column entitled "Co-Ed Gym Jots," was lined up opposite "Speakof Sport." "The Conning Tower" was replaced for one day by "Mount Sinai" and finally became "The Spirit of the Age," under which head a collection of valuable quotations from well-known writers appeared daily until the column editor, true to the sentiment expressed in the heading, took unto himself a wife.

From outward appearance and from inside information, it would seem that The Varsity and its creators spent a truly prosperous year.

Torontonensis

UILDING on the strong foundations laid by the previous board of editors, the staff of Torontonensis '26 has attempted to rear a structure worthy of carrying forward the traditions established last year. While much has been done to develop the book it is realized that the purpose has been to unfold in concrete form the ideas already formulated and that this year's Annual can embody only one stage in the progress towards a more or less definite goal. Originally the year book of the graduating classes, Torontonensis has come to be an interpretation, by the medium of the modern printers' and engravers' arts, of the spirit permeating undergraduate life throughout the University, by a reproduction of the formal and informal aspects of student activity during the year.

With this end in view a different arrangement of the material has been adopted to which attention may be drawn. Those things which may interest only a particular group of readers have been conveniently placed in one section. Sections of general interest on the other hand have been enlarged while new features have been added. University rather than Faculty interest has been stressed. All material pertaining exclusively to the graduating year has been gathered together under the heading "Seniors." The Sporting sections have been enlarged and Social and Campus Life Sections added.

In art work, while this year's annual will again take its place among the best of the Canadian year books, Torontonensis has only begun its development.

The same is the case among practically all the Canadian University Annuals and leadership in the future will depend to a large extent on the development of this department. As far as actual printing is concerned, Torontonensis '26 has made a distinct advance in the adoption of two-colour work throughout.

An achievement of which time alone will unfold the true significance has been the inauguration of the "Association of Canadian College Annuals." Sponsored by Torontonensis, the first conference was held during the Fall term at this University. Besides the benefit undoubtedly derived by the larger annuals through this interchange of ideas, the Association should prove of untold value to the smaller annuals which are rapidly working up into the class of the more pretentious publications. The development of the Association lies in the hands of future year book staffs. On their efforts and co-operation the life and efficiency of the organisation depend. To them also is given the opportunity of constructing year by year an all-embracing College Publication Association in which provision will eventually be made for the inclusion of a High School and Collegiate Institute department. Much benefit should result to these publications from the advice and co-operation of the University editors as well as from the comparison of their own ideas.

The aim of the present volume has been to be an illuminating, intimate review of the year. It has been the hope of the staff that this annual will be successful also in educating the student body as to the value and meaning of Torontonensis to the University and to the individual. The co-operation of many who have been connected in one way or another with the production of the volume has been a source of encouragement and appreciation to the staff. The seeming indifference of some members of the student body to the whole year book idea has been unfortunate and especially deplorable in the cases where it has resulted in the omission of material in a volume which is bound to be the best publicity medium through which the University is represented.

Acta Victoriana

CTA VICTORIANA is published seven times during the college year and is under the auspices of the Students' Parliament and the Women Undergraduates' Association of Victoria College. It has had the longest and most uninterrupted existence of any Canadian College publication. This year it celebrates its Golden Jubilee by in a revelopment Vellow Lacket, striking contrast to the austeriou appearing in a resplendent Yellow Jacket—striking contrast to the austerity of the first number of 1875, edited by Professor Arthur P. Coleman and managed by Sir Clifford Sifton. Despite the good journal's age, velut arbor aevo, or in the chaster phrasing of our day; There's Life in the Old Giraster phrasing of our day; There's Life in the Old Girl Yet . . . And long may there be! During this long and checkered career the gallant old soul has lived through periods of drought and decadence of local preoccupation, succeeded by halcyon eras in which the names of most of the celebrities and nearcelebrities of the day have appeared in its table of contents. Under the present dispensation, which period the Editor has affectionately dubbed The Great Conciliatory (for the benefit of posterity and the Oxford historians) the paper prints articles by journalists, professors and undergraduates, the latter preponderating, and all conveying a minimum of instruction. In addition Acta carries a department of Alumni news and records in a more or less palatable form the social and athletic doings of Victoria.

St. Michael's College Year Book

INCE the date of its inception in 1910 the year book of St. Michael's College has appeared annually to chronicle the various student activities of the year. All branches of college life are duly recorded literary, Athletic, Academic and social—and thus make the publication of supreme importance to both graduates and undergraduates of St. Michael's and the affiliated colleges of Loretto and St. Joseph's.

Each year sees an advance in circulation and thus with select advertising it is possible to present to the students a more complete and superior edition. The editorial and business staffs are chosen from the student body and are entirely responsible for the appearance and publication of the year book. There is a committee composed of one or two business men from the city, the editor-inchief and business manager of the previous year and a member of the Arts staff which acts in conjunction with the book but only in an advisory capacity. It is the aim of this year's staff to present an annual that will uphold the high traditions of previous editions in all particulars. The year book holds a high place among the annual publications of Canada, not only in its literary work but in the excellence of its art work, photography and general appearance. It was one of the four annuals represented at a meeting at Hart House this year, being associated with Toronto, Queen's and Western University Annuals.

The Editorial Board for 1925-26 is presided over by Mr. T. J. Berrigan as editor-in-chief and with him are associated on the literary staff Mr. N. O'Leary as Art Editor, Mr. M. J. Quinlan as News Editor, Mr. H. J. Haffey as Sporting Editor and Messrs. B. J. Harrigan, B. W. Hamilton and J. Kelly. Miss C. # University of Toronto Medical Journal

HE Undergraduate Journal has had a very successful and encouraging year. Published for the Medical Society of the University of Toronto, it presents to the student many valuable articles and accounts of recent and verified research. Numerous staff papers have undoubtedly aroused interest in the professional journals, unfortunately so little read by the average undergraduate. Graduate subscribers find in them a means for keeping in touch with former instructors. Several graduates have contributed as have also sister Canadian Medical Schools. Valuable means is afforded for closer communication between the Medical Society and the undergraduate body. The athletic items have proven very popular. Of most importance, the Journal serves as a medium for student expression. Pre-eminent papers are published from numerous small discussion groups and reading clubs in existence throughout the faculty. This not only lends support to these organizations and elevates their standard but the competition for and the preparation of these papers for publication proves of untold value to their authors.

A survey of this, the third year of the Journal's publication, indicates a steady advance. We have been honoured in the reprinting of several of our papers by other publications, notably the Medical Bulletin of this University. The Journal has increased considerably in size. The present volume comprises some hundred pages. The more extensive table of contents has come nearer to satisfying every reader. This is reflected in the increased circulation. An endeavour to overcome the difficulty of keeping the Journal suitable to all years was made by including biographical and other articles of general medical interest.

Transactions and Year Book

N the Transactions and Year Book of the Engineering Society has been found an adequate medium whereby to record the purposes, activities and achievements of the engineering undergraduate.

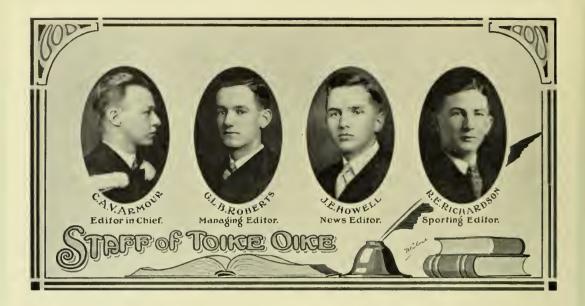

It has been the purpose of the Board in the past to include in this book something of interest to graduate and undergraduate alike, with the result that the mailing list now includes old Schoolmen in the far flung corners of the globe.

The "Applied Science" occupies the first section of the Annual. It consists of addresses delivered before the Engineering Society, throughout the years together with other papers of technical interest.

The volume is completed by a record of the activities throughout "School" for the past year. Each class, each club, has its memoir, with illustrations and photographs; every branch of athletics, every social event, is recorded with the vim typical of the Schoolman's efficiency in these departments of university life.

Thus Transactions is to the engineering student what Torontonensis is becoming to the University as a whole.

Toike Oike

HE Toike Oike is the official organ of the Engineering Society. It was created and first printed during the war period, and since then it has appeared more or less spasmodically, supporting the motto, "Printed every now and then."

This year it was thought to be in the best interests of the students to make the paper a periodical. Items of general interest and more particular those relating to special functions have featured its publications.

The paper is printed in the form of a four page folder, containing no advertisements and financed from the funds of our Society. Though it is fundamentally an undergraduate news medium, it is read by many graduates.

Hya Yaka

N the year 1903, due to the efforts of Dr. W. E. Willmott, the first editorial board of Hya Yaka was organized. Dr. Leslie Oliver had the honour of being first editor of this official publication of the undergraduate body of the then Royal College of Dental Surgeons. Now it appears as the official publication of The Faculty of Dentistry, of the University of Toronto.

In its early infancy the issues numbered four a year, and during the Great War the work was carried on with difficulty. Since the war however, times have flourished with Hya Yaka and a steady growth in size, number and popularity has taken place.

In its fourfold endeavour to stimulate literary achievement among the undergraduates, to furnish the students with the latest developments in Dental research, to record sporting activities, and act as a medium for social and personal news items, it has become indispensible in the Dental students' life.

This year terminates a most successful season in the publication's existence and the profession of Dentistry appreciates the efforts of the past year's staff under the leadership of J. R. Hoag. Tomorrow approacheth with every confidence for an even bigger and better Hya Yaka.

University Women's Press Association

NIQUE in its position of being one of the few Undergraduate Societies, whose membership is open to the women students of all colleges, the Women's Press Association came into being December 1919. Since then it has pursued a most successful career, maintaining its original policy of fostering the interest of journalism in the University.

The members have had excellent opportunities of coming in personal touch with several eminent Canadian writers. Augustus Bridle, Archie P. McKishnie, Mary Lowry and Norma Philips Muir, have been among the many distinguished guests, who have "tea'd" and "talked" at the Club's delightfully informal meetings.

It must not be thought, however, that the Club's whole time and energy is spent in hearing the experiences of already well-established journalists. On the contrary, half the meetings at least are given over to original work. This practice seems most beneficial in that it gives youthful writers the opportunity to create, to be criticized and advised in a most friendly manner, while they are still in the "Ideal world of College." Thus, drama, poetry and prose, all issue forth from amateur pens and many compositions of real worth find their way into the dusty archives of the Association, for all original work is the private property of the Club.

Of the members of the Women's Press Association, though their day dreams may never be realized and after graduation they may pursue occupations far removed from Journalism, in college at least, it may be truly said, to use Kipling's immortal words.:—

> "—They have sold their hearts to the old Black Art We call the Daily Press."

Imperial Debating Team at Toronto

OLLOWING the precedent set in 1923 and established in 1924 by the visit of the Oxford University Debating Team and later a team from Cambridge University, Toronto enjoyed a visit this year from an Imperial team composed of representatives from Oxford, London, Edinburgh and Birmingham Universities. Unlike the teams from Oxford and Cambridge who visited Toronto as incidental to a tour of the Universities of the United States, the Imperial team has confined its tour entirely to the Universities of the Dominions. This arrangement has been made possible through the work of the National Union of Students in Great Britain and the energy of Colonel Bovey of McGill in arranging the Canadian schedule.

The team, which arrived in Toronto on February 7th, numbered amongst its members, Mr. R. Nunn May, the representative from Birmingham University. Mr. May was President of the Guild of Undergraduates while in attendance there. Later he became President of the National Union of Students and while in office convened the Imperial conference of students.

NUNN MAY Birmingham

Mr. T. P. McDonald, the member of the team representing Edinburgh University, was President of the Students' Representative Council while an undergraduate there. He was also President of the Liberal Association and the University branch of the League of Nations Union. He is at present Treasurer of The Confédération Internationale des Etudiants.

The Oxford University representative, Mr. A. H. Molson of New College was President of the Oxford Union, the Oxford Carlton Club and the Conservative Association.

Mr. Paul Reed, the fourth member of the team, while an undergraduate at King's College, London, was Vice-President of the London University Union and the first Editor of the University magazine Vincula. He is a prominent speaker for the Labor party and will on his return to England enter upon a career in journalism.

MOLSON Oxford

REED King's College London

On Monday and Tuesday the visiting team spent the time in meeting a number of groups of undergraduates and in seeing something of the University. Tuesday night Mr. Reed, Mr. Nunn May, and Mr. Molson debated the subject, "Resolved that Western Civilization is Becoming a Degenerating Influence to Mankind." They were opposed by Mr. Edwin Davies, President of the School of Science Debating Chub, Mr. Alex. Stark '26, University College and Mr. Paul Martin, a graduate of St. Michael's College now attending Osgoode Hall.

S. P. S., Toronto

In spite of the eloquence of Oxford, the suave logic of Birmingham and the witty caricatures by London of the degenerating influences of this day and generation, the judges were of the opinion that the calm exposition by S. P. S. of the beneficial influences in the evolution of western civilization, the ardent declaration of the humanitizing elements in western society, by University College, and the fervent defense of western thought, feeling and action by St. Michael's proved that western civilization was not becoming a degenerating influence to mankind. The vote of the audience however, tended to favour the visitors.

On Wednesday night the four members of the Imperial team divided their forces and took a leading part in the Hart House parliamentary debate which stated "That in the opinion of this House women have more than come into their own." The ayes were in the majority under the inspiration of the addresses by Mr. Molson and Mr. R. Nunn May. For the noes Mr. Paul Reed and Mr. T. P. McDonald upheld the aspirations of the modern woman.

An invitation by the Empire Club to address their luncheon on Thursday gave the members of the Imperial team an opportunity to present their views on the intricacies of the relation between the different members of the British commonwealth of nations.

Intercollegiate Debating Union

HE Literary Organisations Committee of the Students' Administrative Council, with Alan T. Van Every as Convenor this year, has been especially active. In November it was represented at Montreal at the annual meeting of the executive of the Can. Inter-University League, where, it was desided to invite three western Onterio

Debating League, where it was decided to invite three western Ontario universities to join the series. In December it assisted the League of Nations Society in arranging a Sunday evening meeting at Convocation Hall addressed by Senator Dandurand. In February an Imperial debating team representing English and Scottish universities visited Toronto and debated with a Varsity team, the latter successfully opposing the resolution.

D. J. Walker and H. M. Bissett composed the Varsity team which debated in Kingston with Queen's University this year; and J. E. McKeon and W. Lyndon Smith opposed the McGill team in West Hall of University College, the same night. The subject debated was "Resolved that a system of proportional representation should be adopted in Canada"

Many challenges and invitations were received from American universities during the course of the year, but a full programme made it necessary to decline all but a few. This is an indication of the reputation the university is acquiring because of the keen general interest of its members in forensic activities.

Inter-College Debating Union

HE promotion of debating is amongst the most commendable of undergraduate activities. Though ability in public speaking and debating is one of the prime requisites in many of the spheres of life which graduates will enter, comparatively little effort is made on the part of most students to cultivate the art of self-expression.

Even our best debaters are outclassed, when they enter into competition with men from the English Universities, who display perfect technique and polished style. Too great stress cannot be laid on the importance of debating, and any effort made to increase interest in this activity is worthy of whole-hearted support.

The Inter-College Debating Union exists for the purpose of encouraging debating among the colleges of the city. Any college may join the Union; membership is not confined to the University. This year, nine colleges, two of which are outside the University, are actively engaged: University College, Victoria College, Trinity College, Royal College of Dental Surgeons, St. Michael's College, Osgoode Hall, School of Practical Science, McMaster University and Wvcliffe College.

An annual series of debates is conducted by the Union. Subjects of public interest are chosen. By the elimination process, the losing colleges fall out, one college alone surviving the last round. It is presented with the Kerr shield. As a rule, a different team represents its college in each succeeding debate, so that as many men as possible are given an opportunity to speak, and thus the debating standard of the college is indicated.

The Union debates are characterized by a high order of speaking and by a mild support on the part of the colleges interested, a support that could be strengthened into definite enthusiasm. The valuable training given the participants is instrumental in fitting some of them for entry into the University of Toronto debating team, where there are opportunities for intercollegiate debating.

Women's Intercollegiate Debating Union

HE Women's Intercollegiate Debating Union has had the misfortune to be misunderstood. Contrary to the general impression it possesses a well founded constitution and claims a long and interesting history.

Each college supports a local debating society which ferrets out oratorical talent and trains it in intergear contests. All the colleges and McMaster University form a union which conducts an interfaculty series. Both types of organisations are of long-standing in Toronto and have justified their existence in the opportunities they have offered to women interested in public speaking—or in college spirit.

Last year a new organisation was projected which offers even wider scope to embryo orators and which stimulates interest in a more spectacular manner. The Intercollegiate Debating Union, comprising McGill, Queen's and Varsity, stages three debates simultaneously at Montreal, Kingston and Toronto, each University supporting one team at home and one abroad.

An effort has been made to choose subjects of general interest and of some variety. A departure was made this year, from the usual political program of debating societies, in the choice of subject "Resolved that the trend of English and American literature is anti-social." Miss D. Sanders of St. Hilda's and H. O'Reilly of University College formed a strong affirmative team in Toronto, and Miss J. Phelaw and Miss N. Storey of St. Michael's maintained the negative in Montreal.

St. Michael's College Oratorical Club

ONSTITUTING an important part in the liberal education provided by a university is the development of the oratorical abilities of its undergraduates. Ample facilities for the achievement of their desires are always offered and in this regard the University of Toronto is no exception. There are interfaculty debates, oratorical contests and such student organizations devoted to this work. Of these organizations there is one prominent for its originality, its method of functioning and for the great success it has achieved. This is the Oratorical Club of St. Michael's College.

Started in 1923, the Club has progressed rapidly in the intervening years and has already far eclipsed the expectations of its founders. One of the chief requirements for membership is that the students have not had much, if any, experience in speaking before an audience. Thus it is essentially for those who would like to develop their hidden talents in the art of oratory, and for those who consider themselves not finished speakers. The membership of the Club is restricted to fifteen and this exclusiveness is one of the chief factors which has brought about its popularity. At present there is a waiting list of fifteen applicants from which list will be chosen a number to fill in the vacancies left by the graduates of this year. Weekly meetings are held and each member receives a chance to deliver a speech once every three weeks. The delivery of this speech, friendly criticism of the speech by other members of the Club together with strict attendance at meetings under pain of expulsion if more than one meeting is missed, are the panacea for all oratorical ills of its members.

The improvement in the speeches of the members and the interest of the school as evinced in the open meeting held during the year, make sufficient warrant for its existence.

St. Joseph's Debating Society

EBATING at St. Joseph's is steadily increasing in-shall we say popularity?- among collegiate activities. No longer need a frantic "rep" assail a timid damsel and by the gentle art of persuasion endeavour to win her assent to figure in public speaking, for the list of those interested is rapidly growing. This is largely due to the success of St. Michael's Women's team in intercollegiate debating, for they have for the past two years held the shield of victory, and bid fair to add the season 1925-26 to their list of achievements. In their autumnal debate with St. Hilda's, "Resolved, that pacifism is necessary in the preservation of our civilization," the decision was given in their favour. Miss Norma Duffy represented St. Joseph's.

Intervear debating at the college has been kindly fostered by the Literary Society. The informal atmosphere of the students' common room, where tea follows discourse, has helped to make the initial appearance of the young orators less of an ordeal. The systems of government in India and in Ireland, the relative merits of monarchy and democracy, have been some of the topics covered, and along literary lines, the work of modern dramatists has been argued and contrasted.

School Debating Club

HE existence of the Debating Club in the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering indicates that the average Engineering student is not lacking in appreciation of the fundamental importance of public speaking and self-expression, as they apply to his own profession.

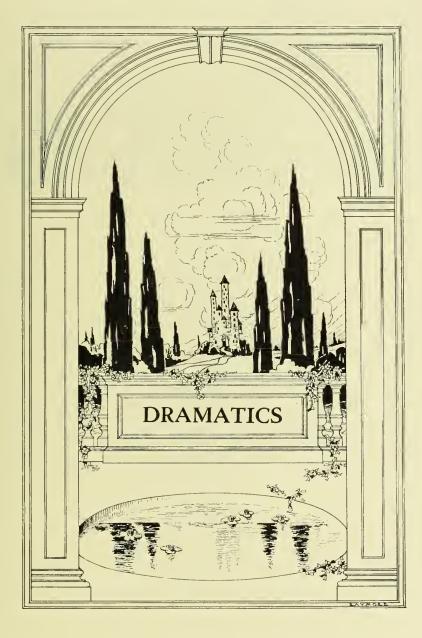

The activities of the Club have been so arranged that the benefits to be derived from attendance at the meetings accrue not only to those who already possess marked oratorical power and eloquence, but also to those whose awakening interest in public speaking leads them to take an active part in club proceedings for the first time.

The programme as outlined by the Club executive embraces interfaculty debating, interyear debating and general club meetings in which each member takes part in an impromptu discussion of some topic which is of interest to the Engineering student. These meetings give the inexperienced member an opportunity for self expression that could not be obtained at either interyear or interfaculty debates.

The more experienced speakers find in the intervear debating contest for the Segsworth trophy a medium through which to display their talent and establish themselves as possible representatives of the faculty in coming debates.

At the end of the year's activities an oratorical contest is held, which is a criterion of the measure of proficiency attained by the club members.

The Players' Guild of University College

HE Players' Guild of University College was the first undergraduate organisation to have for its object not primarily the producing of plays, but rather the development of student interest in the theatre and everything connected with it. Meetings are held every Wednesday afternoon in the Auditorium of the Womens' Union and individual members assume full responsibility for the programmes. One-act plays, produced with a minimum of scenery and followed by discussions, talks by authorities on various matters connected with the theatre, even occasional outbursts of student energy in the form of burlesques and vaudeville turns—something interesting happens at every meeting. Features of the Guilds' activities during the Fall term were: Principal Hutton's brilliant address on Gilbert and Sullivan, the production of original plays by some members of the Guild, and the evening production of Lord Dunsany's "If," which was put on with full settings, costumes and lighting, with a cast of twenty, and necessitated four complete changes of scenery. The consensus of opinion among the members of the Guild was that it was a distinct success. Throughout the year weekly programmes have included plays by Morley, Yeats, Cannan, Shaw, Galsworthy, O'Neil, H. G. Wells, Arnold Bennett, Dickens and Dunsany.

These productions are for members only, so that the players may always be assured of a keenly interested and highly critical group of spectators. All production expenses are paid out of the small annual membership fee. There is no admission charge for any of the performances, but those interested, other than undergraduates may become associate members, and so share in the activities of the organisation.

The members of the Guild have constructed all their own equipment, designed, built, and painted their own scenery, and made their own costumes. The theatre is the meeting-place of many arts, and most of them find active devotees in the Players' Guild of University College.

Victoria College Dramatic Society

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players"

O provide an outlet for the histrionic ability of its members and to encourage amateur theatricals in general has been the consistent object of the Victoria College Dramatic Society. Owing its inception to a group of undergraduates professing a serious interest in dramatics the society was, until recently, composed of a limited number of members known as "The Little Theatre Players." In an effort to generate more general enthusiasm for a subject so deserving of support, all limitations as to membership were removed in 1924 and the steady growth in size and interest since that time has attested the wisdom of the change.

It has never been the policy of the society to devote its entire resources and energies to the production of plays. In its effort to stimulate an intelligent appreciation of the drama, reading and discussion have always played an important part and at its regular meetings the members have on various occasions to meet and hear several of the leading exponents of the art of the theatre. The present academic year has witnessed an innovation in the formation of groups organized to promote the intensive study of theatrical problems from every angle.

The actual production of plays has however, not been neglected. Each year has seen at least one major undertaking carried to a successful conclusion, and among them have been "The Romantic Age," Shaw's "Penelope" and "Fanny's First Play," and Aldous Huxley's transcription of Mrs. Sheridan's eighteenth century comedy "The Discovery". In addition to the somewhat heavy responsibilities which these have involved, there have been undertakings of a less serious nature in the form of bills of one-act plays which have included Dell's "Sweet and Twenty," Dunsay's "The Lost Silk Hat" and Gerstenberg's "Fourteen."

During the last two years the destinies of the society have been largely in the hands of Mr. Wm. Clarke, a recent graduate of Victoria and one of the earliest members of the society. To a large extent the equipment, costumes and accessories have been the work of the members and it is a deserved tribute to their efficiency to say that technical difficulties have always been reduced to the minimum.

Victoria College "Bob" Committee

HE Institution of the Victoria "Bob" dates back to 1871, when Robert Beare first became janitor of Victoria College. Through his kindliness and good humour, Bob soon won the hearts of the students, and it is recorded, on a certain November evening when a few students gathered together for an impromptu concert, Bob, with his rare talent for music, received hearty applause for his performance on the violin. This marked the beginning of the annual "Bob." Steadily it developed, until to-day perhaps no function occupies a more prominent place in the hearts and minds of those whose activities centre around Victoria.

The fifty-third annual "Bob" under the caption "Applesauce," and discribed as a tragedy in three acts, passed into history on October 16th. Burwash Hall was crowded when the Freshman year, clad in white jackets faced with scarlet and gold ribbons, filed in under the direction of a Rephistophehan song leader. The Sophs hurled taunts and derision at the poor frosh in song, while they, languishing under a flood of green light, replied in like manner to the best of their ability.

During a lull in the musical battle, the chairman, Prof. H. E. Ford, announced the commencement of the main part of the programme, a play showing the adventures of a typical frosh, one Charlie Perkins, and his first contact with Vic. Mother's warning, father's advice and sworn loyalty to the home-town girl, were well portrayed. Meeting the members of the faculty, Charlie discovers that even the gods on high Olympus have their peculiarities, and he is also introduced to residence life, much to his edification. The play was capped by Charlie's return to his own home town at Christmas with a few musical friends, who, under the direction of J. Stan. St. John, 2T8, put on a snappy musical act. This last scene formed the climax of one of the best "Bobs" ever produced.

St. Joseph's College Dramatic Club

HIS year St. Joseph's Dramatic Club, composed of its Arts students and a few alumnae members, took an important step in a new direction when it presented Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice."

The play may be literally termed a romantic comedy—comedy it is indeed, full of the humour and gentle satire peculiarly Jane Austen's, and romantic in the sense that the action hinges around the quest for husbands, for matrimony was the only respectable occupation open to the gentlewoman of that day. The characters belong to the class or country gentility to whom the prospect of a ball or a visit to Bath brought an indescribable thrill. Elizabeth, the heroine, is quite as excited over the arrival of an eligible male in the neighbourhood as are her sisters, and her mother. But she cannot overcome her prejudice for the handsome Mr. Darcy, friend of the affable Mr. Bingley who pays court to her sister, Jane. He on his part, will not allow his pride to stoop to admire her, for like Lord Byron, he cannot forget his aristocratic lineage. But in the end Elizabeth is forced to admit how rash have been her first impressions and pride and prejudice are reconciled, while Mrs. Bennet's joy is unbounded at the prospect of having three daughters married.

The acting was all on a very high order and no member of the cast failed to do full justice to the mirth-provoking situations and to the wit and sparkling satire with which the lines teem. The parts of Elizabeth and Mr. Darcy were admirably taken by Miss Mary Coughlin and Miss Helen Kramer, whose great versatility enabled her to also portray Mr. Collins, that rare specimen of unconscious humour. Lady de Bourgh, the aristocratic object of his toadyism, was a perfect vehicle for Miss Norma Duffy. Mr. and Mrs. Bennet lost nothing in the hands of Miss Camilla Coumans and Miss Marie Foley. Miss Camilla Wright was amusing as the type of early nineteenth century flapper. Mr. Bingley was played by Miss Kathleen Young, and Miss Helen Kernahan made a lovely picture as Jane.

Daffydil Committee

ITTLE did the famous pair, Barnum and Bailey think that their oft chanted slogan "the greatest show on earth" would be challenged by a Variety show produced in a Medical School. To those who have seen, understood, and learned to word greatest. appreciate, this annual stimulant, perhaps the superlative of "great" is not too concentrated a method of description to suit the case. For the memories of good times in connection with Daffydil, not only the performance with its many smart parodies, catchy ditties, and clever impersonations, but also the inner workings of the organization and the unrehearsed scenes off-stage, will long be remembered. Perhaps on some long, cold, winter's drive, or while combating malaria under a tropical sun, we may recall those happy events. Events, dating from our infancy in the Faculty, when, after the era of red cravats, axle grease, and pop-eved wonder, we climbed the endless stairs to the eerie heights of Convocation Hall. Heights, where dwelt the Cistern Choir and from which we tried to catch a glimpse of a performance very few understood and all professed to enjoy. As our academic course progressed, so did our interest in Daffydil, until the cryptic passages in Epistaxis were completely decipherable and the caricatures no longer a mystery. So it went, until our final year, when we sat with mingled feelings at the last performance of our undergraduate days. There we witnessed again, the ever-popular skit by the Medical Women, the close competition of the years for the Daffydil Cup and the final appearance of the members of '26 who so ably carried off the honours in the three previous years.

The memory of the Daffydil Banquet, given to the Judges, the Committee. and performers will probably be the brightest recollection in the minds of those who participated at that event. The Banquet, which came as a fitting climax to the preceding weeks of work, was indeed a feature. As in previous years, it proved to be a time when the inevitable examination question and answer were alike forgotten, where test tube and stethoscope were of no significance, and where the spirit of joviality reigned supreme. Truly, Daffydil is "the greatest show on earth."

Dental Dramatic Club

N the year 1920 the students at the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, now the Faculty of Dentistry, took it upon themselves to stage a theatrical performance, to be known as Dentantics. Each year puts on a skit in competition for the Agnew Shield. Dentantics is now in its sixth year each year progressing more favourably. Dr. Hoskin, the faculty representative for the past three years has always been actively interested in this work and his sound advice has helped to make Dentantics what it is; many others too, have done much to help towards its success. It has been well established as one of the chief activities about the school, and with the years should continue toward greater success.

Noctem Cuckoo, the Faculty Night for Dents was inaugurated in 1923. Hart House with its multiplicity of amusement facilities is transformed for the evening into a grand pleasure palace. The midway, swimming pool and gymnasium entertainments, also the musical programme, followed by dancing, all go to form a very delightful evening. Here again the different years vie with each other in staging the most original midway show. This year 2T7 were successful in carrying off the Gaston Brule-Cup, due chiefly to the efforts of Mr. "Chuck" Williams.

The entire entertainment was under the direction of Mr. Ken. Phillips, president of Dramatics, and who filled his office very capably.

University of Toronto Stringed Instrument Club

HE Stringed Instrument Club of the University of Toronto was first organised in the fall of 1922 by Messrs. Norman Samuels and Clarke Ashworth, who felt that there was a great need for an organisation through which the undergraduates could express their musical genius. Starting with a membership of a mere fifty students, it has grown and flourished until now it is one of the most successful organisations in the University.

For the purpose of bringing out the possibilities of each instrument the club was divided into three groups, the Hawaiian Group, the Mandolin Group, and the Banjo Group. The last mentioned group later became known as the "Banjazzers." While the club originally contained men only, it was soon felt that there was much musical talent among the women students, and accordingly the co-eds were formed into a separate group, which has since played an important part in the club's activities. There have also been from time to time several duets, trios, quartets, and quintets, as well as soloists upon whom the executive could always call to fulfil short-notice engagements.

Victoria College Orchestra

T the beginning of the academic year 1919-20, Victoria College lacked just one unit to make its number of student organisations complete, namely, an orchestra organised and holding regular practices. Accordingly on Oct. 23rd, 1919, a tea was held in Annesley Hall Common Room for the purpose of interesting prospective orchestra members in arranging a schedule for the season. The director of the department of music in the University of Toronto, Dr. Vogt, was present, spoke a few words of encouragement, and in glowing terms introduced Mr. Frank Blachford of the Conservatory of Music whose services as conductor the Orchestra was most fortunate in securing.

Mr. Blachford is still the conductor of the Orchestra and Miss Addison has been Honorary President since the beginning.

A two-hour practice is held each week, for twelve weeks, at the end of which time a concert is given.

Though the Orchestra is under the patronage of friends of Victoria College, it is open to all men and women of the University, and the executive includes members of any faculty or college. This organisation enjoys the distinction of being the only symphonic orchestra in the University.

Selections from such composers as Mozart, Beethoven, Wagner, Schubert, Dvorak, Liszt, Gounod, Massenet and Bombic, have formed some of the studies of the Orchestra. Among the assisting artists have been Mr. Frank Oldfield, Mr. Arthur Blight and Mr. Campbell McInnes.

Victoria College Glee and Choral Club

HIS is a society whose purpose is to promote the cause of vocal music in the University. Though it consists principally of students of Victoria College, membership is always open to a few students of other colleges or faculties who desire the pleasure and experience afforded by participation in its activities.

For many years this organization, together with the one of which it is the outgrowth, has been accomplishing its aim. The Victoria College Glee Club had established a reputation for good concerts before the War. When the male registration of the College had decreased until such a club could no longer be carried on, the Ladies' Choral Society was organized to engage in similar work and uphold the College name in this connection. Upon the re-organization of the Glee Club, the two societies united for the production of annual concerts, with much success.

In the season 1924-1925 a new departure was introduced by substituting for the concert programme one of light opera. This added an appreciable degree of dramatic experience to the musical training gained by members. "The Wishing Cap," by E. W. Miller, was the first operatic attempt of the Club, and incidentally of any student body in this University. It was so well acclaimed by all who heard it, and gave so much enjoyment to those engaged in its production, that there was an enthusiastic decision to continue in this line of work.

This year an enterprise a little more ambitious was launched in undertaking one of Gilbert and Sullivan's works, "The Mikado," which was played for four nights in the first week of February in the U.T.S. theatre, under the very able direction of Mr. George Stewart, with orchestral accompaniment. "The Mikado" was an excellent channel for the Club's efforts, for its general stage work is highly interesting and amusing, and challenges the talents of its performers: while in solo and choral parts it has a beauty and strength all its own.

With a continuance of the deeply appreciated support of the University and others interested in amateur operatic endeavour, this organization will attain to still greater achievements, for which the past has prepared and which the future appears to hold in store.

Toike Oichestra

HE Toike-Oichestra again appeared at the functions of "School" this year and distributed much "School Spirit" at the Annual Dinner of the Engineering Society which was held in November, in the Great Hall of Hart House.

The second appearance of the orchestra was at the dinner held in the Great Hall in honour of the Birthday of Warden J. B. Bickersteth, M.C., M.A. For this dinner the fifteen members were delighted to participate in the tribute to the great work being done by the Warden.

The third large event of the season was at the King Edward Hotel, where they added melody to the Reception Luncheon of the Engineering Institute of Canada in their annual meeting held in Toronto.

The members of the orchestra are to be congratulated on their generous gift of time and talent in contributing to the success of the above functions and the innumerable class smokers and dinners at which they have played.

North Residence

ORTH HOUSE has had a very successful year. In addition to receiving the largest quota of freshmen on record, the house delivers to the various professions a number of young men whose academic careers augur well for their future success. With the addition of the dental faculty to the university the residence may now boast a representative of every calling. The housing under a single roof of men representing so many lines of endeavour, and geographically representing the whole of Canada, produces opinions of a most diverse character, and gives the student opportunities for conversation of a broad and entertaining nature.

In the various inter-house competitions, a creditable showing was made. Tennis, harriers, track, rugby, hockey, and swimming, are well represented in the house.

Student government exists in this institution, and under the able advice of the staff resident, Dr. Gilchrist, has vindicated itself in the orderly conduct of the men and the friendly relations existing between the houses throughout the year.

East Residence

"For what we are about to receive, thank God."

S usual East House is the bright spot of the campus. If there's anything worth doing, East House does it.

This fall we were invaded by a lot of hand picked new men and freshmen. A congenial little ceremony was held for their benefit and a cordial invitation extended to all.

The freshmen in particular seemed greatly appreciative of the attention paid them, and reciprocated nobly by answering the phone and collecting the mash notes for the house.

An informal and spontaneous reception was held for the Trinity newcomers on the campus. A selected band of delegates from East House did their best in conjunction with representatives of South and North Houses, to assure the immigrants a hearty welcome.

As a matter of fact, the actual evening's entertainment was much more enjoyable than the aftermath; from the residence men's point of view. Some people are so narrow minded.

For the first time in years we swept the boards in rugby, but politely stood aside and allowed South House the honours in the harriers. The tennis tournament is not yet decided to anybody else's satisfaction but our own, since we have as one of our inmates a finalist in the Hamilton City Tennis Tournament of this year. The social whirl has by no means been neglected, although we shoot cake-eaters on sight. Instead of having a house tea dance, a series of small corridor parties have been the vogue. In all cases the gentlemen's boudoirs were attractively decorated, although there was much variation in the type of lithograph used.

Taking it all around, like—(insert whatever's on your mind) we find the field clear of competitors of our calibre.

South Residence

NOTHER year has passed into the annals of South House, a year worthy from every point of view of being ranked with any of those past. Once more we send forth our quota well equipped to compete in life's battle. We see them go from us filled with joy because the long period of preparation is past and the time for action is at hand. We know that they will acquit themselves like men.

The House Committee, under the Presidency of Harry Waddington, so managed affairs that though new men accounted for over half our numbers, the old South House spirit was never more marked. The tea-dances were a complete success, socially and financially. The Residence Dance was the high light of the Fall social season.

Early in the Fall the House started on the road to maintain the Athletic Shield which it has held each year up to date. The House placed first in Harrier and Track as a starter. The performances of the new men in these events deserves special mention. They certainly took an active interest in House affairs from the start. The outcome of interhouse events, both social and athletic, shows that their interest was keen throughout the entire session.

What a year this has been! Will we ever fail to remember "Waddy's" humorous monologues, Mac's hearty laugh, our singing freshmen, the heated arguments regarding the latest fine, the janitors' overtime, the warm reception of the other houses when they make us a midnight call? It doesn't seem possible, that will slowly fade and then disappear. But, though these do go, let us hope that the mention of South House will never fail to stir the blood and bring a sparkle to the eye.

Argyll House

ALL trees and a wide sweep of lawn, grey towers and a high, irregular sky-line; these are the prospects which Argyll House presents from without. Within, a long hall and wide curving stairway are flanked on either side by high-ceilinged rooms, and Scotch sternness of exterior is relieved by the crackling warmth of grate fires here and there about the house, or the hospitable sound of rattling cups and the singing of the kettle in the kitchen.

"Arts and Meds, Meds and Arts,"-It is thus that a line of the timehonoured but not widely known Argyll yell proclaims the personnel of the dwellers within her doors. In addition to these faculties School of Science has an occasional representative, and Argyll can even boast of having harboured the first woman graduate in Commerce.

Several times a year strains of orchestra music issuing from Argyll startle the evening passer-by, accustomed to the death-like stillness of "quiet hour." On these occasions, the rare facilities which Argyll possesses for dispensing hospitality are demonstrated, and any illusions as to the old home's dreariness dispelled in an aura of light and warmth.

Proximity to the Stadium, Little Vic, Lillian Massey, the Museum, Yonge Street and many tea rooms, is the burden of temptation which the studious Argyllite must withstand. That she is not crushed to academic nothing-ness under the weight is witnessed by the fact that a due quota of Argyll seniors have become graduates in the past. Present residents entertain hopes of effecting a similar transformation before there comes to be foundation in the request of the old gentleman who, mistaking Argyll for the Museum, asked if he might see the mummies!

Queen's Hall By Miss Louise Livingstone, B.A.

WENTY-FIVE years ago a committee composed of women interested in the building of a residence for women undergraduates in the University met to consider the question of raising money for such a purpose. An organization known as the Women's Residence Association was formed, and money was collected for several years.

The proceeds of the University Saturday Lectures were turned over to this fund. In 1905 No. 7 Queen's Park was given to the University as a residence for women students, and in the same year an addition was built to this house. On obtaining the consent of the doners, the money which had been raised through the Women's Residence Association was used in furnishing this residence.

The increase in the registration of women in the University made the question of residence accommodation an urgent one. To meet this need No. 9 Queen's Park was opened in 1910 and No. 4 Queen's Park in 1912. This group of residences is known as Queen's Hall.

Mrs. John Campbell, widow of Professor John Campbell of Montreal Presbyterian College, was the first Dean. She was succeeded in 1914 by Miss Alice Parkin (Mrs. Vincent Massey), who had as her assistants Miss Carr Harris and Miss Cartwright. In July 1915, Miss L. I. Livingstone, a graduate of University College, was appointed, and still holds the position of Dean.

The illness of Miss Livingstone which necessitates her being absent during the greater part of this academic year is a source of deep regret and sorrow to all the students in Queen's Hall. The graduating year especially feel her absence keenly and will miss the message which she has always given to them through the pages of Torontonensis.

Queen's Hall House Committee

UEEN'S HALL! At these words kaleidoscopic pictures of residence life pass in rapid succession across our memory-first impressions of bare green walls, the meeting with one's roommate, midnight parties, proctorings, heated discussions of subjects frivolous and serious: phone calls, dances, gaitings, holidays, essays, feverish cramming, and-results.

Such is Queen's hall to the casual observer, but for those who have long enjoyed the shelter of its homely roof, it has a deeper meaning. Here we hold our freedom in our own hands. Here exists no arbitrary distinction between the years, but a co-operation based on courtesy and good comradeship.

As we approach our goal, with the inevitable separation ever drawing nearer, the invisible bonds grow firmer. Fain would we "stay awhile and play," for we realize only too well that:

"We may build more splendid habitations,

Fill our rooms with paintings and with sculptures,

But we cannot

Buy with gold the old associations."

Hutton House

UMULT of banging trunks—mighty chaos of goods and chattels ecstatic greetings of Seniors, observed enviously by new and diffident Freshmen—the busy rush of enrolment and house-warming—the old familiar routine of labs. and lectures. The solemn oath of allegiance to the House, sworn on bended knee—then the uproarious giance to the House, sworn on bended knee—then the uproarious spectacle of tame, performing Freshies, urged by stony-hearted, inexorable Sophomores—and hearty voices upraised in the historic strains of "Old Toronto, Mother ever dear."

The time-honoured custom of afternoon tea, with pungent sauce of brisk, heated argument on Church or Society, often degenerating into mere convivial gossip.

Green and violet spot-lights on rainbow dresses and conventional black and white, while the orchestra drifts into the teasing, melting lure of the last waltz. The breathless, unforgotton thrill of a vast, uplifted audience, under the spell of a master hand, or the moonlight-and-silver perfection of a song.

The occasional interlude of study, when an unreasonable professor demands an essay—the hectic flurry of last-minute cramming, with a Latin Dictionary in one hand, Voltaire's Prose in the other, and the Holy Bible propped against a Lab.-book on the desk—a blurred period of strained sessions in Examination Hall. Then graduation, with its brilliant kaleidoscope of bright dresses, picture hats and roses, striped ice-cream and sponge-cakes.

A complete and varied life-time crowded into four brief, glorious years. Dear Varsity! How we have loved the hoary, old, gray towers, the delightful charm of its free associations! God forever bless our Alma Mater!

THE SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Medical At-Home

HE winter months social and athletic activities find their glorious consummation in the latter part of January, and early days of February. These events herald lean days of leisure and long hours spent 'neath the weary beams of midnight oil. But for a few forgetful hours on occasions of long-anticipated joy, fleeing on phantom wings, all thought of labs, clinic and the gaunt spectre of approaching examinations may be cast to the winds.

This year the Medical At-Home returned to its former home, the King Edward, and far from the scenes of daily toil a gay and beautiful congregation crowded the stately ball-room. Beneath a grinning and winking moon, and huge clusters of ever-moving roses, couples danced and laughed.

Supper in the Pickwick Room was wildly hilarious, and the dancers returned to the floor with no thought of going home for many numbers to come. However, as an all-wise Caput has undertaken to see that students are in bed at a healthy hour, the evening had to pass into history as nought but a pleasant memory.

Dental At-Home

HE At-Home Committee is composed of the Hon. President along with six members of the student body. The president is a member of the cabinet and is elected for office at the parliamentary elections which take place at the close of the preceding year. As chairman of the committee he is assisted in his duties by five other members ing their respective years and receiving office at the class elections representing their respective years and receiving office at the class elections which are held in conjunction with the parliamentary.

The duty of the committee is the conducting of the social functions throughout the term.

The committee of 1925-26 has met with marked success, commencing on October 22, with the opening dance held in Columbus Hall. Novelties, good music, demonstration of Charleston by Professor Downing and partner, and a jovial appreciative crowd all combined to make the event most successful.

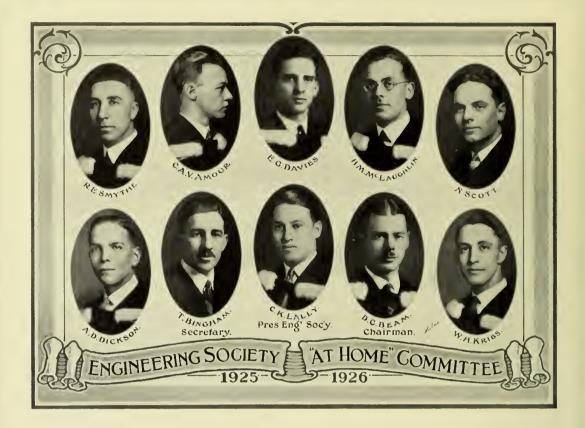

The yuletide dance held in the Rose Room of the Sunnyside Pavilion on Dec. 3rd, 1925, was voted one of the happiest evenings spent during the struggle for the diploma. The success of the party was undisputed.

The Pompeian Room of the King Eddy was the scene of the Annual Dental At-Home on Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1926. With Romanelli's orchestra in attendance and all details receiving due attention, we are proud of the successful manner in which this event was returned to its former locality.

At the time of going to press preparations are being made for the last but not least outstanding party of the year, the Graduation Dance. The type of support received up-to-date has warranted its success.

As Hon. Pres., Dean Seccombe has given inestimable assistance, with a co-operation highly appreciated by every member of the student body.

The term 1925–26 will live with us always and we shall not soon forget the social functions.

The Annual School At-Home

HE month of March is frought with worry and trouble for the Engineering student. Even nature seems to reflect the trend of the times through the medium of icy blasts and cloudy days, as the business of study becomes paramount and holds one and all in its desperate sway.

However, when Piper Pan takes up his flute for the last time, all is transformed. What matter if March's raging winds are howling outside or that examinations are but a month away? Inside the world has been transformed into radiant beauty. Soft lights playing on swaying couples, beauty reflected on all sides in radiant faces, the mellow strains of music floating on the air, laughter that tinkles here and there amid the happy throng, an atmosphere faintly fragrant with the most elusive charm of rare perfume; a perfect setting for the world's oldest story of youth and beauty.

The night of the School At-Home is a living memory for all who had the good fortune to take part in the many fascinating features of that occasion. An excellent orchestra, a darky entertainer, a sumptuous repast, and novelties of every description combined to make the evening one which is recorded as the premier event of the season.

HART HOUSE

The Founders' Prayer

"The prayer of the Founders is that Hart House, under the guidance of its Warden, may serve in the generations to come the highest interests of this University by drawing into a common fellowship the members of the several Colleges and Faculties, and by gathering into a true society the teacher and the student, the graduate and the undergraduate; further that the members of Hart House may discover within its walls the true education that is to be found in good fellowship, in friendly disputation and debate, in the conversation of wise and earnest men, in music, pictures and the play, in the casual book, in sports and games and the mastery of the body; and lastly, that just as in the days of war this House was devoted to the training in arms of the young soldier, so in time of peace its walls may be dedicated to the task of arming youth with strength and suppleness of limb, with clarity of mind and depth of understanding, and with a spirit of true religion and high endeavour."

Hart House

ART HOUSE is so called in memory of the late Hart Massey. Begun in 1911, it was completed in 1919 and presented, fully equipped, to the University of Toronto by the trustees of the Massey Foundation. To Vincent Massey, Vice-Chairman of the Massey Foundation, is due the idea of Hart House as well as the form it assumed under his personal supervision. From the autumn of 1914 until November, 1918, it was used for military purposes, and within its walls thousands of men were trained for service overseas. On the first anniversary of the Armistice-November 11th, 1919-Hart House was formally opened by His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, who was at that time the Governor-General of Canada. Mr. Henry Sproatt and Mr. Ernest Rolph were the architects of the building, which comes as near to meeting the requirements of the ideal House for student activities as any on this continent or perhaps in the world.

In its widest interpretation, Hart House, which is for the use of men only and is non-residential, seeks to provide for all the activities of the undergraduate's life which lie outside the actual lecture rooms. Architecturally of great beauty and built round a quadrangle, Hart House is unique in that it houses under one roof a finely proportioned hall, called "The Great Hall," Common rooms of every description, a library, a lecture room, a small chapel together with rooms for the use of the Student Christian Association, a studio for painting and sketching, photographic dark rooms, a billiard room, senior common rooms and dining rooms for both faculty and graduate members, an upper and lower gymnasium, both admirably equipped, separate rooms for boxing, wrestling and fencing, an indoor running track, a large swimming pool, racquet courts, an indoor rifle range, extensive locker rooms, offices for the Students' Administrative Council. also for the athletic and medical staff, a few bedrooms for guests, and the office and private rooms of the Warden. Below the quadrangle is a fully equipped theatre with fover, green room, dressing rooms, wardrobe and the office of the director of the theatre. Every male undergraduate of the University is required to be a member of Hart House, towards the upkeep of which he pays an annual fee of eight dollars. The House has no endowment and these fees are its chief source of revenue.

The care of Hart House and its welfare has to a large extent been entrusted to the undergraduates themselves. There are six Standing Committees – House, Hall, Library, Music, Billiard and Sketch. Each of these Committees consists of two Faculty members, one of whom is the Chairman, one graduate member, ten undergraduates and the Warden. Eight of the ten undergraduate members are elected annually by the whole undergraduate membership of Hart House, the other two being elected by their own number to serve on the same committee the following year. The personnel and duties of the Standing Committees subject to the authority of the Board of Stewards are as follows:

House Committee

The House Committee is the senior of the Standing Committees and has charge of the general management and social activities of Hart House. Under its supervision come all regulations governing the use of the House and all plans for the comfort and convenience of its members. The Barber Shop and Guest Rooms are under its care. The Committee is also responsible to the Board of Stewards for seeing that the House is kept in good repair both as regards its structure and equipment. The annual elections of the Committees of Hart House are also under the management of this Committee.

The direction of social affairs claims the attention of members of the Committee who in this connection are entirely responsible for the Hart House Masquerade which takes place in November and has now become the chief social event of the University Year. Last November eighteen hundred and fifty persons were present at this dance which from every point of view was a very brilliant and distinguished function.

The last Sunday of each month is Visitors' Day, when ladies introduced by members may visit the House. The arrangement of these functions is under the House Committee as are also the visits of prominent men who come to Hart House and address the student body in the Lecture Room after lunch. Such addresses have been given during the past year by Mr. St. Loe Strachey, Mr. J. H. Oldham, Mr. William Paton and others.

One of the outstanding events of this academic year was the Warden's Birthday Party. This was managed by a special committee, though members of the House Committee co-operated in the arrangements. On that occasion over six hundred Undergraduate, Graduate and Faculty members of Hart House gathered at dinner in the Great Hall to wish the Warden a happy birthday and to thank him for his work. The whole affair was a complete surprise to Mr. Bickersteth who till he entered the Great Hall that evening had no idea any such function was being arranged.

Members of the House Committee have served on the special "Songster" Committee which has arranged Sunday Evening Songsters in the Music Room and also midday Sing-Songs in the East Common Room.

Above all it is the object of the House Committee to foster all activities which lead to the fullest possible use of Hart House by its members and to encourage the ideals so perfectly expressed in the Founders' Prayer.

The members of the House Committee for 1925-26 are: The Rev. E. J. McCorkell, (Chairman), the Warden, Professor J. H. Parkin, J. R. Gilley (Comptroller), G. N. Kennedy (Graduate), C. A. Krug, (S.C.A.), V. X. McEnaney, (Secretary), J. F. R. Douglas, J. E. Graham, W. H. M. Laughlin, J. M. McCaffrey, W. A. Potter, R. E. Smith, W. F. R. Smith, A. R. Tilley, H. Waddington.

Hall Committee

As in former years the duties of the Hall Committee have been to exercise a general supervision over the Great Hall, the Graduate Dining Room, the Kitchen Department of Hart House and the Tuck Shop. During the present year under the Chairmanship of Professor H. B. Speakman the work of the Hall Committee has been carried on with success. The quality of the meals served in the Great Hall under the direction of Mr. Campbell (the Superintendent) has continued to meet with the approval of the undergraduates who frequent the Hall in large numbers. Meals have been served at the same moderate price as in previous years. Large numbers of undergraduates have used the Great Hall and great care has been taken so to organize the service that at the busiest hours there is no line-up or unnecessary delay. An innovation in the Tuck Shop has been the sale of sandwiches which was arranged to meet the demand of members. A number of large banquets have been given in the Great Hall during the present year, among others the Warden's Birthday Party. The Comptroller of Hart House (Mr. J. R. Gilley) in co-operation with Mr. Campbell has given much time and thought to the management of this Department of Hart House which each year is becoming more firmly established.

The Committee has given particular attention to the financial statements presented to it each month, and the many problems inseparable from a large and complex organization such as the Great Hall, in which hundreds of meals are served daily, have received careful consideration.

The members of the Hall Committee for 1925-26 are: Professor H. B. Speakman, (Chairman), the Warden, Dr. H. A. Hoskin, J. R. Gilley, (Comptroller), A. H. McBride, (Graduate), Leo Smith, (Faculty Union), C. R. Ferguson, (Secretary), W. A. Donohue, H. Hethrington, N. McFarlane, M. M. Putnam, C. G. Shaver, R. E. Smythe, H. A. Toole, J. E. Trelford, F. A. Wansbrough.

Library Committee

The Library in Hart House is recognized as one of the most beautiful rooms in the whole building.

In accordance with the idea of the Founders, the Library Committee has for the past seven years been engaged in the building up of a collection of books such as might be found in a good private library and as a result of their work the room has now become a popular resort of all those who like to spend their leisure hours reading the casual book.

At present there are 2800 volumes on the shelves about half of which are fiction, while the rest are composed chiefly of biography, history, languages and general literature. Additions to the Library are made at regular intervals and the activities of the Committee are chiefly centred around the selection of new books for purchase. Gifts also are received from time to time and in the last year Hart House has been particularly fortunate in this respect.

A valuable collection of rare Bibles was presented to the Library early in the year and gifts of their works have been received from Mr. J. St. Loe Strachey, the Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Sir Robert Falconer. The Library Committee is further responsible for the selection of periodicals for use in the Reading Room and the Graduate Common Room and in these departments of the House a wide range of weekly and monthly journals may be found.

The Curator, an undergraduate member, is responsible for the care and checking of books but no other supervision over the Library is exercised. From the first the policy of the Library Committee has been to keep the shelves open at all times and to encourage the feeling that the contents of the Library are the common property of members of Hart House. It is by this means that the unique character of the Library has been preserved.

The members of the Library Committee for 1925-26 are: Professor R. S. Knox, (Chairman), the Warden, Professor L. Allen, E. A. Beecroft, (Graduate), T. D. Noble, (Secretary), N. P. H. Brown, (Curator of Library), E. G. Davies, G. B. Flahiff, J. A. Irving, G. M. Kirkpatrick, R. M. Mitchell, A. L. Pidgeon, G. W. Ralfe, T. H. Ryan, E. V. Shute.

Music Committee

The Music Committee directs and generally supervises the various musical activities of the House. Its major function is to arrange a number of concerts and recitals and thus to encourage and stimulate an appreciation for good music among the undergraduate members of the House. Pursuing the policy of former years the Committee has, during the present academic year, arranged eight Sunday Evening Concerts, and a series of Friday Afternoon Recitals. The Sunday Evening Concerts, the most popular musical institution of the University, are held in the Great Hall of the House at 9 p.m. on Sunday evenings at intervals of three weeks during the term. Due to the kind generosity of the outstanding musicians of the city who give their services without remuneration on these occasions, the undergraduates are afforded the opportunity of hearing music of the highest order and it is evident from the very large audiences which regularly attend them how much these concerts are appreciated. Beginning in October and continuing till the end of March, the Friday Afternoon Recitals are held each Friday at 5 p.m. in the Music Room. These Recitals are less formal in nature than the Sunday Evening Concerts and have become exceedingly popular during the past year.

In an endeavour to extend the sphere of music in the University the Committee sponsored the production of Bach's St. Matthew's Passion which was given in Convocation Hall on Tuesday evening, 30th March, by several local choirs under the direction of Dr. Ernest MacMillan. It is the hope of the Committee that this will become an annual event and so develop further interest in music among the undergraduates.

The members of the Music Committee for 1925-26 are: Dr. J. M. D. Olmsted, (Chairman), the Warden, Professor J. G. Andison, F. R. MacKelcan, (Graduate), J. L. Goldie, (Secretary), E. H. Charleson, R. F. Chisholm, J. C. Dempster, E. H. Doney, D. D. Flett, W. H. Hannah, G. R. Lane, W. S. Milne, C. A. Pollock.

Billiard Committee

The Billiard Room of Hart House is a recreation centre for a large number of undergraduate members. It is under the control of the Billiard Committee. The general idea of the Billiard Committee of past years has been to promote the English game of Billiards in preference to other games. With this object in view three tournaments, Open, Ladder and Handicap, are held each year in the fall and winter months. To each winner and runner-up in these tournaments is given a suitable prize, such as the Hart House cup for the Handicap Tournament. This year the Committee was fortunate in securing the services of the Provincial Champion to play against the winner of the open tournament, thus affording a basis of comparison of the best players in the House against a professional. The exhibition was well attended and all those present found the game of great interest. The policy of the Billiard Committee has been in the past to replace the smaller tables with English Billiard tables until the room now has six full size billiard tables, two small size, and one pool table.

The equipment of the Billiard Room comes under the supervision of the Committee, extensive repairs being carried out each summer. A special treatment of the floor has been decided on during the past year and will be carried out during the summer vacation.

The Billiard Room is a source of revenue to Hart House and financial statements are placed before the Committee, which is directly responsible, as all other Standing Committees, to the Board of Stewards.

In conclusion it may be said that the Billiard Room has always stood for the highest ideals of sportsmanship and true friendship and it is hoped that this will ever be the case.

The members of the Billiard Committee for 1925-26 are: Professor W. M. Treadgold, (Chairman), the Warden, Professor E. J. Pratt, W. T. A. Bell, (Graduate), C. H. Riches, (Secretary), M. T. de Pencier, W. E. Gimby, A. F. Hollinrake, N. R. McConkey, S. E. Stacey, F. H. Stollery, F. B. Strangways, A. J. M. Webb, A. Wigle.

Sketch Committee

The Sketch Committee is responsible to the Board of Stewards for the Art Activities of Hart House. These include control of the Sketch Room, the holding of exhibitions therein, the Winter Loan Exhibition, which is hung in the principal rooms of the House, management of sketching classes under an artist and the occasional purchase of pictures.

The exhibitions held during the year of 1925-26 have drawn large numbers of men to the Sketch Room and the growing interest displayed in this department of Hart House has been most encouraging. Several well-known artists have shown their work, and delivered lectures at the open meetings. The Exhibitions have changed regularly twice a month and there has never been a day in full term time when there have not been pictures on the walls of the Sketch Room. Hart House has now completed the purchase of the Marees Society Portfolios containing reproductions of considerable value. Some of these were shown and a particularly interesting exhibition composed of coloured prints by Seemann illustrating the history of painting by the work of some of the Great Masters aroused considerable interest. Perhaps the exhibition of work actually done by members of Hart House proved the most popular of all, and the standard of the exhibits was excellent.

A very valuable piece of work was done by the Committee in establishing a definite policy with regard to the purchase of pictures for Hart House. It has now been decided, as far as funds permit, to buy pictures representative of the best in Canadian Art. To make this plan financially possible, the Print Fund was founded and promises to be very successful.

The sketching classes under Mr. F. S. Haines were well attended and, indeed, two extra classes were necessary.

The Prints in the Print Case have been sorted and steps are being taken to have them mounted so that they will be available to all members. The beginnings of an Art Library have also been made.

The members of the Sketch Committee for 1925-26 are: Professor H. Wasteneys, (Chairman), the Warden, Professor Barker Fairley, D. F. MacLaren, (Graduate), J. M. C. Lazier, (Secretary), P. G. Anderson, H. M. McLaughlin, M. N. O'Leary, S. V. Railton, W. E. Shute, C. M. Stewart, W. A. Watson, W. H. Weber, J. F. Woods.

Camera Committee

The Camera Committee, which is a special Committee of Hart House, is responsible to the Board of Stewards for the care of the photographic equipment of Hart House. The Camera Club operated a studio in connection with the Masquerade and took there about a hundred photographs. Later in the fall it held its annual exhibition of photographs by members of Hart House. During the Spring it placed on the walls of the Sketch Room an exhibition of landscapes taken within fifty miles of Toronto.

A number of the Club's members, co-operating with the Editorial Board, provided the photographs from which some of the illustrations for Torontonensis are made.

Membership in the Camera Club is open to any member of Hart House; there are at present thirty-six members.

The Club's quarters, opposite the Billiard Room, are equipped with lockers for the use of members, separate rooms for developing negatives, apparatus for contact printing, enlarging camera, copying camera and other accessories.

The members of the Camera Committee for 1925-26 are: Professor A. F. Coventry (Chairman), J. F. Phillips (Graduate), W. A. Irvine (Secretary-Curator), W. A. Cooke, F. W. Robertson, F. A. Sangster, J. A. White.

Squash Racquets Committee

The Squash Racquets Committee which is a Special Committee of Hart House is responsible to the Board of Stewards for the general control of the Squash Courts. The game has steadily increased in popularity during the past few years. Among the members of Hart House there were as many as 500 Squash players who used the Courts regularly during 1924-1925; and the numbers do not appear to have grown less this year.

The members of the Squash Racquets Committee for 1925-26 are: P. A. Child (Chairman), S. H. Robinson (Graduate), C. P. Worsley (Secretary), A. W. Ham, H. Vernon.

Debating Committee

On 31st January 1924 the first debate ever held in Hart House took place under the management of an informal Committee appointed for that purpose. This debate was held on the open parliamentary system and special Rules of Procedure were drawn up by the Committee. The Lecture Room in Hart House was arranged as far as possible like the Provincial or Federal House; the Speaker's chair was placed in a central position, members for the motion being on his right, those against the motion on his left. After the four speakers "on the paper" had finished their speeches, the debate was open to any member, who having caught the Speaker's eye might then rise and address the House. At 10.30 p.m. the House divided on the motion. There were no judges and the whole procedure was a definite attempt to get away from the competitive type of debate, which is really an oratorical contest, by which a team of three men from one University or Faculty tries to win a victory over a team of three men from another University or Faculty.

The undoubted success of this first debate led the Committee to plan further debates of a similar character during the academic year 1924-25. During the present academic year they have also been continued, in every case drawing packed houses and have now become an integral part of the life of Hart House and of the University.

The aim of debates held under the Hart House system is to encourage real debating in contrast to the delivery of speeches carefully prepared for weeks beforehand and also to give undergraduates an introduction into public life by discussing questions of general interest across the floor of the House with the Country's ablest men. Among visitors who have spoken "on the paper" or from the floor of the House are the Hon. W. E. Raney, K.C., the Hon. J. W. Nickle, K.C., Mr. Andrew McMaster, K.C., Mr. R. P. Sparks of the C.M.A. Mr. J. M. Godfrey, K.C., the Hon. E. C. Drury, and the Hon. Manning Doherty. On the 10th February, the Imperial Debaters took part in a debate on the resolution "That Woman has more than come into her own."

Framed photographs of Graduates of the University of Toronto who have become either Federal or Provincial Prime Ministers have been hung in the Lecture Room where the debates are held and it is hoped in this way to build up a collection of portraits which in time to come will be of great historical interest.

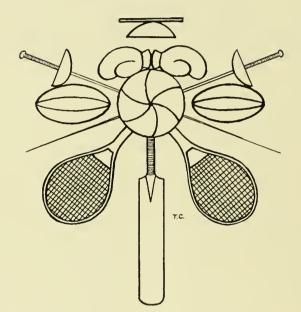

The members of the Debating Committee for 1925-26 are: Professor G. E. Jackson, (Chairman), The Warden, A. T. Van Every, (Vice-Chairman), V. W. Bladen, H. M. Cody, (Graduate), L. H. Clayton, (Secretary,) J. M. McCaffrey, (House Committee), B. W. Doherty, (Varsity), J. F. R. Douglas, (University College), J. P. Armstrong, (Medicine), E. G. Davies, (S.P.S.), M. Quigley, (Dentistry), F. A. C. Doxsee, (Victoria), H. M. Bissett, (Trinity), J. E. McKeon, (St. Michael's), L. L. Connor, (Forestry), H. R. Coleman, (Wycliffe).

The Board of Stewards

The Board of Stewards is the governing body of Hart House and is so constituted as to include among its members the secretaries of the six Standing Committees and representatives of the chief organizations in Hart House. Subject to the superior authority of the Board of Governors of the University the direction, management and administration of Hart House, including matters of discipline, are entrusted to the Board of Stewards. The Board is assisted by a Finance Committee which makes recommendations with regard to financial matters. The general supervision of the whole House is entrusted to the Warden who is appointed by the Board of Governors of the University and is ex-officio chairman of the Board of Stewards. He is assisted by the Comptroller, Mr. J. R. Gilley, whose duties are chiefly administrative.

One of the most interesting experiments in Hart House during the past year has been the holding of eight "Songsters" on those Sunday Evenings when there was not a concert in the Great Hall. "Songster" is an old English word denoting the place or organization where the singing takes place and also the persons who sing. The Songsters which have attracted large attendances have been under the able direction of Mr. Campbell McInnes. Much credit is due to the ad hoc Committee appointed by the Board of Stewards who have had the management of these Songsters.

The members of the Board of Stewards for 1925-26 are: The Warden, (Chairman, ex officio), Sir Robert Falconer, K.C.M.G., the Hon. Vincent Massey, (Appointed by the Board of Governors), Dr. V. E. Henderson, Professor C. N. Cochrane, (Appointed by the President), T. A. Reed, (Financial Secretary, Athletic Association), Col. J. G. Weir, (Graduate), J. R. Gilley, (Secretary), F. A. C. Doxsee, (S. C. A. ), C. R. Weber, (Athletic Directorate), K. R. Wilson, (S.A.C.), Professor G. A. Cornish, (Faculty Union), C. R. Ferguson, (Hall Committee), J. L. Goldie, (Music Committee), J. M. C. Lazier, (Sketch Committee), V. X. McEnaney, (House Committee), T. D. Noble, (Library Committee), C. H. Riches, (Billiard Committee), OST people do not realise how much work there is in getit ting out a year book. They seem to think that the Editor says "Let there be a book," and lo, there is a book. And there it stops. But unfortunately that is not the case. There are some five hundred pages in the book, and something goes on each page. It is the Editor's job to see that all those pages are provided for. He has to see that all the pictures are in for the different articles, and that all the articles and names are in for the pictures. There are some three hundred of these pictures, and the same number of articles. Not to mention the thousand odd biographies!

It must be rather obvious that no undergraduate can look after all these things, and at the same time get his year, unless those responsible for the separate items co-operate. It should be remembered that while the Editor has some hundreds of things to look after, the ordinary club officer has comparatively few. Therefore it is necessary for the work to be divided up, and apportioned out by the Editor. Those who undertook to do some of this work during the last year will hereby receive the hearty thanks of the Editor. "Those" means everybody from Year Reps. to those who delivered a picture for some one else.

However, to be particular. The photographs in the front of the book, and a number of those further on are the property of Province of Ontario Pictures, although taken by Allan Sangster, our photography Editor. For the sub-titles, small pieces of Art work, and the cartoons we have the Art School and "String" Biehn to thank. "String" was in apologising the other day, because he had not done more, and we accepted his apologies, just like we accept everything, except late biographies, so he may be surprised to see all these nice words when he gets his book. We also want to thank those who were in the habit of dropping in once in a while to ask as to our health, etc. Did they realise how much we appreciated the chance to curse something more or less responsible for itself? We surely did.

Finally, we thank our advertisers. It is a terrible job to persuade a man that he should advertise with you, and we would hate to think that the business staff had perjured itself in telling people that University men and women provide a good market. So if, in future years you want to know where to buy a rattle for the baby, look up the section that follows, and if rattles are not advertised, Ford cars may be, and after all, just where is the essential difference? Anything to appease the baby.

The Tragic History of Orion Magruder, Freshman

Orion had just finished tying up the last yak when his father spoke huskily from behind his whiskers.

"You're going to college, dolink," kissing him. For a moment Orion gazed quizzically up at the blue-green moon, and, producing his mouth organ, wheezed the opening discords of his unwritten masterpiece, the refrain from "Spitting," while the yaks in the great red barn lowed sweetly in protest. Faintly he could hear the clams singing their little ones to sleep. Afar off came the piercing cries of the wild tripe and the whiffling of a snail.

"College . . . Perhaps a wonderworld . . . the woolly yaks gathered behind him but he did not see them for his head was turned the other way. Even the hare-lipped kwombie twittering overhead was unheeded for Orion was deep—in thought.

His vegetarian mother had died when he was quite a chunk of a boy, leaving his father a grass widower, but despite the handicap as the years went by and childhood faded into young manhood, Orion grew older.

His father, too, grew old along with him and advancing years brought Father Magruder the realization that Orion was wearing garters. Unwholesome thought . . . very. Perhaps after all it would be best for the boy . . Orion stowed his mouth-organ in his overall pocket. It was a singular thing about Orion's overall. It had lost its twin. But no matter.

His father's voice faltered. "My boy, I am a poor man, broken on the Wheel. But I feel that God will provide. College costs money. But somehow, somewhere, somewhy I am sure the difficulty will be solved. Great faith has moved mountains."

"College, father?" sneered Orion. Are you really stony, old thing?"

"Broke to the wide, cheesy boy," retorted Magruder père. "Besides you still wear garters." Magruder fils hanged his head in shame and confusion. It was again growing dark. The sun had almost succeeded in climbing up from the western horizon, but on a sudden the world was plunged into darkness.

"Then, father, sell the yaks."

"Glorious! So you shall go to college" . . . the old man's eyes grew dim as he looked back into the years, and, taking Orion on his knee, he softly related the wonder-tale of a far-off college where great philosophers constantly thought on ancient thoughts, where great scientists wrestled with the problems of the universe, where the golden treasury of knowledge was lavishly poured out from the hearts and minds of the world's greatest schollards, where youth ate of the tree of knowledge and found it bitter.

A week and Orion ambled into that palace of learning.

It was just his luck that the sidewalk had been freshly repapered and he had forgotten to remove his shoes and socks with the result that the caction the campus bit him something shrill. But he heeded not. Students walked in ones and twos up the campus and down the campus, intolerably blasé, excrutiatingly recherché.

Suddenly he stopped and came to a halt, mouth agape. Two grey-haired old men were deep in thought on the

A Part of our National Existence

\*T. EATON C<sup>Q</sup><sub>wre</sub> with its several stores, Mail Order branches and factories throughout the Dominion, has gained for itself a notable position in Canadian Commerce. By reason of the thousands of people it employs, because of the millions it annually serves and through the extensive connections it maintains with the whole world through its buying offices,  $\sqrt{*}$  T. EATON C<sup>Q</sup><sub>LIMITED</sub> presents itself as a real institution in our national life.

Factors of Success

THE EATON guarantee of "Goods satisfactory or money refunded" and the buying and selling for cash—both of which principles have been carried on since the inception of the business by Mr. Timothy EATON—must be considered as important matters relative to the outstanding success of this great commercial enterprise.

For the Benefit of Employees

THE firm maintains extensive services for the comfort, pleasure and health of the many thousand employees. A Welfare Department, with nurses and two hospitals, the EATON Boys' Camp, the Girls' Camp at Shadow Lake, the EATON Girls' Club with gymnasium, swimming tank, class rooms, etc., the EATON Choral Society and the EATON Dramatic Society, all figure prominently in the life of EATONIANS.

For the Service of Customers

IT has been the aim of the T. EATON Co. to make possible the purchase of its merchandise in the most convenient manner. And in this connection your attention is directed to the following:

Store Conveniences

PARKING STATION—Corner Bay and Louisa Streets.

Rest Room, with Nursery adjoining—Third Floor—Albert st.

Frolic Park—a playground for children. In Toyland, Sixth Floor.

Post Office, Main Floor.

Information Bureau, Main Floor, Centre. Lost and Found Offices in Basement. Free Parcel Room in Basement. Adjusting Office in each Department. Dining Room and Cafeteria—Fifth Floor. Georgian Restaurant—Ninth Floor.

Pay Telephones on every floor, conveniently located beside stairs and elevators, so that customers may telephone without loss of time.

A system of local and inter-department Telephones, which promotes quick service.

Large units of Elevators and adjacent Escalators provide safe and easy transportation from floor to floor.

Mail Order Catalogue, issued in the Spring and Fall of each year, to cover all Mail Order Merchandise. The Printing Department prints this and many other circulars and booklets also the Ontario Public School Readers.

The Shopping Service, with its staff of experienced women, shops for customers who are out of town or too busy to come to the Store and whose wants are of the exclusive order not listed in the Mail Order Catalogue.

The City Order Department takes telephone orders of purchases for the customer in all departments of the Store.

The Deposit Account provides a means of shopping without a purse. The customer who deposits at the D.A. Office is given an Account Number, and all purchases—by telephone, mail, or in person—are delivered as paid. A good rate of interest is allowed and an itemized statement is issued each month.

steps of the great white building. Now and again one or the other started to life suddenly, spoke rapidly and rotated his right hand and swept it down and across the step on which they were kneeling. "Seven," said one. "Shoot five," said the other. "Mathematicians?" thought Orion. As he watched one old man laid down his watch and the other took it up and left his companion sunk in deep thought.

Further observation of The Higher Learning was cut short by the approach of a surly student with a fixed sneer. "C'mere, sap!" And he guided Orion shortly into the lower lodge of Nu-Nu, where the brethren were gathered together at meal-time. Out from the gnawing silence boomed the voice of the Nu-Nu-President. ## UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Has it ever occurred to you

THAT, hundreds of graduates from the various Universities enter the Life Insurance business every year?

THAT, Life Insurance offers greater opportunities than any other financial business in the Country?

If you are interested after graduation I would be very glad indeed to discuss these opportunities with you.

on the Lion-Tamer." The Lion-Tamer was not quite what its name implied. "That's the preliminary," said the President, hoarsely.

After the Lion-Tamer, Orion was treated to the Ground-Growler, which was not a Ground-Growler, the Smacker, which was not a smacker and given the final test of Okram. When he awoke, bits of glass still clung tenderly to his ears and tinkled to the pavement in tune with the chirping of the little red ostrich on his left shoulder. After the final degree of Shamble, the Nu-Nu pin was snapped on his yellow shirt. Orion had begun his college life.

As time went on and Orion became an older and older freshman, he committed the eight cardinal sins. After that for two days he was assistant editor of The Maudlin.

Standards of Quality!

Go where you will, Eveready Flashlights and Batteries, Eveready Radio Batteries, Eveready-Columbia Dry Cells are accepted as the highest standard of quality in their particular field.

This quality has undoubtedly contributed in a very large measure to the upbuilding of this huge, modern plant located in Toronto and bearing the proud destinction of being the largest battery plant in the British Empire.

Eveready products are made by Canadian workmen. The greater part of raw materials used in the manufacture of Eveready products is procured from Canadian mines and forests. Only the materials which are not produced in this country are imported, and these are mainly products of countries within the Empire.

were assembled to see The Skimming of the Cream.

A golden arrow of light shot through the stained glass of the upper dome and lighted up the empty beer bottle at his feet. One by one the familiar faces loomed up at this side and that, and passed astern as he swerved slowly down the long aisle. Up-up-up. A red carpet and a pause. Orion has fallen on his face. Cheers.

Now kneeling in front of a kindly, bearded old gentleman who wore robes like a Chinese emperor and who appeared to swear softly under his breath as student after student knelt before him for an instant to stumble on and out. A brisk clasping of the young hands in the old, while someone strangled him with an Inverness cape from behind, and it was all over—a sheepskin—the chiming peal of the great organ—a sob—Orion had graduated. Only then did he realize that his room-mate had taken his only pair of trousers that morning.

Out in the quiet peace of the shaded campus, broken only by the twanging lilt of a mandolin somewhere in The Great Quad, young voices were singing the school songs, the old songs— Orion, too, felt old and a faint picture swam across his brain . . . Father Magruder feeding the last yak.

"I will save him and it. The sacrifice has been too great. O God," he groaned and stumbled weakly toward his room.

Ysolde, last of the yaks, nuzzled Orion's hand softly while the lilt of his father's voice rang from the big red barn.

Some hours later father and son were still embracing. The singing of the Clams had been stilled and the wild tripe and snails were silent.

Orion took off his rubbers. It had stopped raining. "Phut!" he said.
